RECOUNT LAW CHANGE UP TO STATE VOTERS

AMENDMENT TO BE PUT ON SPRING BALLOT

BY SAM B. McCOOL
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—Michigan voters next April will have an opportunity to remove recount disputes from the jurisdiction of the legislature.

A joint resolution initiating an amendment to the constitution to place election disputes in the hands of the state board of canvassers sped through the legislature today. It will be placed on the April election ballot.

The deadline for the certification of constitutional amendments for the spring election is Saturday when the legislature is in adjournment, but Orville E. Atwood, secretary of state, said he would receive measures early next week if authorized by the legislature. A proposal to divide the city of Detroit into five legislative districts passed the senate and was sent to the house today.

Pay Raise Refused

The senate adopted the recount constitutional proposal by a unanimous vote. It had originated in the house. It provides that the board of canvassers assume jurisdiction in election disputes under regulations prescribed by the legislature.

Under the present constitutional provision, the legislature is the final judge of the outcome in a contest for an "important" office. It was under this provision that the Democratic controlled legislature in a special "joint convention" authorized the recount of last December in Detroit.

Before adjourning until next Tuesday night, the legislature acted on another administration measure. The senate, without a dissenting vote, sent to the house Governor Fitzgerald's proposal to abolish the Michigan securities commission.

Meanwhile the house rejected by a vote of 37 to 28 a proposal to increase the governor's salary to $15,000 a year. The vote was reconsidered, however, and the measure may come up again.

Senator M. Harold Saur, of Kent City, offered a bill appropriating $40,000,000 a year to needy districts less primary fund revenues estimated at $12,500,000 to $15,000,000. A similar bill is in the house.

An investigation of the oil industry of Michigan was demanded in a resolution offered by Senator Joseph A. Baldwin, Republican, Albion. The measure charged there is a monopoly in the industry which endangers the existence of 300 independent concerns. The inquiry would be made by a committee of four representatives and three senators.

A concurrent resolution directing the state board of tax administration to collect a three per cent retail sales tax on all liquor sold since it first became legal in Michigan was submitted by Rep. George L. Teachout, Democrat, Flint. The resolution provides that the revenue would go to primary schools.

Reps. Leonard A. Jurkiewicz and Joseph C. Murphy, Democrats, introduced a bill which would force candidates for pub-

FOUR ARRESTED IN STOCK FRAUD

Thousands Swindled in Detroit, Prosecutor Declares

Detroit, Feb. 28 (AP)—Four men, who with seven others are charged with conspiring to defraud stock purchasers of more than $400,000, were arrested today by detectives from the office of Duncan C. McCrea, Wayne county prosecutor. The total loss, Prosecutor McCrea said, will total $1,650,000.

Those arrested on warrants recommended by McCrea are: Albert R. Moore, president of the American Malting Co., and the Empire Development Co.; Charles J. Higgins, former secretary of the defunct Detroit Mortgage Co.; Augusts H. Ekhardt, president of the Ekhardt & Becker Brewing Co.; and Hugh A. Ormand, a director in the Ekhardt & Becker firm.

Thousands Swindled

The warrants, signed by Judge John P. Scallen, of recorder's court, also named George Nadell, Ralph Nadell, Walter A. Frederick, Leroy K. Chamblin, Richard W. Flaherty, E. H. Herman and Martin E. Galvin.

Offices of four corporations were raided and records seized. They were the American Malting Co., the Continental Malt Co., the Empire Development Co., and the Ekhardt & Becker Brewing Co. Twelve men, describing themselves as securities salesmen, were taken to police headquarters and questioned. They expersssed ignorance of the charges against the concerns.

"It is obvious from our investigation," Prosecutor McCrea said, "that thousands of Detroiters have been swindled due in no small degree to lax investigation if nothing else, on the part of the Michigan state securities commission. "Agents of the commission have sought to retard this investigation."

McCrea said more warrants may be issued shortly.

Payment of condemnation awards by the city figure in the investigation and Mayor Frank Couzens said he will immediately begin an inquiry.

Minnesota Farmers Want More Relief

St. Paul, Feb. 28. (AP)—Leaders of Minnesota farmers, seeking relief for themselves and suffering livestock, warned the legislature today that 20,000 to 30,000 of their number will descend on the capitol March 6 to press their demands.

The notification came as Gov. Floyd B. Olson signed the legislative appropriation of $500,000 for feed, which was a partial answer to yesterday's "near starvation" exhibit of livestock at the state house.

John Bosch, president of the Minnesota farm holiday association, said that yesterday pitiable show was only a harbinger of the promised march on the capitol.

L. P. Zimmerman, acting relief director, was ready to appear before a senate committee to urge immediate appropriation of $10,000,000 for relief in the next biennium to pave the way for federal aid during the next month.

Thief and Liar Is Given Prison Term

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—Otto Krush, 37, was sentenced to serve 4 to 15 years in the Michigan state prison Thursday principally because he told a lie and gave Circuit Judge Neil E. Reid his reason for telling it. Krush admitted stealing furniture from a sister-in-law, but said he unjustly implicated his 74-year-old father, Adolph, to get him "out of the way" and obtain his property. The charge against the elder Krush was dismissed.

GOV'T TO ASK QUICK APPEAL OF 7-A RULING

OTHER PORTIONS OF NRA ATTACKED IN COURT

BY RICHARD L. TURNER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—A quick appeal to the supreme court was promised by Attorney General Cummings today as the administration's answer to the latest challenge to NRA—a federal court decision holding Section 7-A unconstitutional as applied to the Weirton Steel company.

This move, he added, is to be part of an effort to bring order out of a welter of conflicting lower court decisions affecting not only NRA but numerous phases of the new deal program as well.

Cumming's statement was evoked by yesterday's decision in the Weirton case, in which Federal Judge John P. Nields held the much-disputed collective bargaining section invalid as applied to the Weirton company.

A ruling almost simultaneously by Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson that the coal code could not be enforced because coal mining is not interstate commerce, also will be appealed, Cummings said.

Critics Want Inquiry

New deal leaders in the senate meanwhile succeeded in routing a proposed investigation of NRA to the finance committee, headed by Harrison of Mississippi, staunch administration defender.

Senatorial critics of NRA managed, however, to keep alive their proposal for a separate investigation as a "threat to force a real disclosure of the facts," if the finace committee's inquiry is a superficial one.

Both Senator Wagner (D-NY) and Francis Biddle, chairman of the national labor relations board, said the Weirton decision emphasized the need for strengthening 7-A by the creation of a permanent administrative tribunal as proposed in Wagner's labor disputes bill.

In a formal statemetn, Wagner said the Nields decision "while in line with many early decisions of the United States supreme court seems at odds with the later decisions of our highest court that are responsive to the changing character of our national economic life."

The supreme court has consented to review a case in which a federal court held the lumber code unenforcable and the national industrial recovery act invalid virtually in its entirety. Cummings today held out a "possibility' that if the Weirton appeal can be expedited the cases may be consolidated as was done on the gold cases.

This would involve carrying the Weirton case directly to the supreme court from the district court, without awaiting a ruling by the circuit court of appeals. This procedure may be invoked in certain types of cases, and apparently a study was in progress to see if it could be applied to the case in question.

Auto Located In Water, Two Missing Men Feared Dead

Adrian, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—The search for two men from Van Wert, O., who disappeared near Devil's Lake last Friday afternoon, centered around an opening in the frozen surface of the lake tonight after sheriff's officers said they had located an automobile in 20 feet of water.

Divers were summoned from Toledo to aid in raising the car. No bodies have yet been found.

A deputy sheriff said the sunken automobile may be the car in which Orville Place and Ralph Raabe of Van Wert disappeared last Friday after starting out on a trip across the ice.

The two men were reported to have visited Raabe's cottage at Pleasant Grove on the edge of Devil's Lake Friday afternoon. Harold Barrow, a conservation officer, told the sheriff's office he had been answering the description of the missing Ohio car driven down to the shore and out across the ice.

Quintuplets Will Not Be Exhibited

Toronto, Feb. 28. (AP)—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said today the Dionnes agree with the Ontario government that the quintuplets, nine months old today, should not be placed upon exhibition at the peril of their health.

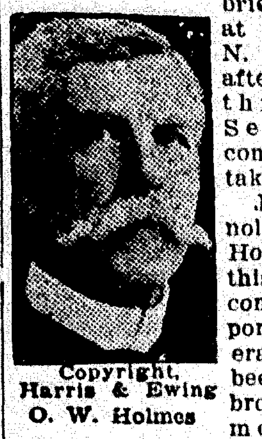
The Ontario premier made the statement after a conference with Paul Martin, the parents' counsel.

Martin said he and the premier had agreed to reveal no details until a final settlement was reached.

Holmes, Once Great Liberal, Gravely Ill

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—Oliver Wendell Holmes, once the "great liberal" of the supreme court, was so gravely ill tonight that oxygen was being used in an effort to save his life.

Three tanks filled with the gas were sent to his home, an old red brick town house at 1720 I street, N. W., shortly after four o'clock this afternoon. Several empty containers were taken away.



Copyright, Harris & Ewing
O. W. Holmes

Justice McReynolds called the Holmes residence this afternoon and confirmed the report that the venerable justice had been stricken with bronchial pneumonia. McReynolds, who served with Holmes on the bench for more than a decade, said he was resting better today than yesterday and that he had been ill only a few days.

His physician, Dr. Thomas A. Claytor, merely said:

"The justice is ill and at his age all illness is serious."

Holmes, who served 29 years on the supreme court bench, will be 94 on March 8. He knew Lincoln and was thrice wounded in the Civil war.

Famous Opinions

In the three brief years since he retired from the supreme bench, Holmes had become a figure shrouded in the midst of legend.

Attaches about the court today revived the familiar stories which sprang up about him; recalled the wit which disconcerted many a pompous attorney and the fact that he detested personal publicity. Inevitably, the episode of the cigarettes was recalled. A distinguished New York lawyer drove home a point with the thunderous statement that "nobody except fools and dudes smoke imported cigarettes."

"I am not so sure about that," blandly smiled Holmes. "Sometimes I smoke them and I know I am not a dude."

Holmes, whose dissenting opinions often were more famous than the majority ruling which prevailed, left the bench January 12, 1932.

His private secretary, James H. Rowe, said long before nightfall there was grave apprehension over the aged jurist's condition.

One of those who kept almost hourly in touch with the Holmes house was Justice Brandeis. For a lengthy span a familiar phrase on opinion days was "Holmes and Brandeis dissent."

Until Justice Holmes retired, the two were almost inseparable.

RISKS LIFE FOR FILMS IN NORTH

Young Explorer Tells of Hardships With Only Violin, Camera

Sarcoxie, Mo., Feb. 28 (AP)—Young Dave Irwin, who can go a long way with a camera and a fiddle, gave his old hometown a thrill tonight with telegraphed accounts of risking his life in a single-handed trek for films of the wild far north.

This village of scarcely more than 1,000 population, including the 24-year-old explorer's aunt and uncle, eagerly awaited word from the boy's father, W. T. Irwin. He was trying to establish contact with his son from the family's present home at Grand Rapids, Mich.

The elder Irwin, a salesman, first planned to go to the boy, after receiving a telegram yesterday in which Dave broke a six-months silence to report his safety. Later, he said he was attempting to communicate through the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Took Motion Pictures

Irwin said he would go north only if his son "has to be brought home."

The roaming Irwin's message to his uncle, Gilbert H. Wild, Sarcoxie peony raiser, was similar to the one sent his family, who moved to Michigan from here about 6 years ago. He told of being alone six months in the arctic and of subsisting on frozen fish in the desolate district of Keewatin. The messages came from Baker Lake post, in the northwest territories, Canada.

Although dwelling on his hardships, Irwin added, as if compensated, that he obtained some "excellent moving pictures of primitive Eskimos."

Three years ago the husky 6-foot youth joined a band driving a reindeer herd across North America to the eastern arctic to restock the Eskimo country. About six months ago, it was deduced from his massage, he left the herd and set out alone.

Mrs. Wild said she was sure the boy was not under contract for pictures.

"He was just trying to get some pictures that would sell," she said. "He didn't have any contract; nor did he have a promise from any boy that his pictures would be bought.

"He was always going—with his violin and his camera."

Paying his own way with these boo ncompanions, Irwin circled the globe once and had made other trips to arctic regions, friends said.

Marriage By Proxy Annulled By Judge

St. Louis, Feb. 28 (AP)—Miss Virginia Zimmer, 22, who without her knowledge was married by proxy to Elmer Lee Middleton, 19, at Union, Mo., October 31, was granted an annulment by Circuit Judge Robert W. Hall today.

She testified she agreed to have another girl take out a marriage license for her but that it was not her intention her proxy go through a wedding ceremony.

Granting the annulment, Judge Hall said:

"The other girl is in a funny position. If she appeared for you at the marriage ceremony, she was the one who was married. She had better file a divorce or annulment action."

MOGAN DEFENDS SALES TAX LAW

Opposes Scheme to Stop Levy on Merchandise Traded In

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—The state board of tax administration today began investigating the advisibility of discontinuing the three percent sales tax on the resale of merchandise traded on new commodities.

Operators of used car markets have applied to the board asking that the sales tax on cars accepted in trade-ins and then resold be dropped. James E. Mogan, director of the sales tax board, protested.

Mogan contends if the tax is not collected on cars traded in the same exemption must prevail for other commodities accepted in trade for new merchandise.

"I have been informed used car sales amount to $40,000,000 annually in Michigan, and half of those sales are taxable under the present set-up,' Mogan said. He added no accurate survey of the second-hand business volume in the state is available, but declared if the slightest loop-hole were opened he feared widespread tax evasion.

Illinois and Iowa now collect no tax on the resale of goods traded in on new merchandise. The board directed Mogan to correspond with tax officials of both states.

The board elected State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry to succeed the late John K. Stack, jr., as chairman. Fry is a Democrat. Auditor General John J. O'Hara and Orville E. Atwood, other members of the board, are Republicans.

Michigan Promised March Relief Funds

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—The federal emergency relief administration today promised Michigan sufficient aid to carry relief recipients through March.

Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, notified the Michigan commission his department intended to dip into special funds to carry on emergency relief until action by congress on the president's work relief bill. The state has asked for $5,142,740 for March.

"Sufficient funds are available which can be transferred, if necessary, to meet relief needs during March but not thereafter," Hopkins warned the Michigan commission.

MINE CAPTAIN

Ishpeming, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—Thomas Tippett, an employe of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company for 25 years, today was named captain of the Lloyd Mine company for 25 years, today was named captain of the Lloyd mine at North Lake, succeeding Captain Joseph Thomas, who recently had a foot amputated. Tippett was a shift boss for 12 years and an underground foreman for nine years.

HITLER TAKES OVER CONTROL OF SAAR BASIN

GERMANY PLANNING REHABILITATION IN REGION

Saarbruecken, Feb. 28 (AP)—France and the League of Nations will give up control of the rich Saar coal basin tomorrow to close one of the most hotly contested chapters of the Versaille treaty.

Because Saarlanders voted overwhelmingly in last January's league-supervised plebiscite to return to the fatherland, sovereignty over the valleys Germany relinquished in 1918 will be transferred back to the Reich in simple ceremonies beginning at 10 a. m.

A galaxy of Nazi notables—Joseph Buerckel, Adolf Hitler's choice to govern the Saar, minister of propaganda Paul Joseph Goebbels and possibly der feuhrer himself—will be on hand to see the Nazi and German flags raised over the government building in Saarbruecken and city halls and police stations throughout the region.

Knox Already Gone

Buerckel, formerly the Reich's commissioner for Saar affairs, will take over the government from Baron Pomepo Aloisi of Italy head of the league's committee of three which arranged details of the transfer.

The Italian baron today succeeded Geoffrey G. Knox, British diplomat, as president of the league's Saar governing commission—because Nazi officials refused to come to the Saar until the "dictator" Knox departed—and will rule, nominally, until he turns the keys to the territory tomorrow. Knox has already gone.

German officials took command of the police today.

Needy Saarlanders, meanwhile, were heartened by an announcement from Goebbels, who will make the principal "welcome home" address on behalf of the government tomorrow, that 700,000 marks had been given Buerckel to distribute.

Lavish promises of help for business were made to Saarlanders. A program of public construction to aid the 40,000 unemployed will be put into force soon, officials said while the Saar chamber of commerce has its own plans. A new aviation field and several railway stations, together with highway construction, are on the program.

EXTENDS AMNESTY

Berlin, Feb. 28 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, testifying to "the love the nation holds for the Saar," tonight extended amnesty to all Saarlanders serving prison sentences of one year or less in the Saar.

The realmleader's action came on the eve of the basin's formal return to the Reich, while all Germany prepared for tomorrow's big celebration.

To mark what Hitler called the "greatest day of Thanksgiving of the year," church bells, factory sirens and ship whistles will join in the Reich's pageant of rejoicing at the Saarlanders' homecoming.

KNOX KNIGHTED

London, Feb. 28 (AP)—Col. Geoffrey G. Knox, president of the League of Nations Saar governing commission until today, has been knighted for his services.

A companion of the Order of St. Michael, Knox today was promoted to knight commander by order of King George. He becomes Sir Geoffrey.

Two Men and Baby Killed, Ten Others Hurt In Explosion

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 28 (AP)—Two men and a baby girl were killed and ten persons were injured in two explosions which badly damaged a poolroom and dwelling in Edwardsville late today.

Parents of the infant, born this morning, and eight other persons were injured and neighboring structures were damaged by the blast and the fire which followed. The cause of the blasts was not learned.

One of the men was identified tentatively as Peter Morga, 28. Police sought to identify the second man and continued to search the ruins.

The infant victim was the child of Mr. and Mrs. Shepak. The Shepaks, who have two other children, occupied the second floor apartment above a poolroom and beauty parlor.

Sophie Gregorski, 24, of Scranton, said "I suddenly found myself out in the yard." She was hanging clothes in the Shepak kitchen when the blasts occurred.

YOUNGEST BISHOP

Garbed for his consecration as the youngest Roman Catholic bishop, Rev. Raymond A. Kearney, 32, is shown on his way to the ceremonies in Brooklyn, N. Y., by which he was elevated to the Catholic heirarchy. He will serve as auxiliary bishop of Brooklyn with the title of Bishop of Lysinia.

BODY OF YOUTH FOUND IN LAKE

Police Think Boy Missing Ten Days Was Murdered

Youngstown, O., Feb. 28. (AP)—An anonymous note led today to the discovery of the body of 13-year-old Frank Suhovecky at the bottom of Lake Cohasset in Mill Creek Park.

Discovery of the body terminated a ten-day search. Police expressed theories the boy had been slain.

The note, received by Mike Suhovecky, 28-year-old brother of the boy, said the body would be found near the point in the lake at which it was recovered.

Police tonight searched the home of a trapper who is held as a suspect in an attempt to trace the note paper.

The boy's head bore three deep gashes as if inflicted with an axe, a hatchet or a large knife. One eye was blackened. Coroner David Hauser said after a preliminary examination that the cuts were only scalp wounds and not deep enough to have caused death.

The only part the trapper had played in the case up to tonight, police said, was in his report Tuesday night that he had noticed a break in the ice at the point where the body was found today.

Frank, a junior high school student, made a date Feb. 8, with Alex Nagy, a chum, to go to the park and salvage a sack full of old pots and pans the boys had dug out of a dump. Alex missed the date and Frank was seen on his way to the park with a sack. That was the last seen of him.

$40,000,000 Likely From Tax On Sales

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—James E. Mogan, sales tax director, said Thursday that collections of approximately $40,000,000 are possible this fiscal year if gains continue in retail business. Collections were $34,871,919 for the first year of the 3 per cent sales tax, he said, and about $12,000,000 already has been collected in the seven months of this fiscal year.

PROVIDED LIQUOR

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Teets, 21, and Alexander W. Morris, both of Detroit, were held for examination Thursday on charges they furnished liquor to a prisoner in county jail. Bond of $500 each was fixed. They were arrested when a bottle of liquor was found on the prisoner, Mrs. Teets' husband, Herbert, after he had been visited by Morris and Mrs. Teets.

CONVENTION IN DETROIT AIMS FOR HARMONY

5-CORNERED FIGHT FOR EDUCATION BOARD

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Detroit, Feb. 28 (AP)—Michigan Republicans gathered here tonight intent on whipping up partisan enthusiasm for the spring campaign.

Opposing factions, mindful of the pleas for harmony voiced at the county conventions last week, drew together in an attempt to make Friday's convention placid. The only ripple on the calm pre-convention surface was a possible five-cornered fight for the nomination for members of the state board of education.

Although a relatively unimportant post, politically, leaders of various groups felt they had gone as far as they could in other directions to promote harmony and were disposed to assert their claims.

Several Candidates

The Wayne county delegation was pledged, presumably, to support Wynand Wichers, of Holland, for the nomination. He was seen as the choice of Governor Fitzgerald. If Wichers is nominated the so-called McKay-Kent county slate will be left out in the cold. Former State Treasurer Frank D. McKay and M. B. McPherson, chairman of the state tax commission, were attempting to place a Kent county man for either the board of education or superintendent of public instruction. Their efforts seemed to be centered on the nomination of Lester Doerr, of Grand Rapids, for the board of education.

Other candidates in that race were Arthur A. Rather, of Ionia, said to have the backing of former Governor Fred W. Green; Fred A. Jeffers, of Painesville, a former member of the state board of education, and Allan M. Freeland, of Grand Rapids, a present member of the board of education.

Freeland admittedly would prefer the nomination for superintendent of public instruction. If the McKay-McPherson delegates are unable to secure enough votes for that nomination they would like to see him renominated for his present office. The slate tentatively accepted by administration forces, however, would give Freeland no place on the ticket.

Administration delegates were lined up for M. R. Keyworth, Hamtramck school official, for superintendent of public instruction, and Wichers for the state board of education. Freeland, according to his managers, was willing to step out of the race for superintendent of public instruction if he could be guaranteed renomination to the board, but opposing forces were inclined to leave him entirely out of the picture.

Lawrence Assured

The balance of the slate to be named by the convention for submission to the voters in the general election April 1 appeared to be settled. Incumbent justices of the supreme court—Nelson Sharpe, of West Branch, and William W. Potter, of Lansing—had no apparent opposition. The same situation existed in connection

RECOUNT LAW CHANGE UP TO STATE VOTERS

BY SAM B. McCOOL
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—Michigan voters next April will have an opportunity to remove recount disputes from the jurisdiction of the legislature.

A joint resolution initiating an amendment to the constitution to place election disputes in the hands of the state board of canvassers sped through the legislature today. It will be placed on the April election ballot.

The deadline for the certification of constitutional amendments for the spring election is Saturday when the legislature is in adjournment, but Orville E. Atwood, secretary of state, said he would receive measures early next week if authorized by the legislature. A proposal to divide the city of Detroit into five legislative districts passed the senate and was sent to the house today.

Pay Raise Refused

The senate adopted the recount constitutional proposal by a unanimous vote. It had originated in the house. It provides that the board of canvassers assume jurisdiction in election disputes under regulations prescribed by the legislature.

Under the present constitutional provision, the legislature is the final judge of the outcome in a contest for an "important" office. It was under this provision that the Democratic controlled legislature in a special "joint convention" authorized the recount of last December in Detroit.

Before adjourning until next Tuesday night, the legislature acted on another administration measure. The senate, without a dissenting vote, sent to the house Governor Fitzgerald's proposal to abolish the Michigan securities commission.

Meanwhile the house rejected by a vote of 37 to 28 a proposal to increase the governor's salary to $15,000 a year. The vote was reconsidered, however, and the measure may come up again.

Senator M. Harold Saur, of Kent City, offered a bill appropriating $40,000,000 a year to needy districts less primary fund revenues estimated at $12,500,000 to $15,000,000. A similar bill is in the house.

An investigation of the oil industry of Michigan was demanded in a resolution offered by Senator Joseph A. Baldwin, Republican, Albion. The measure charged there is a monopoly in the industry which endangers the existence of 300 independent concerns. The inquiry would be made by a committee of four representatives and three senators.

A concurrent resolution directing the state board of tax administration to collect a three per cent retail sales tax on all liquor sold since it first became legal in Michigan was submitted by Rep. George L. Teachout, Democrat, Flint. The resolution provides that the revenue would go to primary schools.

Reps. Leonard A. Jurkiewicz and Joseph C. Murphy, Democrats, introduced a bill which would force candidates for pub-

FOUR ARRESTED IN STOCK FRAUD

Thousands Swindled in Detroit, Prosecutor Declares

Detroit, Feb. 28 (AP)—Four men, who with seven others are charged with conspiring to defraud stock purchasers of more than $400,000, were arrested today by detectives from the office of Duncan C. McCrea, Wayne county prosecutor. The total loss, Prosecutor McCrea said, will total $1,650,000.

Those arrested on warrants recommended by McCrea are: Albert R. Moore, president of the American Malting Co., and the Empire Development Co.; Charles J. Higgins, former secretary of the defunct Detroit Mortgage Co.; Augusts H. Ekhardt, president of the Ekhardt & Becker Brewing Co.; and Hugh A. Ormand, a director in the Ekhardt & Becker firm.

Thousands Swindled

The warrants, signed by Judge John P. Scallen, of recorder's court, also named George Nadell, Ralph Nadell, Walter A. Frederick, Leroy K. Chamblin, Richard W. Flaherty, E. H. Herman and Martin E. Galvin.

Offices of four corporations were raided and records seized. They were the American Malting Co., the Continental Malt Co., the Empire Development Co., and the Ekhardt & Becker Brewing Co. Twelve men, describing themselves as securities salesmen, were taken to police headquarters and questioned. They experssed ignorance of the charges against the concerns.

"It is obvious from our investigation," Prosecutor McCrea said, "that thousands of Detroiters have been swindled due in no small degree to lax investigation if nothing else, on the part of the Michigan state securities commission. "Agents of the commission have sought to retard this investigation."

McCrea said more warrants may be issued shortly.

Payment of condemnation awards by the city figure in the investigation and Mayor Frank Couzens said he will immediately begin an inquiry.

Minnesota Farmers Want More Relief

St. Paul, Feb. 28. (AP)—Leaders of Minnesota farmers, seeking relief for themselves and suffering livestock, warned the legislature today that 20,000 to 30,000 of their number will descend on the capitol March 6 to press their demands.

The notification came as Gov. Floyd B. Olson signed the legislative appropriation of $500,000 for feed, which was a partial answer to yesterday's "near starvation" exhibit of livestock at the state house.

John Bosch, president of the Minnesota farm holiday association, said that yesterday pitiable show was only a harbinger of the promised march on the capitol.

L. P. Zimmerman, acting relief director, was ready to appear before a senate committee to urge immediate appropriation of $10,000,000 for relief in the next biennium to pave the way for federal aid during the next month.

Thief and Liar Is Given Prison Term

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—Otto Krush, 37, was sentenced to serve 4 to 15 years in the Michigan state prison Thursday principally because he told a lie and gave Circuit Judge Neil E. Reid his reason for telling it. Krush admitted stealing furniture from a sister-in-law, but said he unjustly impl[ica]ted his 74-year-old father, Adolph, to get him "out of the way" and obtain his property. The charge against the elder Krush was dismissed.

FIRE CHIEFS CONVENTION

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—The annual convention of the Michigan State Fire Chiefs association will be held here June 26-27.

GOV'T TO ASK QUICK APPEAL OF 7-A RULING

BY RICHARD L. TURNER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—A quick appeal to the supreme court was promised by Attorney General Cummings today as the administration's answer to the latest challenge to NRA—a federal court decision holding Section 7-A unconstitutional as applied to the Weirton Steel company.

This move, he added, is to be part of an effort to bring order out of a welter of conflicting lower court decisions affecting not only NRA but numerous phases of the new deal program as well.

Cumming's statement was evoked by yesterday's decision in the Wierton case, in which Federal Judge John P. Nields held the much-disputed collective bargaining section invalid as applied to the Wierton company.

A ruling almost simultaneously by Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson that the coal code could not be enforced because coal mining is not interstate commerce, also will be appealed, Cummings said.

Critics Want Inquiry

New deal leaders in the senate meanwhile succeeded in routing a proposed investigation of NRA to the finance committee, headed by Harrison of Mississippi, staunch administration defender.

Senatorial critics of NRA managed, however, to keep alive their proposal for a separate investigation as a "threat to force a real disclosure of the facts," if the finace committee's inquiry is a superficial one.

Both Senator Wagner (D-NY) and Francis Biddle, chairman of the national labor relations board, said the Weirton decision emphasized the need for strengthening 7-A by the creation of a permanent administrative tribunal as proposed in Wagner's labor disputes bill.

In a formal statemetn, Wagner said the Nields decision "while in line with many early decisions of the United States supreme court seems at odds with the later decisions of our highest court that are responsive to the changing character of our national economic life."

The supreme court has consented to review a case in which a federal court held the lumber code unenforcable and the national industrial recovery act invalid virtually in its entirety. Cummings today held out a "possibility' that if the Weirton appeal can be expedited the cases may be consolidated as was done on the gold cases.

This would involve carrying the Weirton case directly to the supreme court from the district court, without awaiting a ruling by the circuit court of appeals. This procedure may be invoked in certain types of cases, and apparently a study was in progress to see if it could be applied to the case in question.

Auto Located In Water, Two Missing Men Feared Dead

Adrian, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—The search for two men from Van Wert, O., who disappeared near Devil's Lake last Friday afternoon, centered around an opening in the frozen surface of the lake tonight after sheriff's officers said they had located an automobile in 20 feet of water.

Divers were summoned from Toledo to aid in raising the car. No bodies have yet been found.

A deputy sheriff said the sunken automobile may be the car in which Orville Place and Ralph Raabe of Van Wert disappeared last Friday after starting out on a trip across the ice.

The two men were reported to have visited Raabe's cottage at Pleasant Grove on the edge of Devil's Lake Friday afternoon. Harold Barrow, a conservation officer, told the sheriff's office he had been answering the description of the missing Ohio car driven down to the shore and out across the ice.

Quintuplets Will Not Be Exhibited

Toronto, Feb. 28. (AP)—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said today the Dionnes agree with the Ontario government that the quintuplets, nine months old today, should not be placed upon exhibition at the peril of their health.

The Ontario premier made the statement after a conference with Paul Martin, the parents' counsel.

Martin said he and the premier had agreed to reveal no details until a final settlement was reached.

Holmes, Once Great Liberal, Gravely Ill

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—Oliver Wendell Holmes, once the "great liberal" of the supreme court, was so gravely ill tonight that oxygen was being used in an effort to save his life.

Three tanks filled with the gas were sent to his home, an old red brick town house at 1720 I street, N. W., shortly after four o'clock this afternoon. Several empty containers were taken away.

O. W. Holmes

Justice McReynolds called the Holmes residence this afternoon and confirmed the report that the venerable justice had been stricken with bronchial pneumonia. McReynolds, who served with Holmes on the bench for more than a decade, said he was resting better today than yesterday and that he had been ill only a few days.

His physician, Dr. Thomas A. Claytor, merely said:

"The justice is ill and at his age all illness is serious."

Holmes, who served 29 years on the supreme court bench, will be 94 on March 8. He knew Lincoln and was thrice wounded in the Civil war.

Famous Opinions

In the three brief years since he retired from the supreme bench, Holmes had become a figure shrouded in the midst of legend.

Attaches about the court today revived the familiar stories which sprang up about him; recalled the wit which disconcerted many a pompous attorney and the fact that he detested personal publicity. Inevitably, the episode of the cigarettes was recalled. A distinguished New York lawyer drove home a point with the thunderous statement that "nobody except fools and dudes smoke imported cigarettes."

"I am not so sure about that," blandly smiled Holmes. "Sometimes I smoke them and I know I am not a dude."

Holmes, whose dissenting opinions often were more famous than the majority ruling which prevailed, left the bench January 12, 1932.

His private secretary, James H. Rowe, said long before nightfall there was grave apprehension over the aged jurist's condition.

One of those who kept almost hourly in touch with the Holmes house was Justice Brandeis. For a lengthy span a familiar phrase on opinion days was "Holmes and Brandeis dissent."

Until Justice Holmes retired, the two were almost inseparable.

Young Explorer Tells of Hardships With Only Violin, Camera

Sarcoxie, Mo., Feb. 28 (AP)—Young Dave Irwin, who can go a long way with a camera and a fiddle, gave his old hometown a thrill tonight with telegraphed accounts of risking his life in a single-handed trek for films of the wild far north.

This village of scarcely more than 1,000 population, including the 24-year-old explorer's aunt and uncle, eagerly awaited word from the boy's father, W. T. Irwin. He was trying to establish contact with his son from the family's present home at Grand Rapids, Mich.

The elder Irwin, a salesman, first planned to go to the boy, after receiving a telegram yesterday in which Dave broke a six-months silence to report his safety. Later, he said he was attempting to communicate through the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Took Motion Pictures

Irwin said he would go north only if his son "has to be brought home."

The roaming Irwin's message to his uncle, Gilbert H. Wild, Sarcoxie peony raiser, was similar to the one sent his family, who moved to Michigan from here about 6 years ago. He told of being alone six months in the arctic and of subsisting on frozen fish in the desolate district of Keewatin. The messages came from Baker Lake post, in the northwest territories, Canada.

Although dwelling on his hardships, Irwin added, as if compensated, that he obtained some "excellent moving pictures of primitive Eskimos."

Three years ago the husky 6-foot youth joined a band driving a reindeer herd across North America to the eastern arctic to restock the Eskimo country. About six months ago, it was deduced from his massage, he left the herd and set out alone.

Mrs. Wild said she was sure the boy was not under contract for pictures.

"He was just trying to get some pictures that would sell," she said. "He didn't have any contract; nor did he have a promise from any boy that his pictures would be bought.

"He was always going—with his violin and his camera."

Paying his own way with these boo ncompanions, Irwin circled the globe once and had made other trips to arctic regions, friends said.

Marriage By Proxy Annulled By Judge

St. Louis, Feb. 28 (AP)—Miss Virginia Zimmer, 22, who without her knowledge was married by proxy to Elmer Lee Middleton, 19, at Union, Mo., October 31, was granted an annulment by Circuit Judge Robert W. Hall today.

She testified she agreed to have another girl take out a marriage license for her but that it was not her intention her proxy go through a wedding ceremony.

Granting the annulment, Judge Hall said:

"The other girl is in a funny position. If she appeared for you at the marriage ceremony, she was the one who was married. She had better file a divorce or annulment action."

FATALLY HURT

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—Harvey Voiland, 23, was fatally hurt Thursday when a motor sled he was testing in his yard struck a tree. Voiland had built the sled.

MOGAN DEFENDS SALES TAX LAW

Opposes Scheme to Stop Levy on Merchandise Traded In

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—The state board of tax administration today began investigating the advisibility of discontinuing the three percent sales tax on the resale of merchandise traded on new commodities.

Operators of used car markets have applied to the board asking that the sales tax on cars accepted in trade-ins and then resold be dropped. James E. Mogan, director of the sales tax board, protested.

Mogan contends if the tax is not collected on cars traded in the same exemption must prevail for other commodities accepted in trade for new merchandise.

"I have been informed used car sales amount to $40,000,000 annually in Michigan, and half of those sales are taxable under the present set-up,' Mogan said. He added no accurate survey of the second-hand business volume in the state is available, but declared if the slightest loop-hole were opened he feared widespread tax evasion.

Illinois and Iowa now collect no tax on the resale of goods traded in on new merchandise. The board directed Mogan to correspond with tax officials of both states.

The board elected State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry to succeed the late John K. Stack, jr., as chairman. Fry is a Democrat. Auditor General John J. O'Hara and Orville E. Atwood, other members of the board, are Republicans.

Michigan Promised March Relief Funds

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—The federal emergency relief administration today promised Michigan sufficient aid to carry relief recipients through March.

Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, notified the Michigan commission his department intended to dip into special funds to carry on emergency relief until action by congress on the president's work relief bill. The state has asked for $5,142,740 for March.

"Sufficient funds are available which can be transferred, if necessary, to meet relief needs during March but not thereafter," Hopkins warned the Michigan commission.

MINE CAPTAIN

Ishpeming, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—Thomas Tippett, an employe of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company for 25 years, today was named captain of the Lloyd Mine company for 25 years, today was named captain of the Lloyd mine at North Lake, succeeding Captain Joseph Thomas, who recently had a foot amputated. Tippett was a shift boss for 12 years and an underground foreman for nine years.

HITLER TAKES OVER CONTROL OF SAAR BASIN

GERMANY PLANNING REHABILITATION IN REGION

Saarbruecken, Feb. 28 (AP)—France and the League of Nations will give up control of the rich Saar coal basin tomorrow to close one of the most hotly contested chapters of the Versaille treaty.

Because Saarlanders voted overwhelmingly in last January's league-supervised plebiscite to return to the fatherland, sovereignty over the valleys Germany relinquished in 1918 will be transferred back to the Reich in simple ceremonies beginning at 10 a. m.

A galaxy of Nazi notables—Joseph Buerckel, Adolf Hitler's choice to govern the Saar, minister of propaganda Paul Joseph Goebbels and possibly der feuhrer himself—will be on hand to see the Nazi and German flags raised over the government building in Saarbruecken and city halls and police stations throughout the region.

Knox Already Gone

Buerckel, formerly the Reich's commissioner for Saar affairs, will take over the government from Baron Pomepo Aloisi of Italy head of the league's committee of three which arranged details of the transfer.

The Italian baron today succeeded Geoffrey G. Knox, British diplomat, as president of the league's Saar governing commission—because Nazi officials refused to come to the Saar until the "dictator" Knox departed—and will rule, nominally, until he turns the keys to the territory tomorrow. Knox has already gone.

German officials took command of the police today.

Needy Saarlanders, meanwhile, were heartened by an announcement from Goebbels, who will make the principal "welcome home" address on behalf of the government tomorrow, that 700,000 marks had been given Buerckel to distribute.

Lavish promises of help for business were made to Saarlanders. A program of public construction to aid the 40,000 unemployed will be put into force soon, officials said while the Saar chamber of commerce has its own plans. A new aviation field and several railway stations, together with highway construction, are on the program.

EXTENDS AMNESTY

Berlin, Feb. 28 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, testifying to "the love the nation holds for the Saar," tonight extended amnesty to all Saarlanders serving prison sentences of one year or less in the Saar.

The realmleader's action came on the eve of the basin's formal return to the Reich, while all Germany prepared for tomorrow's big celebration.

To mark what Hitler called the "greatest day of Thanksgiving of the year," church bells, factory sirens and ship whistles will join in the Reich's pageant of rejoicing at the Saarlanders' homecoming.

KNOX KNIGHTED

London, Feb. 28 (AP)—Col. Geoffrey G. Knox, president of the League of Nations Saar governing commission until today, has been knighted for his services.

A companion of the Order of St. Michael, Knox today was promoted to knight commander by order of King George. He becomes Sir Geoffrey.

Two Men and Baby Killed, Ten Others Hurt In Explosion

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 28 (AP)—Two men and a baby girl were killed and ten persons were injured in two explosions which badly damaged a poolroom and dwelling in Edwardsville late today.

Parents of the infant, born this morning, and eight other persons were injured and neighboring structures were damaged by the blast and the fire which followed. The cause of the blasts was not learned.

One of the men was identified tentatively as Peter Morga, 28. Police sought to identify the second man and continued to search the ruins.

The infant victim was the child of Mr. and Mrs. Shepak. The Shepaks, who have two other children, occupied the second floor apartment above a poolroom and beauty parlor.

Sophie Gregorski, 24, of Scranton, said "I suddenly found myself out in the yard." She was hanging clothes in the Shepak kitchen when the blasts occurred.

YOUNGEST BISHOP

Garbed for his consecration as the youngest Roman Catholic bishop, Rev. Raymond A. Kearney, 32, is shown on his way to the ceremonies in Brooklyn, N. Y., by which he was elevated to the Catholic heirarchy. He will serve as auxiliary bishop of Brooklyn with the title of Bishop of Lysinia.

BODY OF YOUTH FOUND IN LAKE

Police Think Boy Missing Ten Days Was Murdered

Youngstown, O., Feb. 28. (AP)—An anonymous note led today to the discovery of the body of 13-year-old Frank Suhovecky at the bottom of Lake Cohasset in Mill Creek Park.

Discovery of the body terminated a ten-day search. Police expressed theories the boy had been slain.

The note, received by Mike Suhovecky, 28-year-old brother of the boy, said the body would be found near the point in the lake at which it was recovered.

Police tonight searched the home of a trapper who is held as a suspect in an attempt to trace the note paper.

The boy's head bore three deep gashes as if inflicted with an axe, a hatchet or a large knife. One eye was blackened. Coroner David Hauser said after a preliminary examination that the cuts were only scalp wounds and not deep enough to have caused death.

The only part the trapper had played in the case up to tonight, police said, was in his report Tuesday night that he had noticed a break in the ice at the point where the body was found today.

Frank, a junior high school student, made a date Feb. 8, with Alex Nagy, a chum, to go to the park and salvage a sack full of old pots and pans the boys had dug out of a dump. Alex missed the date and Frank was seen on his way to the park with a sack. That was the last seen of him.

$40,000,000 Likely From Tax On Sales

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—James E. Mogan, sales tax director, said Thursday that collections of approximately $40,000,000 are possible this fiscal year if gains continue in retail business. Collections were $34,871,919 for the first year of the 3 per cent sales tax, he said, and about $12,000,000 already has been collected in the seven months of this fiscal year.

PROVIDED LIQUOR

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Teets, 21, and Alexander W. Morris, both of Detroit, were held for examination Thursday on charges they furnished liquor to a prisoner in county jail. Bond of $500 each was fixed. They were arrested when a bottle of liquor was found on the prisoner, Mrs. Teets' husband, Herbert, after he had been visited by Morris and Mrs. Teets.

CONVENTION IN DETROIT AIMS FOR HARMONY

5-CORNERED FIGHT FOR EDUCATION BOARD

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Detroit, Feb. 28 (AP)—Michigan Republicans gathered here tonight intent on whipping up partisan enthusiasm for the spring campaign.

Opposing factions, mindful of the pleas for harmony voiced at the county conventions last week, drew together in an attempt to make Friday's convention placid. The only ripple on the calm preconvention surface was a possible five-cornered fight for the nomination for members of the state board of education.

Although a relatively unimportant post, politically, leaders of various groups felt they had gone as far as they could in other directions to promote harmony and were disposed to assert their claims.

Several Candidates

The Wayne county delegation was pledged, presumably, to support Wynand Wichers, of Holland, for the nomination. He was seen as the choice of Governor Fitzgerald. If Wichers is nominated the so-called McKay-Kent county slate will be left out in the cold. Former State Treasurer Frank D. McKay and M. B. McPherson, chairman of the state tax commission, were attempting to place a Kent county man for either the board of education or superintendent of public instruction. Their efforts seemed to be centered on the nomination of Lester Doerr, of Grand Rapids, for the board of education.

Other candidates in that race were Arthur A. Rather, of Ionia, said to have the backing of former Governor Fred W. Green; Fred A. Jeffers, of Painesville, a former member of the state board of education, and Allan M. Freeland, of Grand Rapids, a present member of the board of education.

Freeland admittedly would prefer the nomination for superintendent of public instruction. If the McKay-McPherson delegates are unable to secure enough votes for that nomination they would like to see him renominated for his present office. The slate tentatively accepted by administration forces, however, would give Freeland no place on the ticket.

Administration delegates were lined up for M. R. Keyworth, Hamtramck school official, for superintendent of public instruction, and Wichers for the state board of education. Freeland, according to his managers, was willing to step out of the race for superintendent of public instruction if he could be guaranteed renomination to the board, but opposing forces were inclined to leave him entirely out of the picture.

Lawrence Assured

The balance of the slate to be named by the convention for submission to the voters in the general election April 1 appeared to be settled. Incumbent justices of the supreme court—Nelson Sharpe, of West Branch, and William W. Potter, of Lansing—had no apparent opposition. The same situation existed in connection

In the Headlines From Washington

(By The Associated Press)

A quick supreme court appeal of the Weirton steel case affecting the controverted Section 7-A of the recovery act was promised by Attorney General Cummings.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, erstwhile "great liberal" of the supreme court, was gravely ill with bronchial pneumonia.

President Roosevelt's return bolstered the hopes of his senate chiefs for eventual passage of the work-relief bill along administration-approved lines.

Congressional ideas as to the form of the social security bill were revealed as being at a serious variance with the original measure submitted by a cabinet committee.

The senate territories committee recommended investigation of charges of maladministration in the Virgin Islands.

President Roosevelt, back from a brief rest at Hyde Park, considered a fishing cruise in southern waters during March.

The state department prepared a list of nations which will not receive reciprocal trade benefits because they are considered unfair to American exporters.

The congressional move to repeal provisions for publicity of income tax returns appeared to have collapsed with the failure of special senate and house groups to agree on the repeal bill

PROPOSALS FOR SECURITY VARY

House Committee Makes Changes in President's Bill

BY CLARENCE M. WRIGHT
(Associated Press Staff Wright)

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—The job of choosing between opposing recommendations of his own cabinet and a congressional committee on how his social security plan should be handled was shaped up for President Roosevelt today.

At the same time, the Democratic whip, Senator Lewis of Illinois, indicated dissatisfaction with the cabinet committee's bill by introducing a substitute for it.

Coincidentally, too, the house ways and means committee called in Alexander Holtzoff, a special assistant attorney general, to receive assurances that the present bill is constitutional. Some have contended otherwise.

The house committee had about finished his original consideration and amendment of the bill, including a number of changes which tossed out provisions suggested by the cabinet committee on economic security. The committee, during its work on the bill, did these things:

Reduced Federal Control

It took away from Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, the job of bossing both the "needy" old-age pensions and the expenditure of funds for the aid of dependent children;

It voted to make the social insurance board an independent agency instead of leaving it under the direction of Secretary Perkins;

It sided with Secretary Morgenthau against Secretary Perkins and the rest of the cabinet committee and decided that the treasury should not attempt to collect taxes from farmers, domestics and casuals for contributory old-age pensions;

It had reduced, from start to finish, control the federal government would have had over state old-age pensions and unemployment insurance.

Already reports of dissatisfaction in high administration quarters had reached the committee. One was that Hopkins had expressed his opposition to changes under which a state would be allowed to differentiate in the sizes of pensions.

Hopkins, said one committee member who asked that his name not be used, insisted that there would too much discrimination between negroes and whites in the southern states.

The ways and means committee, before bringing the bill up in the house next week, will talk it over with the president.

President Buys First Baby Bond

Washington, Feb. 28. (AP)—With the president as the first purchaser, the new United States savings bonds—"baby bonds" to some—will be placed on sale tomorrow at 14,000 postoffices throughout the country.

Mr. Roosevelt is scheduled to make the purchase at the White House from Postmaster General Farley after Secretary Morgenthau has explained how this new type bond affords individual investors the first opportunity to buy such a security since World War days.

Ickes Gets Data On Farley And PWA

Washington, Feb. 28. (AP)—Data collected by Secretary Ickes' investigators concerning Postmaster General Farley's connection with PWA projects—if any—will be forwarded to the senate on Monday.

Ickes said today the material would be ready by tomorrow, but, recalling that the senate had adjourned until Monday, he added, it was "no use sending the papers to an aching void."

"I'm not speaking disrespectfully of the senate," he hastily added. "The senate is not there."

Tariff Reduction On Fruit Protested

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 22 (AP)—Governor Fitzgerald protested to the United States tariff commission today against the proposed reduction of tariff on fruit used in the manufacture of "maraschino" cherries.

A hearing has been called before the commission for March 4 at which the proposed reduction will be discussed.

"The proposal affects directly the income of some thousands of Michigan farmers. As spokesman for these farmers, I ask you not to reduce the tariff," the governor wrote the commission.

lic office to appear before the officials with whom they file their nominating petitions within 15 days in order to identify themselves.

A bill to repeal the act under which taxes on homesteads and swamp lands held by the state conservation department are collected was submitted by Rep. Harold C. Bellows, Democrat, Bay City.

Would Exempt Food

Rep. Joseph A. Long, Republican, Milford, introduced a bill which would raise the age limit of minors from 17 to 18 years.

Senator Anthony J. Wilkowski offered a bill exempting food and other necessities from the sales tax along with goods used in the manufacture or processing of taxable goods. The necessities would embrace milk, bread, flour, meat, clothing and medicine. Feed and fodder used by farmers would also be exempt.

Senator John W. Reid, Republican, Highland Park, would remove state liquor employes and agents from politics. The former would be discharged if they participated in promoting political candidacies while agents of the liquor commission would be subject to general penalties under the control act.

A two-year moratorium on garnishment proceedings against laborers is provided in a bill of Senator Harry F. Hittle, Republican, Lansing.

Other measures included:

A bill by Senators Dale D. Doyle, Democrat, Saginaw, and Miller Dunckel, Republican, Three Rivers, increasing emergency soldiers' and sailors' relief by counties from one-tenth to two-tenths of a mill; a bill by Senators Joseph A. Baldwin, Republican, Albion, and John Luecke, Democrat, Escanaba requiring trucks and trailers to be manned by two men with an eight-hour restriction on continuous driving; another by Senator Earl W. Munshaw, Republican, Grand Rapids, prohibiting so-called walkathons and providing a maximum penalty of a $100 fine or 90 days in jail for a violation; and a measure by Senator Edward W. Fehling, Republican, St. Johns, requiring a bank's surplus to equal its capital stock before the issuance of dividends. Dividends can now be declared if the surplus is 50 per cent of the capital stock.

English Gov't To Be Attacked For Monetary Policy

London, Feb. 28. (AP)—The government will be taken to task on Monday by the opposition for its monetary policy, which Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, said today does not contain any plan for early stabilization of the pound.

D. M. Mason, liberal member of the opposition, called attention to the recent fall in the external value of the pound. Unsatisfied with the chancellor's answers, he sought to reopen the question under a motion seeking adjournment of the house on a matter of "urgent public importance." He contended "the fall of the paper pound, and the declared inability of the government to arrest further fall" constituted such a matter, but was overruled.

The speaker held that Mason's rejected motion could be brought to the attention of the commons Monday.

Brooks Released From Jail On Bond

Chicago, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Rev. Edward L. Brooks, whose maternity hospital here and "baby farm" near Beulah, Mich., are under investigation by authorities of two states, was released on bond today after spending five days in the county jail.

Brooks was extradited from Michigan to face a charge of operating a maternity hospital without a license. His bond of $2,000, twice reduced at the appeal of his attorney, was furnished by George L. Lehle, who scheduled property on North Clark street. Brooks' case has been set for hearing on March 13.

Films Are Turning To Classic Stories

Hollywood, Feb. 28. (AP)—The films are turning to the classics for their plots in no small way. Recently it was announced Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was to be filmed, and today Twentieth Century pictures said they would film Sir Walter Scott's "Ivanhoe."

No cast has yet been chosen for the latter picture.

LaBranch Farmer Taken By Death

Joseph Szaflarski, 68, passed away at four o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home in LaBranch. He was ill about a year with complications. The body was taken to the Allo funeral home to be prepared for burial but funeral arrangements are incomplete.

He is survived by four daughters, Mrs. John May, Detroit; Mrs. John Piblecki, Uniontown, Pa.; Mrs. Theodore Wery, Wilson, and Blanche at home.

He was a farmer at LaBranch for 16 years.

Fitzgerald Tells Public About His Economy Program

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—Governor Fitzgerald offered a mild threat against obstructionists in the legislature in a speech tonight.

Speaking of the administrative program, from a radio station he said:

"Its adoption has been seemingly slow because its complete understanding takes time. I believe that the time required for such an understanding has now passed and that from now on action by the legislature should take place rapidly as all these various bills dovetail into each other like parts of a jigsaw puzzle to form a completed picture.

"It it does not, it will be because of unsuspected, obstructionist tactics of which I will advise you in full detail in my next radio talk on the last day of March."

The governor outlined the complete legislative program and declared its adoption necessary in the interests of economy.

"If the principle of pay-as-you-go be ignored or violated in any acts of the legislature, I shall use every power vested in the office of governor to nullify such acts," he commented.

Freighter Radios Out Distress Call

New York, Feb. 28. (AP)—The steamer City of Hamburg wirelessed the Radio Marine corporation tonight it had intercepted a distress call from the freighter Bosanka, which gave its position as about 250 miles off the coast of France in the North Atlantic Ocean.

The City of Hamburg said that it and three other ships were going to the rescue of the stricken ship, believed to carry a crew of 30.

The Bosanka, a Yugo-Slav boat, is listed by Lloyd's register as of 3,456 tons.

Roosevelt Plans Vacation Cruise

Washington, Feb. 28. (AP)—Freshened by a five-day respite from the direct pressure of capital affairs, President Roosevelt today looked to the possibility of a vacation fishing cruise in southern waters—probably before the coming month is out.

And, after that, he is considering a trip across the continent this summer to inspect the San Diego, California, Pacific exposition.

The president already has all but broken the travel records of other chief executives. He has journeyed more than 25,000 miles since entering office.

CONVENTION IN DETROIT AIMS FOR HARMONY

with the state board of agriculture. The incumbents, Clark L. Brody, of Lansing, and William H. Berkey, of Cassopolis, seemed to be assured of renomination. For regents of the university Mrs. Esther Marsh Cram, of Flint, an incumbent, and David H. Crowley, of Detroit, a close personal friend of Governor Fitzgerald, were in line for the nomination without opposition.

Howard C. Lawrence, political ally of former Governor Fred W Green, was slated for re-election to the chairmanship of the party state cent. committee. Aside from the contest for membership on the state board of education the only prospective fight was in the reorganization of the Republican state organization. District caucuses Friday morning will designate nominees for membership on the state central committee. It appeared likely that in the Wayne county area members viewed as friendly to Edward N Barnard would be swept out of office and others, allied with Governor Fitzgerald, and Attorney General Harry S. Toy would replace them.

HURLEY GIVES TALK

Detroit, Feb. 28. (AP)—Patrick J. Hurley, who served the Hoover administration as secretary of war, sounded a keynote for the Republican campaign of 1936 tonight, with a plea for the party to liberalize its national policies and shy away from the right and left extremes of the opposition.

Hurley was the principal speaker at the Republican state committee dinner tonight, preceding the opening of the state convention Friday morning.

Sharing the program with the former secretary of war was Governor Fitzgerald, who discussed the return of the party to power in Michigan in a brief speech, and reasserted his intentions to wage a fight for government economy. Former Governor Wilbur M. Brucker was toastmaster.

"The Republican party," said Hurley, "will make a great mistake if it attempts to assimulate either of the extremes of the Democratic party."

Farm Credit Relief Comish Carries On

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—A bill extending the life of the farm credit relief commission until March 1, 1937, took immediate effect today when it was signed by Governor Fitzgerald.

The commission acts as an agent in obtaining loans from the federal land bank for Michigan farmers. It was created by the 1933 legislature and would have expired tomorrow without the extension.

1850 Guests At White House Party

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—Refreshed by that sleigh-riding at Hyde Park, President Roosevelt tonight took up a post in the Blue Room of the White House to shake hands with 1850 guests at the army and navy reception, last of the social season.

Officers of all branches of the service, in trimmest dress uniforms, with wives and families who have all been to the far ends of the earth, were the guests

SLAYER FACES TRIAL MARCH 11

Frechette Does Not Give Testimony in Hearing at Howell

Howell, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—Clarence Frechette must go to trial March 11 for the slaying of his trucker-employer, Robert Brown.

Magistrate Glenn C. Yelland conducted an examination today for the former aviation student who served a prison term as Michigan's first "flying bandit," and ordered him held for trial in circuit court.

Frechette was returned to Michigan from Nevada City, Calif., he was apprehended while driving his employer's automobile with Brown's body stuffed into a luggage trunk on the rear of it.

Frechette did not testify but was an alert listener as Mr. Mabel Brown, mother of the slain man, told of his visit to her home in her son's car and of a request he made for money.

Mrs. Brown testified Frechette came to the home at noon, January 31, two days after Brown was believed slain, and requested money with which to pay a gasoline bill. When she asked the whereabouts of her son, she said, Frechette told her he was at Hastings, Mich., "visiting girl friends." He drove away in the car when she declined to give him the money, she said.

She described the visit of an unknown person to the Brown home during that night, as a car, with motor running, stood in the driveway. She testified she looked from a window of her upstairs bedroom and recognized the car as that belonging to her son. The person left the house, but then returned a few moments later, she said, and when she examined her son's mail the next morning, found it had been disturbed.

Tells Of Confession

Defense attorneys contended that evidence so far brought into the case warranted no stronger charge than manslaughter, but Magistrate Yelland held that Frechette should be bound over as charged.

Sheriff Claude Fawcett, who returned Frechette here, testified to a purported confession signed by Frechette in California, and Dr. Harold C. Hill, Howell physician who assisted in the autopsy performed when Brown's body was returned here, gave the findings of the physicians.

Dr. Hill testified that in his opinion, a bullet wound in the head caused Brown's death, but explained that another bullet might also have caused death. He said the victim might have lived for several hours, but he believed he had died immediately after he was wounded.

Sir Hallet, caretaker at a country club east of Howell, testified that during a night toward the latter part of January, the exact date of which he was not certain, he heard a car near his home and later heard two shots fired. He said, however, he could not identify the car.

Durant Finds He Is Suitable For Comic Director

Hollywood, Feb. 28. (AP)—Will Durant, the philosopher-author, found today he was suitable to portray the role of comic film director in a motion picture.

Director David Butler was interviewing the list of applicants for the job of a bungling director.

"Is that your costume you have on?" Butler inquired of one.

"Yes—yes, it is," said the man.

"You'll do then," said Butler.

Just then, Will Rogers walked over and shook hands with the man.

"Permit me to introduce you to Mr. Will Durant, Mr. Butler," said Rogers.

Home Remodeling Work Being Spurred

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—An upturn in building construction and home remodelling work was predicted today by Raymond Foley, state director of the federal housing administration.

Speaking at a meeting of representatives from several western Michigan cities who will direct the federal housing campaign, Foley said that "surveys show there is a vast number of houses now occupied that are unfit to use as living quarters."

After explaining the details of the federal housing act, he urged the group to carry on active campaigns for housing improvements in their cities, pointing out that $7,000,000 of housing work had already been undertaken in Michigan and predicting that "much more will be spent."

King Prajadhipok To Abdicate Throne

Bangkok, Siam, Feb. 28 (AP)—Siamese today believed their five-foot king, Prajadhipok, was all ready to carry out his threat to renounce his ancient throne.

While strictest censorship kept the press here silent, there were reports that parliament had rejected the conditions laid down by the monarch for withdrawal of his adbication threat. Neither official confirmation nor denial of the reports was to be had.

A dispatch to London from Rangoon, Burma, Thursday said private advices from Bangkok were that Prajadhipok's abdication was regarded as certain.

Herbert Hoover, Jr., Sued For $94,000

Bakersfield, Calif., Feb. 28 (AP)—Herbert Hoover, Jr., son of the former president of the United States, was sued for $94,000 damages today as the result of an accident in which his car figured. The plaintiff is W. E. Young of Banning, Calif.

The accident occurred 25 miles south of Bakersfield last Oct. 31. Records of the California highway patrol here show Hoover gave his address as Sierra Madre.

The complaint alleges that "either Herbert Hoover, Jr., or Jane Doe" was driving the automobile when the accident occurred. Negligence on the part of the driver is alleged.

Young alleged he suffered three fractured ribs, concussion of the brain, loss of teeth and cuts and bruises.

Hockey Players May Lose Their Amateur Status

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—The amateur standing of 22 hockey players is threatened because they played in a game here with Clarence "Taffy" Abel of the Chicago Blackhawks.

Officials of three hockey organizations began an investigation today to determine what effect the action would have on their players. Abel played with the Sault Ste. Marie Pirates Sunday against a Britt, Ontario, team.

Abel told officials he received two telegrams purportedly signed by W. A. Hewitt, secretary of the Ontario Hockey league, the first stating he could not play, but the second received at the rink, saying he could.

Hewitt declared he sent Abel only one wire, denying him permission to participate in the game a charity affair. Abel said the second telegram bore only a typewritten signature. Team members and rink officials disclaimed any knowledge of the telegram, and telegraph company officials told the investigating officials they had no record of the second wire.

St. Louis Eagles Lose To Canadiens

Montreal, Feb. 28 (AP)—Beating the St. Louis Eagles, 4-2, the Montreal Canadiens tonight stretched their lead over the New York Americans to seven points in the battle for third place in the National Hockey league's international division.

After Leroy Goldsworthy had taken a pass from Armand Mondou for the first goal in 6:37 of the opening period, the Canadiens were always in front. Roger Jenkins added another goal for the Canadiens before the period was over and the third Canadien counter, by George Mantha, was sandwiched in between a pair of counters by Frank Jerwa and Pete Kelly. Johnny Gagnon scored the Canadiens' fourth and last goal in the last minute of play in the third period.

Rome, Feb. 28 (AP)—News of the concentration of 30,000 Ethiopians near the Ualual sector of Somaliland was received tonight as Italy continued preparations for possible hostilities in Africa.

Four ships loaded war materials at Naples tonight while another put out from Messina.

Parachute Jumper Uses "Bat Wings", Does Three Loops

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 27. (AP) — Clem Sohn, of Lansing, Mich., today stepped out of an airplane 12,000 feet up, left his parachute unopened and tested a set of "bat wings."

The wings were of canvas and were attached to his arms. He also had a canvas web sewed between his overall legs. Thus attired he did three loops, several sharp banks, and some gliding. It was all over in a minute and a quarter, while he slowly counted 75. Then he opened his parachute, some 10,000 feet lower than the altitude from which he jumped, and landed safely.

Sohn, a parachute jumper who specializes in delayed drops, said without the "bat wings" it would have taken him only 30 seconds to fall the 10,000 feet. He plans to experiment again tomorrow.

"I am sure that I could have glided a mile or more laterally if I had concentrated by efforts on that," he said. "It was cold and I was in a hurry to get to the ground."

Persons On Relief Also Get Checks From Labor Fund

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 27 (AP)—William F. Doyle, secretary of the state commission of labor and industry, announced today the possibility of an extensive investigation regarding alleged duplication of payments under welfare and workmen's compensation regulations.

After a conference with Charles Hickey, of the Detroit welfare department, Doyle said instances had been uncovered in that city where persons on relief were receiving funds under the workmen's compensation laws.

Doyle said an investigation will be made of "100 typical cases to see if there are general duplications." If so, a more thorough inquiry will be made, he said, first in Detroit and possibly later in other cities of the state.

Dismissed Woman Warden Will Seek U. S. Senate Seat

Oklahoma City, Feb. 28 (AP)—Mrs. George A. Waters will be a candidate for the United States senate at the next election, she announced tonight—carrying her fight for vindication as the nation's only woman warden directly to the people of Oklahoma.

Freshened by a week's rest from the rigors of directing a relentless search for 32 desperadoes who broke from the state reformatory at Granite on the eve of her ouster as Warden, Mrs. Waters smiled when asked if she planned to retire.

"Of course not,' she replied. "I'm out but I am far from down. I'm just starting to do things. First I am going to write a book. Then I am going to run for the United States senate against T. P. Gore."

Mrs. Waters, 45 and mother of three, was warden for eight years after succeeding her deceased husband.

"I have no malice against Senator Gore, but I do believe I can do a good job in the senate, so I am going to run—demanding at the polls vindication of my work," Mrs. Waters explained.

CCC Camp Placed Under Quarantine

Iron River, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—The Civilian Conservation corps camp near Gibbs City is under quarantine for scarlet fever. Two cases were discovered, and four other camp members, a truck driver and three officers, have been isolated. The camp has an enrollment of 190.

PROPOSALS FOR SECURITY VARY

House Committee Makes Changes in President's Bill

BY CLARENCE M. WRIGHT
(Associated Press Staff Wright)

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—The job of choosing between opposing recommendations of his own cabinet and a congressional committee on how his social security plan should be handled was shaped up for President Roosevelt today.

At the same time, the Democratic whip, Senator Lewis of Illinois, indicated dissatisfaction with the cabinet committee's bill by introducing a substitute for it.

Coincidentally, too, the house ways and means committee called in Alexander Holtzoff, a special assistant attorney general, to receive assurances that the present bill is constitutional. Some have contended otherwise.

The house committee had about finished his original consideration and amendment of the bill, including a number of changes which tossed out provisions suggested by the cabinet committee on economic security. The committee, during its work on the bill, did these things:

Reduced Federal Control

It took away from Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, the job of bossing both the "needy" old-age pensions and the expenditure of funds for the aid of dependent children;

It voted to make the social insurance board an independent agency instead of leaving it under the direction of Secretary Perkins;

It sided with Secretary Morgenthau against Secretary Perkins and the rest of the cabinet committee and decided that the treasury should not attempt to collect taxes from farmers, domestics and casuals for contributory old-age pensions;

It had reduced, from start to finish, control the federal government would have had over state old-age pensions and unemployment insurance .

Already reports of dissatisfaction in high administration quarters had reached the committee. One was that Hopkins had expressed his opposition to changes under which a state would be allowed to differentiate in the sizes of pensions.

Hopkins, said one committee member who asked that his name not be used, insisted that there would too much discrimination between negroes and whites in the southern states.

The ways and means committee, before bringing the bill up in the house next week, will talk it over with the president.

President Buys First Baby Bond

Washington, Feb. 28. (AP)—With the president as the first purchaser, the new United States savings bonds—"baby bonds" to some—will be placed on sale tomorrow at 14,000 postoffices throughout the country.

Mr. Roosevelt is scheduled to make the purchase at the White House from Postmaster General Farley after Secretary Morgenthau has explained how this new type bond affords individual investors the first opportunity to buy such a security since World War days.

Ickes Gets Data On Farley And PWA

Washington, Feb. 28. (AP)—Data collected by Secretary Ickes' investigators concerning Postmaster General Farley's connection with PWA projects—if any—will be forwarded to the senate on Monday.

Ickes said today the material would be ready by tomorrow, but, recalling that the senate had adjourned until Monday, he added, it was "no use sending the papers to an aching void."

"I'm not speaking disrespectfully of the senate," he hastily added. "The senate is not there."

Tariff Reduction On Fruit Protested

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 22 (AP)—Governor Fitzgerald protested to the United States tariff commission today against the proposed reduction of tariff on fruit used in the manufacture of "maraschino" cherries.

A hearing has been called before the commission for March 4 at which the proposed reduction will be discussed.

"The proposal affects directly the income of some thousands of Michigan farmers. As spokesman for these farmers, I ask you not to reduce the tariff," the governor wrote the commission.

lic office to appear before the officials with whom they file their nominating petitions within 15 days in order to identify themselves.

A bill to repeal the act under which taxes on homesteads and swamp lands held by the state conservation department are collected was submitted by Rep. Harold C. Bellows, Democrat, Bay City.

Would Exempt Food

Rep. Joseph A. Long, Republican, Milford, introduced a bill which would raise the age limit of minors from 17 to 18 years.

Senator Anthony J. Wilkowski offered a bill exempting food and other necessities from the sales tax along with goods used in the manufacture or processing of taxable goods. The necessities would embrace milk, bread, flour, meat, clothing and medicine. Feed and fodder used by farmers would also be exempt.

Senator John W. Reid, Republican, Highland Park, would remove state liquor employes and agents from politics. The former would be discharged if they participated in promoting political candidacies while agents of the liquor commission would be subject to general penalties under the control act.

A two-year moratorium on garnishment proceedings against laborers is provided in a bill of Senator Harry F. Hittle, Republican, Lansing.

Other measures included:

A bill by Senators Dale D. Doyle, Democrat, Saginaw, and Miller Dunckel, Republican, Three Rivers, increasing emergency soldiers' and sailors' relief by counties from one-tenth to two-tenths of a mill; a bill by Senators Joseph A. Baldwin, Republican, Albion, and John Luecke, Democrat, Escanaba requiring trucks and trailers to be manned by two men with an eight-hour restriction on continuous driving; another by Senator Earl W. Munshaw, Republican, Grand Rapids, prohibiting so-called walkathons and providing a maximum penalty of a $100 fine or 90 days in jail for a violation; and a measure by Senator Edward W. Fehling, Republican, St. Johns, requiring a bank's surplus to equal its capital stock before the issuance of dividends. Dividends can now be declared if the surplus is 50 per cent of the capital stock.

English Gov't To Be Attacked For Monetary Policy

London, Feb. 28. (AP)—The government will be taken to task on Monday by the opposition for its monetary policy, which Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, said today does not contain any plan for early stabilization of the pound.

D. M. Mason, liberal member of the opposition, called attention to the recent fall in the external value of the pound. Unsatisfied with the chancellor's answers, he sought to reopen the question under a motion seeking adjournment of the house on a matter of "urgent public importance." He contended "the fall of the paper pound, and the declared inability of the government to arrest further fall" constituted such a matter, but was overruled.

The speaker held that Mason's rejected motion could be brought to the attention of the commons Monday.

Brooks Released From Jail On Bond

Chicago, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Rev. Edward L. Brooks, whose maternity hospital here and "baby farm" near Beulah, Mich., are under investigation by authorities of two states, was released on bond today after spending five days in the county jail.

Brooks was extradited from Michigan to face a charge of operating a maternity hospital without a license. His bond of $2,000, twice reduced at the appeal of his attorney, was furnished by George L. Lehle, who scheduled property on North Clark street. Brooks' case has been set for hearing on March 13.

Films Are Turning To Classic Stories

Hollywood, Feb. 28. (AP)—The films are turning to the classics for their plots in no small way. Recently it was announced Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was to be filmed, and today Twentieth Century pictures said they would film Sir Walter Scott's "Ivanhoe."

No cast has yet been chosen for the latter picture.

LaBranch Farmer Taken By Death

Joseph Szaflarski, 68, passed away at four o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home in LaBranch. He was ill about a year with complications. The body was taken to the Allo funeral home to be prepared for burial but funeral arrangements are incomplete.

He is survived by four daughters, Mrs. John May, Detroit; Mrs. John Piblecki, Uniontown, Pa.; Mrs. Theodore Wery, Wilson, and Blanche at home.

He was a farmer at LaBranch for 16 years.

Fitzgerald Tells Public About His Economy Program

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—Governor Fitzgerald offered a mild threat against obstructionists in the legislature in a speech tonight.

Speaking of the administrative program, from a radio station he said:

"Its adoption has been seemingly slow because its complete understanding takes time. I believe that the time required for such an understanding has now passed, and that from now on action by the legislature should take place rapidly as all these various bills dovetail into each other like parts of a jigsaw puzzle to form a completed picture.

"It it does not, it will be because of unsuspected, obstructionist tactics of which I will advise you in full detail in my next radio talk on the last day of March."

The governor outlined the complete legislative program and declared its adoption necessary in the interests of economy.

"If the principle of pay-as-you-go be ignored or violated in any acts of the legislature, I shall use every power vested in the office of governor to nullify such acts," he commented.

Freighter Radios Out Distress Call

New York, Feb. 28. (AP)—The steamer City of Hamburg wirelessed the Radio Marine corporation tonight it had intercepted a distress call from the freighter Bosanka, which gave its position as about 250 miles off the coast of France in the North Atlantic Ocean.

The City of Hamburg said that it and three other ships were going to the rescue of the stricken ship, believed to carry a crew of 30.

The Bosanka, a Yugo-Slav boat, is listed by Lloyd's register as of 3,456 tons.

Roosevelt Plans Vacation Cruise

Washington, Feb. 28. (AP)—Freshened by a five-day respite from the direct pressure of capital affairs, President Roosevelt today looked to the possibility of a vacation fishing cruise in southern waters—probably before the coming month is out.

And, after that, he is considering a trip across the continent this summer to inspect the San Diego, California, Pacific exposition.

The president already has all but broken the travel records of other chief executives. He has journeyed more than 25,000 miles since entering office.

It was all over in a minute and a quarter, while he slowly counted 75. Then he opened his parachute, some 10,000 feet lower than the altitude from which he jumped, and landed safely.

Sohn, a parachute jumper who specializes in delayed drops, said without the "bat wings" it would have taken him only 30 seconds to fall the 10,000 feet. He plans to experiment again tomorrow.

"I am sure that I could have glided a mile or more laterally if I had concentrated by efforts on that," he said. "It was cold and I was in a hurry to get to the ground."

Persons On Relief Also Get Checks From Labor Fund

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 27 (AP)—William F. Doyle, secretary of the state commission of labor and industry, announced today the possibility of an extensive investigation regarding alleged duplication of payments under welfare and workmen's compensation regulations.

After a conference with Charles Hickey, of the Detroit welfare department, Doyle said instances had been uncovered in that city where persons on relief were receiving funds under the workmen's compensation laws.

Doyle said an investigation will be made of "100 typical cases to see if there are general duplications." If so, a more thorough inquiry will be made, he said, first in Detroit and possibly later in other cities of the state.

Dismissed Woman Warden Will Seek U. S. Senate Seat

Oklahoma City, Feb. 28 (AP)—Mrs. George A. Waters will be a candidate for the United States senate at the next election, she announced tonight—carrying her fight for vindication as the nation's only woman warden directly to the people of Oklahoma.

Freshened by a week's rest from the rigors of directing a relentless search for 32 desperadoes who broke from the state reformatory at Granite on the eve of her ouster as Warden, Mrs. Waters smiled when asked if she planned to retire.

"Of course not,' she replied. "I'm out but I am far from down. I'm just starting to do things. First I am going to write a book. Then I am going to run for the United States senate against T. P. Gore."

Mrs. Waters, 45 and mother of three, was warden for eight years after succeeding her deceased husband.

"I have no malice against Senator Gore, but I do believe I can do a good job in the senate, so I am going to run—demanding at the polls vindication of my work," Mrs. Waters explained.

CCC Camp Placed Under Quarantine

Iron River, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—The Civilian Conservation corps camp near Gibbs City is under quarantine for scarlet fever. Two cases were discovered, and four other camp members, a truck driver and three officers, have been isolated. The camp has an enrollment of 190.

Legislature Drops Seating Squabble; Legg Is Chairman

Lansing, Mich. (AP)—Heads of legislative election committees said today that no action will be taken this session on election contests filed with them.

The announcement from Chairman Don Vanderwerk, Republican, of the senate committee, and Peter R. Legg, Democrat, of the house group, ended the possibility of changes in seven seats in the legislature—two in the senate and five in the house.

Senator Vanderwerp and Representative Legg said they did not care to continue the November election controversy, in agreeing to no action on the petitions asking for a settlement of the disputes.

INDIAN'S CAMP IS DOING WELL

Red Men Are Working in Special CCC Camp Near Eckerman

Indians attached to the special Civilian Conservation Corps' camp near Eckerman, in the Marquette National Forest, are proving that they are well adopted to forestry work, R. B. MacKennan, supervisor of the U. S. Forest Service, stated yesterday.

Much progress is being made by the Indian crews to the various jobs that are assigned to them, and the camp's record for achievement and efficiency will compare favorably to other CCC outfits.

Started Last Fall

Authority to construct and maintain a work camp for Indians was secured last fall by the Department of the Interior. Despite deep snow and cold weather, work was promptly begun and as a result, there is now in the northwest corner of the Marquette National Forest, only a few miles from Lake Superior, a comfortable camp capable of housing 160 men.

Indians are selected by the Department of Indian Affairs, in accordance with rules prescribed by the Director of ECW. With the exception of the Superintendent in charge, the Camp Physician and the chief clerk, all members of the crew are Indians. Rates of pay are $30.00 per month for regular enrollees, $36.00 per month for assistant leaders, and $45.00 per month for leaders, or foremen. Truck drivers, mechanics, blacksmiths, and other specialists are hired at special rates exceeding those mentioned above.

Have Comfortable Quarters

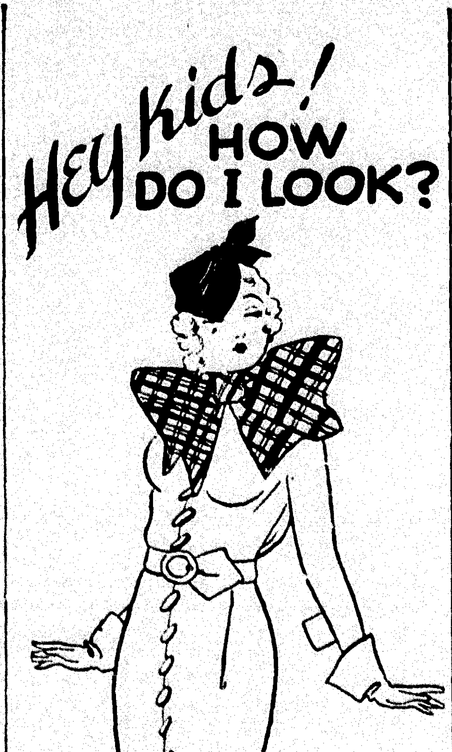
Inspection of the camp reveals surprisingly comfortable quarters. There is ample room in the sleeping quarters for all members of the crew. A commodious reading room is provided and great stacks of magazines and books are in evidence. A large bath house with lots of hot water available is being constructed at this time. A small but comfortable hospital is provided and will take care of up to twelve persons when necessary. Last but not least is a large light, airy mess-hall, fully outfitted with every essential piece of equipment, including a first class cook.

The construction and maintenance of the camp, feeding, housing and care of the men, payment of wages, etc., is handled by the Department of Indian Affairs under the able leadership of G. M. Hunt, Project Superintendent.

Solves Relief Problem

Work plans and specifications for the area were prepared by the U. S. Forest Service, and the work is done under the general direction of Foreman Harold Bergman of the Marquette National Forest. This work consists of timber stand improvement in twenty-five year old hardwood stands, road construction, construction of firebreaks, the disposal of large areas of old slash, resulting from logging operations, etc. Forest planting will be done during the summer months. All work crews are under the immediate direction of Indian Foremen, and the crews visited showed excellent organization and first class production of work.

While practically abolishing the local Indian unemployment problem, this worth-while project is also enabling the U. S. Forest Service to accomplish more quickly, its job of rehabilitating the National Forest.



Well, what do you think of "Boots" in one of the gowns from her new wardrobe? Pretty swell, huh?

But that's only the beginning! And you'll say a lot of "Ohs" and "Ahs" before you reach the finish. There are 10 costumes in all in "Boots'" new wardrobe, and you're going to get every one of them, in the form of paper doll cut-outs. You can try "Boots'" gowns on the young lady, yourself.

The first sketch of "Boots," with one of her costumes, appears on the Woman's Page today, instead of Wednesday as first announced, and a sketch will appear daily until the wardrobe is completed.

Hiawatha Forest Work During Winter Outlined

An interesting review of the various forestry projects that are being carried on this winter by the U. S. Forest Service in the Hiawatha national forest has been presented in a report submitted by E. D. DeGraaf, ranger at Manistique, to the office of Supervisor R. B. MacKennan in Escanaba.

The present winter program being conducted on the Hiawatha National Forest consists of a wide variety of work projects all necessary to the successful and intelligent administration of our forest resources. Forest inventory, timber stand improvement, truck trail and truck trail firebreak construction, fire hazard reduction, forest survey, construction of telephone lines, lake inventory, recreational plans, and the study of deer yards and grouse are the activities being carried on at this time. A brief discussion of each of these will show their significance more fully.

Forest Inventory Taken

Forest inventory work consists, as the name implies, of the taking of inventory of the forest. The whole present and future work area is gone over thoroughly and a tabulated and map record made of the type of cover, the nature of the soil, and the amount of slash present, with recommendations for the various kinds of work should be done. One to two technical foresters from each CCC camp are busy on this work at present, and it is expected that in the near future records for the whole forest will be completed. When finished, these records will be of inestimable value to the rangers and supervisors in the planning of work programs. In conjunction with the inventory records, an atlas is kept in every camp which shows the accomplished work, its cost, and time of completion. Thus at any time the complete status of the forest can be obtained from the records.

The next most important activity carried on at present its timber stand improvement. Experience and study have proven that the rate of growth of a stand can be tremendously increased by doing cultural work. Thinning, liberation, and snag removal are the operations usually carried on in this kind of work. When saplings of one kind are grouped together too closely, the poorer trees are cut out. This thinning gives the healthy straight trees a much better chance of growing. Then again old trees are found in young stands which, because of their spreading crowns, take up too much sunlight. These are called 'wolf trees' and are felled to liberate the saplings whose growth had been stunted by lack of sunlight. The cutting out of snags removes a great fire hazard. All the salvageable wood from this operation is utilized for camp fuel. The resultant slash and non-salvageable wood is burned progressively. Past studies show that cultural work is a wise and profitable investment.

Truck Trails Work

Another major winter activity is the construction of truck trails and truck trail firebacks. A truck trail is a forest road built for transporting men to fires, the administrative use by the Forest Service, and public travel. Truck trail firebreaks are also forest roads, but of a much lower standard. These are built primarily for the purpose of making protected areas accessible to fire fighters. The location and staking out of these roads by surveyors, clearing of the right-of-ways, bridge construction, and surfacing the sand road with gravel are the operations which are successfully performed on these projects during the winter months. The blasting of stumps and grading are summer activities. It is the objective of the Forest Service that the truck trail and truck trail firebreak system be developed to a degree of intensity required to insure that the walking distance from the nearest point on any road to the most remote point in any protected area well in coniferous areas be approximately one mile, and in hardwood types approximately one and one half miles. Fire has been the most deadly enemy of the forests in the past, and if our forests are to be built up again, protective systems must be developed sufficiently to cope successfully with this foe.

Fire Hazard Removal

The removal of existing fire hazards is another means of combating fire. Many of the protected areas are littered with slash and debris which is highly inflammable. This slash is piled in the summer, and then burned when burning is made safe by the presence of snow on the ground. The removal of this debris cuts down considerably the possibility of a fire starting, and greatly facilitates getting an already started fire under control. Winter is the only time during the year when slash can be burned safely.

Each camp also has a crew of three to four men busy running and relocating section lines, and sectioncorners established by the U. S. General Land Office survey in 1850, many of which have been destroyed by fire and logging operations.

Construction of telephone lines is another important activity. Rapid means of communication are necessary in carrying on the Forest Service program. At present all the camps and guard stations on the Hiawatha Forest, and the Ranger's stations at Munising and Manistique are connected by telephone. The last leg of this system was the construction of the line from Cooks to Manistique during December and January which brought the camps into direct communication with the new Ranger's office at Manistique.

Take Data On Lakes

One of the most interesting surveys being carried on now is the inventory of lakes. Every lake on the forest is being mapped as its location, size, depth, type of bottom, and kind and quantity of fish. This time of the year is the most suitable for this work since the survey can be done much more easily and economically when ice is present on the lakes.

Then also, technical specialists are inspecting possible future recreational areas, surveying and mapping these, and drawing up plans for proposed improvements for camp grounds and parks which will be done during the summer and which will make these choice spots available to the public for recreational purposes.

To perpetuate the wild life for all the sportsmen, studies are being conducted of game, particularly of deer and grouse, which will furnish information necessary for decisions on the future game management policies. These policies plan to correlate the state and federal interests in game and fish so that the interests of the private citizen will be protected.

This gives but a sketchy outline of the work that is being done this winter on the Hiawatha forest. Approximately 1200 CCC enrollees are over 70 trained technical foresters and foremen are engaged in this program at present which is lying the basis of future benefits to the surrounding communities and the American public in general.

FARM STRIKE ENDS

Mass—The strike of farmers supplying milk to the Stella Cheese Co., which has been in progress for 11 days was settled at a meeting held in the town hall here last night. The farmers were invited by the company to have a committee check on testing and other points of friction between the farmers and the cheese company were ironed out. Demands as to price were not met.

Upper Peninsula Liquor Retailers Form Association

Leonard Murray, president of the Delta county retail liquor vendors association, was made a vice president of the Upper Peninsula Retail Liquor Vendors' association at an organization meeting in Crystal Falls.

The following officers were elected:

Biago Ferzacca, Iron Mountain, president; Ed. Nasser, Iron River, first vice president; Robert Byrns, Wakefield, second vice president; L. Murray, Escanaba, third vice president, and Jake Smith, Iron Mountain, secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors includes A. C. Stolberg, L'Anse; Harry Bradley, Crystal Falls; John Ozzello, Wakefield; Louis Peterson, Menominee; and Bernie Vondette, Houghton.

The officers and directors plan to meet in Iron Mountain in a day or two to select an attorney to represent the liquor vendors at Lansing and handle other legal work.

Resolution Adopted

A lengthy resolution dealing with all phases of the liquor selling industry was adopted. Briefly, some of the clauses call for the bonds of liquor vendors to be reduced from $5,000 to $1,000; that sale of beer, wine and liquor for use on and off the premises be permitted for the same license as now paid; that the sale of spirits be permitted before and after the closing of the polls on election days; that the restrictions of one vendor for every 750 population be maintained; that up to date places be conducted by the vendors, and that the vendors should not be burdened with double taxation due to the sales tax on liquor.

The association believes that if the state liquor control commission makes certain concessions, the vendors will be able to conduct their businesses profitably and eventually eliminate the bootlegger.

F. E. King, Former Supt. Of Schools, Dies In California

An item of interest to local people is carried in the latest issue of the Michigan Education Association Journal concerning the death of F. E. King, a former superintendent of schools in Escanaba.

Mr. King, 75, who died at La Centro, Calif., on December 31, was superintendent of schools here for eight years. He came here in September, 1910, succeeding F. D. Davis. After serving here for eight years, Mr. King went to Marshall, Mich., in June, 1918, where he became superintendent of schools there, succeeding R. E. Olds, who took his position here.

Mr. King was head of Marshall schools until 1926, when he retired and shortly moved to California where he died.

TRENARY NEWS

Sing Over Radio

Trenary, Mich.—Two Trenary entertainers made their first appearance over the radio Sunday when they sang over W. E. B. O. over Marquette in an amateur contest held by that station. The two entertainers were Norman Hall and Donald Webber who presented a violin and guitar act. They sang four numbers on the program.

Miss Gerta Hews, who is attending high school in Marquette and who formerly lived in Trenary also sang over this same station a few weeks ago. She played her own accompaniment on the guitar.

Recreation Club Meeting

The Women's Recreation Club held a banner meeting Tuesday evening in the high school gymnasium. It was probably the biggest attendance for an ordinary meeting since the beginning of the club almost three years ago. There were thirty-nine women present, a very few new ones, but most of them regular members. The program was in charge of Mrs. Andrew Rodgers, Mrs. William Wiederhold and Mrs. Peter Hoy and the games were especially enjoyed. The committee appointed for next week consists of Mrs. William Hytinen, Mrs. Clayton Stevens, Miss Violet Brown and Miss Elizabeth Miller.

Personals

Miss Esther Guntley of Lathrop is the guest of her cousin, Miss Olive Thompson.

Norman Hall and Donald Webber were Marquette visitors on Sunday.

Miss Dorothy Robinson visited at the home of her parents in Marquette over the week-end.

Ralph Richmond is still confined to his home with a severe attack of the mumps.

Williard Quarfoote who has been confined to his home with the flu is much improved.

Wakefield Citizen Named Inspector Of Liquor Comish

Andy Lake of Wakefield will assume today his new duties as inspector for the Michigan liquor control commission, succeeding Clifton D. Hill of Alpena, it was announced by James A. Spies, assistant manager.

Mr. Lake has been active in Republican party affairs in Gogebic county. He was a candidate for the office of sheriff last fall.

Other appointments at the Escanaba office of the liquor commission are expected to be made the first of next week.

Michigan Leading In Housing Drive

Delta county and nearly 300 other communities in Michigan will participate in Michigan Better Home Month set for March, which has for its principal objective further return of labor to private industry and consequent elimination of as many men as possible from the relief rolls.

Michigan, from latest reports, is leading the entire nation in organization of local committees for the Better Housing campaign. Raymond M. Foley, state director of the Federal Housing Administration, is hopeful that Michigan will lead the entire nation in total modernization projects and now private construction during 1935.

There is ample evidence that there will be a general revival of the building trades and associated industries, which, prior to the collapse of building seven years ago, numbered one employee in five of those who are now on the public tax. Mr. Foley points out, however, that another important factor is stemming the tide of property depreciation and a return to the thought that a house should also be a home.

Indications are that the various communities will make such favorable report on property improvement and new private construction that the total will represent a tremendous sum. The goal is for more enhancement of homes either planned or in actual process of achievement during March than in the entire preceding year.

Helen Rose Chosen As School Declaimer

Helen Joy Rose was chosen winner of the declamatory contest held at the Escanaba senior high school yesterday afternoon at a general assembly. Edith Stein was runner-up.

The two contestants were so closely matched that three faculty judges refused to name either and the matter was left to a vote of the students, who selected Miss Rose. The faculty judges were: Miss Roma B. Irons, declamatory coach; Miss Helen Snyder, debate coach, and Joseph Shipman, oratory coach.

Hiawatha Forest Work During Winter Outlined

An interesting review of the various forestry projects that are being carried on this winter by the U. S. Forest Service in the Hiawatha national forest has been presented in a report submitted by E. D. DeGraaf, ranger at Manistique, to the office of Supervisor R. B. MacKennan in Escanaba.

The present winter program being conducted on the Hiawatha National Forest consists of a wide variety of work projects all necessary to the successful and intelligent administration of our forest resources. Forest inventory, timber stand improvement, truck trail and truck trail firebreak construction, fire hazard reduction, forest survey, construction of telephone lines, lake inventory, recreational plans, and the study of deer yards and grouse are the activities being carried on at this time. A brief discussion of each of these will show their significance more fully.

Forest Inventory Taken

Forest inventory work consists, as the name implies, of the taking of inventory of the forest. The whole present and future work area is gone over thoroughly and a tabulated and map record made of the type of cover, the nature of the soil, and the amount of slash present, with recommendations for the various kinds of work should be done. One to two technical foresters from each CCC camp are busy on this work at present, and it is expected that in the near future records for the whole forest will be completed. When finished, these records will be of inestimable value to the rangers and supervisors in the planning of work programs. In conjunction with the inventory records, an atlas is kept in every camp which shows the accomplished work, its cost, and time of completion. Thus at any time the complete status of the forest can be obtained from the records.

The next most important activity carried on at present its timber stand improvement. Experience and study have proven that the rate of growth of a stand can be tremendously increased by doing cultural work. Thinning, liberation, and snag removal are the operations usually carried on in this kind of work. When saplings of one kind are grouped together too closely, the poorer trees are cut out. This thinning gives the healthy straight trees a much better chance of growing. Then again old trees are found in young stands which, because of their spreading crowns, take up too much sunlight. These are called 'wolf trees' and are felled to liberate the saplings whose growth had been stunted by lack of sunlight. The cutting out of snags removes a great fire hazard. All the salvageable wood from this operation is utilized for camp fuel. The resultant slash and non-salvageable wood is burned progressively. Past studies show that cultural work is a wise and profitable investment.

Truck Trails Work

Another major winter activity is the construction of truck trails and truck trail firebacks. A truck trail is a forest road built for transporting men to fires, the administrative use by the Forest Service, and public travel. Truck trail firebreaks are also forest roads, but of a much lower standard. These are built primarily for the purpose of making protected areas accessible to fire fighters. The location and staking out of these roads by surveyors, clearing of the right-of-ways, bridge construction, and surfacing the sand road with gravel are the operations which are successfully performed on these projects during the winter months. The blasting of stumps and grading are summer activities. It is the objective of the Forest Service that the truck trail and truck trail firebreak system be developed to a degree of intensity required to insure that the walking distance from the nearest point on any road to the most remote point in any protected area well in coniferous areas be approximately one mile, and in hardwood types approximately one and one half miles. Fire has been the most deadly enemy of the forests in the past, and if our forests are to be built up again, protective systems must be developed sufficiently to cope successfully with this foe.

Fire Hazard Removal

The removal of existing fire hazards is another means of combating fire. Many of the protected areas are littered with slash and debris which is highly inflamable. This slash is piled in the summer, and then burned when burning is made safe by the presence of snow on the ground. The removal of this debris cuts down considerably the possibility of a fire starting, and greatly facilitates getting an already started fire under control. Winter is the only time during the year when slash can be burned safely.

Each camp also has a crew of three to four men busy running and relocating section lines, and sectioncorners established by the U. S. General Land Office survey in 1850, many of which have been destroyed by fire and logging operations.

Construction of telephone lines is another important activity. Rapid means of communication are necessary in carrying on the Forest Service program. At present all the camps and guard stations on the Hiawatha Forest, and the Ranger's stations at Munising and Manistique are connected by telephone. The last leg of this system was the construction of the line from Cooks to Manistique during December and January which brought the camps into direct communication with the new Ranger's office at Manistique.

Take Data On Lakes

One of the most interesting surveys being carried on now is the inventory of lakes. Every lake on the forest is being mapped as its location, size, depth, type of bottom, and kind and quantity of fish. This time of the year is the most suitable for this work since the survey can be done much more easily and economically when ice is present on the lakes.

Then also, technical specialists are inspecting possible future recreational areas, surveying and mapping these, and drawing up plans for proposed improvements for camp grounds and parks which will be done during the summer and which will make these choice spots available to the public for recreational purposes.

Te perpetuate the wild life for all the sportsmen, studies are being conducted of game, particularly of deer and grouse, which will furnish information necessary for decisions on the future game management policies. These policies plan to correlate the state and federal interests in game and fish so that the interests of the private citizen will be protected.

This gives but a sketchy outline of the work that is being done this winter on the Hiawatha forest. Approximately 1200 CCC enrollees are over 70 trained technical foresters and foremen are engaged in this program at present which is lying the basis of future benefits to the surrounding communities and the American public in general.

FARM STRIKE ENDS

Mass—The strike of farmers supplying milk to the Stella Cheese Co., which has been in progress for 11 days was settled at a meeting held in the town hall here last night. The farmers were invited by the company to have a committee check on testing and other points of friction between the farmers and the cheese company were ironed out. Demands as to price were not met.

Upper Peninsula Liquor Retailers Form Association

Leonard Murray, president of the Delta county retail liquor vendors association, was made a vice president of the Upper Peninsula Retail Liquor Vendors' association at an organization meeting in Crystal Falls.

The following officers were elected:

Biago Ferzacca, Iron Mountain, president; Ed. Nasser, Iron River, first vice president; Robert Byrns, Wakefield, second vice president; L. Murray, Escanaba, third vice president, and Jake Smith, Iron Mountain, secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors includes A. C. Stolberg, L'Anse; Harry Bradley, Crystal Falls; John Ozzello, Wakefield; Louis Peterson, Menominee; and Bernie Vondette, Houghton.

The officers and directors plan to meet in Iron Mountain in a day or two to select an attorney to represent the liquor vendors at Lansing and handle other legal work.

Resolution Adopted

A lengthy resolution dealing with all phases of the liquor selling industry was adopted. Briefly, some of the clauses call for the bonds of liquor vendors to be reduced from $5,000 to $1,000; that sale of beer, wine and liquor for use on and off the premises be permitted for the same license as now paid; that the sale of spirits be permitted before and after the closing of the polls on election days; that the restrictions of one vendor for every 750 population be maintained; that up to date places be conducted by the vendors, and that the vendors should not be burdened with double taxation due to the sales tax on liquor.

The association believes that if the state liquor control commission makes certain concessions, the vendors will be able to conduct their businesses profitably and eventually eliminate the bootlegger.

F. E. King, Former Supt. Of Schools, Dies In California

An item of interest to local people is carried in the latest issue of the Michigan Education Association Journal concerning the death of F. E. King, a former superintendent of schools in Escanaba.

Mr. King, 75, who died at La Centro, Calif., on December 31, was superintendent of schools here for eight years. He came here in September, 1910, succeeding F. D. Davis. After serving here for eight years, Mr. King went to Marshall, Mich., in June, 1918, where he became superintendent of schools there, succeeding R. E. Olds, who took his position here.

Mr. King was head of Marshall schools until 1926, when he retired and shortly moved to California where he died.

TRENARY NEWS

Sing Over Radio

Trenary, Mich.—Two Trenary entertainers made their first appearance over the radio Sunday when they sang over W. E. B. O. over Marquette in an amateur contest held by that station. The two entertainers were Norman Hall and Donald Webber who presented a violin and guitar act. They sang four numbers on the program.

Miss Gerta Hews, who is attending high school in Marquette and who formerly lived in Trenary also sang over this same station a few weeks ago. She played her own accompaniment on the guitar.

Recreation Club Meeting

The Women's Recreation Club held a banner meeting Tuesday evening in the high school gymnasium. It was probably the biggest attendance for an ordinary meeting since the beginning of the club almost three years ago. There were thirty-nine women present, a very few new ones, but most of them regular members. The program was in charge of Mrs. Andrew Rodgers, Mrs. William Wiederhold and Mrs. Peter Hoy and the games were especially enjoyed. The committee appointed for next week consists of Mrs. William Hytinen, Mrs. Clayton Stevens, Miss Violet Brown and Miss Elizabeth Miller.

Personals

Miss Esther Guntley of Lathrop is the guest of her cousin, Miss Olive Thompson.

Norman Hall and Donald Webber were Marquette visitors on Sunday.

Miss Dorothy Robinson visited at the home of her parents in Marquette over the week-end.

Ralph Richmond is still confined to his home with a severe attack of the mumps.

Williard Quarfoote who has been confined to his home with the flu is much improved.

Wakefield Citizen Named Inspector Of Liquor Comish

Andy Lake of Wakefield will assume today his new duties as inspector for the Michigan liquor control commission, succeeding Clifton D. Hill of Alpena, it was announced by James A. Spies, assistant manager.

Mr. Lake has been active in Republican party affairs in Gogebic county. He was a candidate for the office of sheriff last fall.

Other appointments at the Escanaba office of the liquor commission are expected to be made the first of next week.

Michigan Leading In Housing Drive

Delta county and nearly 300 other communities in Michigan will participate in Michigan Better Home Month set for March, which has for its principal objective further return of labor to private industry and consequent elimination of as many men as possible from the relief rolls.

Michigan, from latest reports, is leading the entire nation in organization of local committees for the Better Housing campaign. Raymond M. Foley, state director of the Federal Housing Administration, is hopeful that Michigan will lead the entire nation in total modernization projects and now private construction during 1935.

There is ample evidence that there will be a general revival of the building trades and associated industries, which, prior to the collapse of building seven years ago, numbered one employee in five of those who are now on the public tax. Mr. Foley points out, however, that another important factor is stemming the tide of property depreciation and a return to the thought that a house should also be a home.

Indications are that the various communities will make such favorable report on property improvement and new private construction that the total will represent a tremendous sum. The goal is for more enhancement of homes either planned or in actual process of achievement during March than in the entire preceding year.

Helen Rose Chosen As School Declaimer

Helen Joy Rose was chosen winner of the declamatory contest held at the Escanaba senior high school yesterday afternoon at a general assembly. Edith Stein was runner-up.

The two contestants were so closely matched that three faculty judges refused to name either and the matter was left to a vote of the students, who selected Miss Rose.

The faculty judges were: Miss Roma B. Irons, declamatory coach; Miss Helen Snyder, debate coach, and Joseph Shipman, oratory coach.

MURPHY AT CAPITAL

GOVERNOR General Frank Murphy of the Philippines is in Washington this week to confer with President Roosevelt. It is reported that the matter of Japanese trade competition on the islands will be discussed, but it is altogether likely that the administration's political problems in Michigan also will come up for consideration.

The former Detroit mayor has remained continuously in the Michigan political picture. Last summer, it was often rumored that he would return from the Philippines to run for either the governorship or the U. S. senatorship. Doubt was expressed, however, that he would willingly give up the Manila sinecure, which pays about $17,500 annually along with two "castles" and much pomp and glory, and it developed that he did not enter the Michigan campaign.

The 1936 political campaign is not so far away and the Democratic party will soon be laying plans for recapturing this battleground. The relegation of Gov. William A. Comstock to oblivion as a result of the efforts of the dominant Lacy faction, followed by the victory of the Republicans, has left the Democratic party in Michigan somewhat disorganized. State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry has been mentioned as the logical candidate for the governorship since the death of Auditor General John K. Stack Jr., but there persists a feeling among many Democrats that he would not be heavy enough for the task of being the party's standard bearer.

While Governor-General Murphy has apparently enjoyed his work in the Philippines, he has not been forgetting the fact that he will someday be returning to Michigan. Newspaper editors of the state have been receiving from Manila a generous supply of publicity material concerning Murphy's accomplishments on the islands. It indicates a studied plan for gradually building him up for future Michigan political battles.

WANT TO WORK

ABOUT two hundred jobless persons are busily engaged in Gladstone's unique "coal mining" project. In all kinds of weather, these men go to the site of the old Pittsburgh Coal company dock and with various ingeniously devised dragging outfits scoop up coal that has accumulated at the bottom of the bay during the past half century.

These modern miners go to their daily tasks of their own volition. They work hard to recover coal for use in heating their homes. The more fortunate are able to secure a surplus supply, which they sell for a little cash income. At the best, however, they average hardly more than a dollar per day each for their strenuous labor.

Persons who lack a sympathetic understanding of the problems of the persons who have lost the means of gainful employment through no fault of their own may get a different slant on the situation by watching that industrious group of men at Gladstone. Ample proof may be found there that the majority of the American people still want to make their own way in this world.

FORT WILKINS

KEWEENAW county is laying plans for a vast development program that would extend over a period of years, culminating with a celebration of the establishment of historic Fort Wilkins at the tip of the peninsula.

Sponsors of the plans have tentatively set 1940 as the date for the celebration, claiming that this would mark the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the military outpost. Some historians are likely to dispute the fixing of this date, however.

According to B. Frank Emery, director of the Historic Memorial association, Fort Wilkins was established in 1844 to protect the pioneer miners who worked in the copper mines of that region. When the threat of Indian attacks disappeared, the fort was abandoned by the army, and the buildings were allowed to crumble. In 1921, the war department disposed of the property to Keweenaw county, which later deeded it over to the state for park purposes.

Under the state administration, the old fort buildings were reconstructed, and now the historic site along the shores of Lake Fanny Hoe attracts hundreds of sightseers each summer.

Keweenaw county is determined to capitalize its historic and scenic advantages to the fullest extent. With the decline of copper mining, the tourist business will become increasingly important to the inhabitants of that county. The Fort Wilkins Centennial idea should serve as an inspiration in the efforts that are being made to develop the Keweenaw peninsula as a resort center.

SOCIAL SECURITY

OLD-AGE pension plans and plans for unemployment insurance as well are more and more examined for practical details. The practical now has supplanted the point of desirability. Other governmental ideas also have served for discussion.

The Owosso Argus-Press deals with social insurance in part as follows:

"Before we get through with the vexing issue of unemployment and social security insurance, we are likely to find that our education on the subject of money and the way it works has been considerably extended. If the insurance and security measures pending in congress should be adopted in their present form, they would eventually roll up an enormous federal fund which would have some of the characteristics of a bit of radium. That is, it would be continuously active, and unless insulated pretty carefully it might have effects not counted on by its possessors."

The Muskegon Chronicle looks at the security plans now forming and adds:

"Retirement pension and unemployment insurance plans developed in cooperation between employers and employes, administered by them jointly, would have been the possible expression of the American spirit. It would have been free from the baneful intervention of politics that, as certainly as darkness follows dawn, will pollute this political program before it hardly has begun to function. But the pitiful progress that has been made by industry, the big proportion of its workers still left to the unmitigated rigors of unprotected ol dage and unemployment conditions, is the answer. It is the reason that politics is now going to get its grip on the social security program."

* * *

The Pontiac Press offers information rather than opinion concerning social insurance. It enumerates:

"At the present time 28 states of the Union have some forms of old-age pension law. An advanced and restricted eligibility age and rather meager income are characteristics of most of them. These will have to be liberalized if the states expect to collaborate with the national plan of old-age pensions. With many state treasuries now far in the red, this presents a perplexing problem. How would Michigan, for instance, go about it to raise an additional $20,000,000 yearly, which is the sum it would need to mtach the national security plan proposals?"

* * *

The Jackson Citizen-Patriot realizes that the day of the "baby bond" is close at hand. It points out:

"The issuance of long-term obligations by the treasury at a fixed discount in lieu of interest represents a new departure in federal financing. But then, we are becoming used to new departures in governmental policies. There is no indication as to what the response to this offering of federal securities will be. With full confidence restored in the banks, it does not seem likely that there will be heavy withdrawals of bank deposits to buy 'baby bonds.' But these securities backed by the faith and credit of the national government, should draw out a considerable portion of the money that is still hoarded. If they bring that result, we can only say, 'More power to their sale'."

* * *

The Saginaw News notices the legal questioning of the Tennessee Valley project. Beside the court questioning it suggests that the citizen will question as follows:

"The important argument in his mind will be over the question of whether government generation of electric current is likely in the long run to approach the efficiency of private operation and really lower his rates. He will be interested in whether it can be kept out of politics, whether an apparently lower rate will be a sham, offset by decreased tax receipts or concealed deficiency appropriations from the general tax roll. The basic question is one of public policy. If the public concludes that government operation really is beneficial it probably will not be hard for the lawyers to find some way of justifying it legally.

(By NEA Service) BY LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

CHAPTER XXXVII

Phil went on bitterly. "They let out four of us—Gillaspie and Fritz Moon and Ed Turner and me. Oh, I know why! Some of Thatcher's spies got hold of the fact that we've been holding meetings, trying to get an organization started. That's why they fired us. That's the only reason. Everybody knows Gillaspie was the best man in the spinning room and Ed Turner's worked in the mill for eight years."

Gale said, "But, Phil—"

'Don't think I'm sorry!" he interrupted. His red hair fairly bristled. "Say, I'm glad it happened. I'm glad I'm through slaving for Thatcher and his gang of crooks. Now that they've kicked me out I can say what I really think about them. Skunks! And they don't need to think they can stop us. This thing's going on! We've got a right to organize haven't we? They don't dare deny it. Instead they sneak around and fire the ones they think are the leaders."

"But what about the others?" Gale asked. "Joe Gillaspie and Fritz Moon and Ed Turner. They've all got families. What will they do?"

"They'll get along. And I'll get along, too. I'll get a job somewhere. Oh—I heard something else tonight. Mary Cassidy got an eviction notice."

"Oh, Phil!"

"Ordered her out unless she can pay up her rent—and of course she can't. What else would you expect of those old robbers? It seems Mary's been talking lately. Must have been pretty free in saying what she thought of the way they treated her at the mill. It got back to Thatcher and now she's got to pay or get out tomorrow."

"But how can she pay her rent when she hasn't any work?" Gale asked indignantly. "She's only been earning a few dollars a week since she left the mill and she's got those two children to take care of. Mary's doing the best she can."

Phil shrugged. "What of it?" he said. "You don't suppose that makes any difference to Thatcher do you? Sure, he'll put her out. Mary and her children, and all the rest of us, too, can starve for all he cares."

"Poor Mary!" Gale said. "There must be something we can do. Maybe I'd better go over—"

"There's nothing you can do tonight," Phil told her. "Wait until tomorrow and see what happens."

Wait and see what happens!

* * *

The words came to Gale again, standing before her bedroom window, staring out at the darkness. Wait and see what happens! What would happen to Mary Cassidy and her two children if they were put out of their home? How would they live? And what would happen to Gale's father and her brother and herself, with Phil out of a job? Phil wasn't worried about it; he was too excited, too hot-headed, to think about the future. He was sure he could find work, but how could he when there was no work to be had? And how could Gale's own earnings be stretched farther than they had been in the past?

Figures danced before her dizzily—$5.40 for groceries, $3.60 for coal, the rent due next week the $5 Phil owned her that wouldn't be paid now, $1.50 at the drug store, the gas bill that was overdue—

How could she pay those bills when they totaled more than she earned? Yet if they weren't paid —particularly the rent—would she and her father and Phil find themselves out on the street, turned out of their home as Mary Cassidy was to be turned out?

No, of course that couldn't happen. Not to her—Gale Henderson. She was letting herself get worked up over something imaginary. She'd find a way to meet the bills. And perhaps Phil would find another job in a day or two, perhaps even tomorrow.

Gale turned away but the icy feeling clung about her heart. "Wait and see what happens," she told herself once more. "Wait and see what happens—"

Phil met her as she came from the mill the next afternoon and they went to Mary Cassidy's. It was a gray day. There had been a drizzling rain all morning and, though the rain had ceased, the air was still damp. It was cold now, too, and there was a sharp wind.

Phil said, "Lem Williams told me the sheriff was down there. He said they were putting Mary's stuff out on the sidewalk."

"They're really putting her out? I should think Sheriff Whitman would be ashamed of himself!"

"Whitman takes orders from Thatcher just like everyone else in this town. Don't you know that?"

"But a woman like Mary Cassidy, with two little children—!"

* * *

Gale did not finish the sentence. They turned a corner and half-way down the block, saw Mary's cottage. A dozen people—men, women and children—were moving about and, at the edge of the walk, in a disorderly pile, was a pitiful array of furniture, bedding, dishes, clothes, a bag of coal, and a box containing food. Bed posts were stacked against a table and chairs piled on top. A mattress, doubled over, sprawled on the ground, a tea kettle beside it. Half a dozen potatoes had fallen from a sack and a child was picking them up.

Another youngster, a boy of 8 or 9, came running toward them. "Mis' Cassidy's been 'victed!" he shouted. It was a new game to the child and he was excited.

Gale said, "Oh, it's horrible! Look—there's Mary."

She hurried forward to where Mary Cassidy was sitting in a battered rocking chair. The woman wore a coat, but her head was bare and the wind blew her hair back from her forehead. She looked years older. She sat with shoulders bent, as though trying to protect the wriggling 2-year-old in her arms. The child was fretful, whimpering.

Gale took one look at her and came to a decision. She said, "Mary, you're coming home with us."

WHEN STRANGERS MEET

Once passing strangers waved a hand,
North said hello, and South said howdy,
But now the people of the land
Are more reserved, and yet more rowdy.
Still people go and people come,
And yet less known, and much less knowing.
Now all that's ever waved a thumb
By someone who is somewhere going.

We think that life is better so,
The world is rather new and nifty.
We once had time to say hello—
We can't so well when doing fifty.
We used to pass the time of day
With nearly every other fellow.
Now all we pass the signal ray
Of red, or anyway the yellow.

The only time we ever meet
And ever really, truly mingle
Is at the corner of some street,
While on the pavement windows jingle
Yes, greetings sometimes we exchange,
But not in terms so very tender;
Our words to strangers then are strange,
When someone crumples someone's fender.

The Pontiac Press offers information rather than opinion concerning social insurance. It enumerates:

"At the present time 28 states of the Union have some forms of old-age pension law. An advanced and restricted eligibility age and rather meager income are characteristics of most of them. These will have to be liberalized if the states expect to collaborate with the national plan of old-age pensions. With many state treasuries now far in the red, this presents a perplexing problem. How would Michigan, for instance, go about it to raise an additional $20,000,000 yearly, which is the sum it would need to mtach the national security plan proposals?"

* * *

The Jackson Citizen-Patriot realizes that the day of the "baby bond" is close at hand. It points out:

"The issuance of long-term obligations by the treasury at a fixed discount in lieu of interest represents a new departure in federal financing. But then, we are becoming used to new departures in governmental policies. There is no indication as to what the response to this offering of federal securities will be. With full confidence restored in the banks, it does not seem likely that there will be heavy withdrawals of bank deposits to buy 'baby bonds.' But these securities backed by the faith and credit of the national government, should draw out a considerable portion of the money that is still hoarded. If they bring that result, we can only say, 'More power to their sale'."

* * *

The Saginaw News notices the legal questioning of the Tennessee Valley project. Beside the court questioning it suggests that the citizen will question as follows:

"The important argument in his mind will be over the question of whether government generation of electric current is likely in the long run to approach the efficiency of private operation and really lower his rates. He will be interested in whether it can be kept out of politics, whether an apparently lower rate will be a sham, offset by decreased tax receipts or concealed deficiency appropriations from the general tax roll. The basic question is one of public policy. If the public concludes that government operation really is beneficial it probably will not be hard for the lawyers to find some way of justifying it legally.

- SILKEN SPINDLES -

CHAPTER XXXVII

Phil went on bitterly. "They let out four of us—Gillaspie and Fritz Moon and Ed Turner and me. Oh, I know why! Some of Thatcher's spies got hold of the fact that we've been holding meetings, trying to get an organization started. That's why they fired us. That's the only reason. Everybody knows Gillaspie was the best man in the spinning room and Ed Turner's worked in the mill for eight years."

Gale said, "But, Phil—"

'Don't think I'm sorry!" he interrupted. His red hair fairly bristled. "Say, I'm glad it happened. I'm glad I'm through slaving for Thatcher and his gang of crooks. Now that they've kicked me out I can say what I really think about them. Skunks! And they don't need to think they can stop us. This thing's going on! We've got a right to organize haven't we? They don't dare deny it. Instead they sneak around and fire the ones they think are the leaders."

"But what about the others?" Gale asked. "Joe Gillaspie and Fritz Moon and Ed Turner. They've all got families. What will they do?"

"They'll get along. And I'll get along, too. I'll get a job somewhere. Oh—I heard something else tonight. Mary Cassidy got an eviction notice."

"Oh, Phil!"

"Ordered her out unless she can pay up her rent—and of course she can't. What else would you expect of those old robbers? It seems Mary's been talking lately. Must have been pretty free in saying what she thought of the way they treated her at the mill. It got back to Thatcher and now she's got to pay or get out tomorrow."

"But how can she pay her rent when she hasn't any work?" Gale asked indignantly. "She's only been earning a few dollars a week since she left the mill and she's got those two children to take care of. Mary's doing the best she can."

Phil shrugged. "What of it?" he said. "You don't suppose that makes any difference to Thatcher do you? Sure, he'll put her out. Mary and her children, and all the rest of us, too, can starve for all he cares."

"Poor Mary!" Gale said. "There must be something we can do. Maybe I'd better go over—"

"There's nothing you can do tonight," Phil told her. "Wait until tomorrow and see what happens."

Wait and see what happens!

* * *

The words came to Gale again, standing before her bedroom window, staring out at the darkness. Wait and see what happens! What would happen to Mary Cassidy and her two children if they were put out of their home? How would they live? And what would happen to Gale's father and her brother and herself, with Phil out of a job? Phil wasn't worried about it; he was too excited, too hot-headed, to think about the future. He was sure he could find work, but how could he when there was no work to be had? And how could Gale's own earnings be stretched farther than they had been in the past?

Figures danced before her dizzily—$5.40 for groceries, $3.60 for coal, the rent due next week the $5 Phil owned her that wouldn't be paid now, $1.50 at the drug store, the gas bill that was overdue—

How could she pay those bills when they totaled more than she earned? Yet if they weren't paid —particularly the rent—would she and her father and Phil find themselves out on the street, turned out of their home as Mary Cassidy was to be turned out?

No, of course that couldn't happen. Not to her—Gale Henderson. She was letting herself get worked up over something imaginary. She'd find a way to meet the bills. And perhaps Phil would find another job in a day or two, perhaps even tomorrow.

Gale turned away but the icy feeling clung about her heart. "Wait and see what happens," she told herself once more. "Wait and see what happens—"

Phil met her as she came from the mill the next afternoon and they went to Mary Cassidy's. It was a gray day. There had been a drizzling rain all morning and, though the rain had ceased, the air was still damp. It was cold now, too, and there was a sharp wind.

Phil said, "Lem Williams told me the sheriff was down there. He said they were putting Mary's stuff out on the sidewalk."

"They're really putting her out? I should think Sheriff Whitman would be ashamed of himself!"

"Whitman takes orders from Thatcher just like everyone else in this town. Don't you know that?"

"But a woman like Mary Cassidy, with two little children—!"

* * *

Gale did not finish the sentence. They turned a corner and half-way down the block, saw Mary's cottage. A dozen people—men, women and children—were moving about and, at the edge of the walk, in a disorderly pile, was a pitiful array of furniture, bedding, dishes, clothes, a bag of coal, and a box containing food. Bed posts were stacked against a table and chairs piled on top. A mattress, doubled over, sprawled on the ground, a tea kettle beside it. Half a dozen potatoes had fallen from a sack and a child was picking them up.

Another youngster, a boy of 8 or 9, came running toward them. "Mis' Cassidy's been 'victed!" he shouted. It was a new game to the child and he was excited.

Gale said, "Oh, it's horrible! Look—there's Mary."

She hurried forward to where Mary Cassidy was sitting in a battered rocking chair. The woman wore a coat, but her head was bare and the wind blew her hair back from her forehead. She looked years older. She sat with shoulders bent, as though trying to protect the wriggling 2-year-old in her arms. The child was fretful, whimpering.

Gale took one look at her and came to a decision. She said, "Mary, you're coming home with us."

WHEN STRANGERS MEET

Once passing strangers waved a hand,
North said hello, and South said howdy,
But now the people of the land
Are more reserved, and yet more rowdy.
Still people go and people come,
And yet less known, and much less knowing.
Now all that's ever waved a thumb
By someone who is somewhere going.

We think that life is better so,
The world is rather new and nifty.
We once had time to say hello—
We can't so well when doing fifty.
We used to pass the time of day
With nearly every other fellow,
Now all we pass the signal ray
Of red, or anyway the yellow.

The only time we ever meet
And ever really, truly mingle
Is at the corner of some street,
While on the pavement windows jingle.
Yes, greetings sometimes we exchange,
But not in terms so very tender;
Our words to strangers then are strange,
When someone crumples someone's fender.

SALES TAX IS PAID ON TIME

Mogan Contrasts Record With That of Property Levy

Lansing, Mich.—Michigan's 3 percent sales tax is almost 100 percent collectable but the last full state general property tax levy is still about 40 percent delinquent, James E. Mogan, sales tax director, said today.

Describing the sharp difference in collectability between the two taxes, Mogan said that:

1—Only $1,100,000 in sales tax assessments, out of $55,000,000, is uncollected. The unpaid amount includes about $800,000 involved in litigation now pending in the Michigan supreme court, leaving $300,000, or less than one-half of 1 percent, actually unpaid.

2--In contrast, 40 percent of the state's last full general property tax levy of 1932, which amounted to $23,487,000, was delinquent when the fiscal year opened; 32 percent of the 1931 levy was unpaid and 24 percent of the 1930 levy was delinquent.

"Under the old property tax the taxpayers once a year owed the state a considerable sum," Mogan commented. "Under the sales tax, which touches everybody in small amounts, the tax is paid as purchases are made.

Difference Is Cited

"The sales tax is much easier to collect. The purchaser pays as he buys and the merchant pays the tax over to the state each month instead of each year. You might say the sales tax is paid up each night, nnd paid up to date."

Mogan said the $300,000 sales tax delinquency is about a normal figure, since a certain small percentage is always unpaid at a given moment.

He conceded that sometimes certain merchants fall behind in their payments, but said this situation does not last long and is almost negligible in comparison to the total volume of payments. The sales tax act prohibits him from making public names and tax figures in such cases, he said.

"Sometimes we allow a merchant to pay his current tax while making installment payments on the delinquent amount," he said. "We are here to collect the tax for the state, not to drive a man out of business, throw persons out of work or stop the rental of a building.

Have One Weapon

"There would be no sales tax delinquency if the legislature gave us the power to proceed against a man's other property to collect the tax. As the law stands now, if we obtain a tax warrant, we may proceed against only those things which a man uses in the conduct of his business."

The bulk of the unpaid $1,100,000 is involved in the Boyer-Campbell Co. suit to exempt so-called "production items" from taxation, Mogan said. This disputed assessment will be paid if the supreme court rules with the state or wiped from the books if the decision is the other way, he said.

"By the 1933 Federal Census of retail sales, 57,121 retailers in Michigan that year did a gross business of $949,000,000," he said. "This gross figure included an unknown amount of sales to governmental units, which are exempt from the sales tax.

"Last year the tax was assessed on taxable sales amounting to $1,221,000,000—a total 129 per cent of that 1933 figure in spite of the fact that sales to governmental units were excluded. Business organizations estimated that 1934 retail sales were only about 20 per cent above these for the preceding year.

"This comparison indicates that we are doing a pretty fair job in collecting the tax from those who should pay it. We find tax-evaders from time to time, of course, but so does the Federal Government after years of internal revenue taxation."

Mogan said approximately 85,000 retailers in Michigan are paying the sales tax. He pointed out that this figure may not be compared easily with the Federal one of 57,121 retailers two years ago, since the State licenses many types of merchants ignored in the Federal survey.

Delta, Chippewa Share Alike In Highway Funds

State highway funds totaling $133,495.35 were received by Delta county in 1934, according to the report of commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner. Delta county's share was about the same as that alloted to Chippewa county, while Houghton and Marquette counties both received more.

Apportionments made during the year to all Upper Peninsula counties were a sfollows:

Alger—$42,305.02 weight tax; $7,570.80, gas tax; $21,391.80, McNitt funds; $71,267.43, total.

Baraga — $85,250.27, weight tax; $6,308.15, gas tax; $15,378.52, McNitt fund; $56,937.04, total.

Death Summons Aged Mother Of Mrs. Ella Labre

Mrs. John W. Gallagher, 84, of Green Bay, mother of Mrs. Ella Labre of this city, passed away Wednesday in a Green Bay hospital where she had been taken on last Friday. She had been ill for some time suffering from infirmities caused by her advanced age.

Mrs. Gallagher's home was in Marinette but she had been making her home with a daughter, Mrs. E. J. Fitzgerald, of 906 Shawano avenue, Green Bay, for the past five years.

Surviving are Mrs. Labre and Mrs. Fitzgerald, and another daughter, Mrs. Agnes Parker of Denver, Colo.; and two sons, George Gallagher, Green Bay, and Ben Gallagher, Los Angeles.

Funeral services are to be held this morning in the Church of the Annunication and burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery, Marinette.

New York leads American cities for motor vehicle registrations, followed by Los Angeles, Chicago and Detroit.

St. Francis Hospital

The condition of Hector McAuley, of Gladstone, seriously ill with pneumonia, is unchanged.

Mrs. Michael Bink, 329 South Eleventh street, had an operation for removal of tonsils.

Jerome Waeghe of Gladstone submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis.

Victor Pepin, 1816 Eighth avenue north, submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis.

Zephyr St. Aubin of Flat Rock was admitted for observation.

Ed LaFave of Portage Creek had an operation for removal of tonsils.

Carol Sharkey of Lathrop had an operation for removal of tonsils.

Mrs. Walter Brunette of Gladstone is a medical patient.

Randolph Schramm of Rapid River submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis.

Mrs. John Novack, Jr., 212 First avenue south, was admitted.

William Sova of Harris is a medical patient.

Over Five Million Asked For Upper Peninsula Roads

Submitted to the state planning commission, the Michigan state highway department budget of submitted by 77 out of 83 road commissions, places highway needs in the state at more than $300,000,000. Included in this grand total are grade crossing separations outside of the larger municipalities in Michigan.

The State Highway Commission's program calls for 414 projects (4,877 miles of construction) in the lower peninsula, at a cost of $164,328,000. In the Upper Peninsula 117 projects (1,568 miles of construction) are regarded as essential. The cost of that work would run to $40,907,000. Bridge projects are divided as follows:

Lower Peninsula, 226 projects costing $12,760,000; Upper Peninsula, 96 pdojects, costing $5,052,000.

Grade separation projects for the lower peninsula number 141 and would cost $19,837,000, while 18 in the Upper Peninsula would total $1,360,000.

Inventories from the counties show that the road commissioners of Wayne want practically one-third of the total asked for by the 77 counties reporting to the Planning Commission. Wayne's needs are placed at $19,204,500. Other counties asking for more than a million dolars apiece are St. Clair, Gogebic, Iron, Oakland, Ontonagon, Menominee, Ingham, Genesse, Livingston, Kent and Kalamazoo. Mordoe, asking for only $34,000, makes the smallest request.

Clean Out Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

If kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.

This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Most people watch their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 pints a day.

Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Death Summons Aged Mother Of Mrs. Ella Labre

Mrs. John W. Gallagher, 84, of Green Bay, mother of Mrs. Ella Labre of this city, passed away Wednesday in a Green Bay hospital where she had been taken on last Friday. She had been ill for some time suffering from infirmities caused by her advanced age.

Mrs. Gallagher's home was in Marinette but she had been making her home with a daughter, Mrs. E. J. Fitzgerald, of 906 Shawano avenue, Green Bay, for the past five years.

Surviving are Mrs. Labre and Mrs. Fitzgerald, and another daughter, Mrs. Agnes Parker of Denver, Colo.; and two sons, George Gallagher, Green Bay, and Ben Gallagher, Los Angeles.

Funeral services are to be held this morning in the Church of the Annunication and burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery, Marinette.

New York leads American cities for motor vehicle registrations, followed by Los Angeles, Chicago and Detroit.

St. Francis Hospital

The condition of Hector McAuley, of Gladstone, seriously ill with pneumonia, is unchanged.

Mrs. Michael Bink, 329 South Eleventh street, had an operation for removal of tonsils.

Jerome Waeghe of Gladstone submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis.

Victor Pepin, 1816 Eighth avenue north, submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis.

Zephyr St. Aubin of Flat Rock was admitted for observation.

Ed LaFave of Portage Creek had an operation for removal of tonsils.

Carol Sharkey of Lathrop had an operation for removal of tonsils.

Mrs. Walter Brunette of Gladstone is a medical patient.

Randolph Schramm of Rapid River submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis.

Mrs. John Novack, Jr., 212 First avenue south, was admitted.

William Sova of Harris is a medical patient.

Over Five Million Asked For Upper Peninsula Roads

Submitted to the state planning commission, the Michigan state highway department budget of submitted by 77 out of 83 road commissions, places highway needs in the state at more than $300,000,000. Included in this grand total are grade crossing separations outside of the larger municipalities in Michigan.

The State Highway Commission's program calls for 414 projects (4,877 miles of construction) in the lower peninsula, at a cost of $164,328,000. In the Upper Peninsula 117 projects (1,568 miles of construction) are regarded as essential. The cost of that work would run to $40,907,000. Bridge projects are divided as follows:

Lower Peninsula, 226 projects costing $12,760,000; Upper Peninsula, 96 pdojects, costing $5,052,000.

Grade separation projects for the lower peninsula number 141 and would cost $19,837,000, while 18 in the Upper Peninsula would total $1,360,000.

Inventories from the counties show that the road commissioners of Wayne want practically one-third of the total asked for by the 77 counties reporting to the Planning Commission. Wayne's needs are placed at $19,204,500. Other counties asking for more than a million dolars apiece are St. Clair, Gogebic, Iron, Oakland, Ontonagon, Menominee, Ingham, Genesse, Livingston, Kent and Kalamazoo. Mordoe, asking for only $34,000, makes the smallest request.

Clean Out Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

If kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.

This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Most people watch their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 pints a day.

Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Health-Giving Vegetables In Savory Dishes

If only I could get you to realize that you don't have to cook your vegetables the same way day after day, your husbands would give me a medal. You don't—and to show you that you don't, I am giving you some new vegetable dishes that I believe you'll like.

I have also calculated the caloric value of each recipe, just in case you're on a diet or concerned for fear the family isn't getting its daily supply.

Stuffed Onions

Four large mild onions, 1 cup finely chopped meat, 2 tablespoons minced mushrooms (optional), 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon butter, 3-4 cup coarse stale bread crumbs.

Spanish onions are preferred but any large onion can be used. Peel and cook in boiling water until tender, letting the water cook away. It will take about an hour. Drain and take out the center of onions without disturbing the outside layers. Mix meat, mushrooms, salt and pepper. Add egg without beating and mix very thoroughly. Fill onions with mixture. Melt butter and add bread crumbs. Mix well and cover the fillings in the onions. Bake in a moderate oven for twenty minutes or until the crumbs are brown.

Save the centers of the onions to use in a cream sauce the following day.

Mashed Parsnip Ring

Eight or ten parsnips of fair size, 4 tablespoons bacon drippings, 1-2 teaspoon paprika, 1-8 teaspoon white pepper, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons vinegar, ½ cup cracker crumbs, 1 cup flaked fish, 3 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 cups milk, parsley.

Scrub and scrape parsnips. Cut in halves and cook in boiling salted water until tender. It will take about thirty minutes, depending on freshness and size. Put through a ricer and add bacon drippings, paprika, pepper and cracker crumbs. Beat egg with vinegar and add to parsnip mixture. Cook over the fire, stirring constantly until egg is set. Arrange on a hot platter in the form of a mound and with a spoon press a hollow in the center, widening it into a ring. Fill with fish in cream sauce and garnish with parsley.

To make the sauce, melt butter, stir in flour and when bubbling slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point, season with salt and pepper, and add fish.

Cheese and Potato Souffle

Two cups mashed potatoes, 1 cup grated cheese, 4 eggs, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 tablespoon tomato catsup, ½ teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 cup rich milk.

Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored and add with cheese and seasonings to mashed potato. Beat in enough milk to make the consistency of drop batter. Less than ½ cup may be enough. Fold in the whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Turn into a well buttered baking dish and place in a pan of hot water. Bake thirty to forty minutes in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) When well puffed and firm to the touch, remove from oven and serve at once. Freshly mashed, hot potatoes can be used or leftover potatoes can be put through a ricer and reheated.

Munising Paper Co. Business Prospers

Munising, Feb. 28—Judging from reports of one of the city's leading industries, the Munising Paper company, Munising is back on the road to prosperity.

Not only is the company operating on full time but it is now behind with its orders. The present number of employees at the mill is 416. This is an increase of 33 over that of last year at this time.

It is encouraging to note that the company is again foraging to the front. During the depression the Mnuising Paper company was one of the few industries which, although making little or no profit, continued to operate on the regular schedule without discharging any great number of employees. Although there were times when it was necessary to shorten hours, many of the employees who would have otherwise have been discharged have been retained and it is encouraging to note that many of the old hands are now going back to their jobs.

On being questioned as to the business outlook for the industry in the future, N. J. Niks, temporary manager, stated that conditions looked very bright for the paper industry.

No permanent manager for the mill has been named. B. M. Trellich, of Chicago, executive vice president of the Munising Paper company, will make monthly calls here. In his absence Mr. Niks will manage the mill.

INQUEST POSTPONED

The inquest into the death of James Warner, coasting victim, who was fatally injured when struck by a truck driven by Henry St. Martin on the Lennox hill last Friday noon, has been postponed until Saturday at 2 p. m. The inquest will be held in the office of Justice Thomas J. Walters. The inquest was postponed until this date to enable the father to attend.

Camp Filbert Roth Will Not Be Moved

Rumors to the effect that Camp Filbert Roth, summer headquarters for the University of Michigan school of forestry and conservation, will be moved to Sugar Island in St. Mary's river this year were proved false by a letter received here from Robert Craig, Jr., director of the camp.

Mr. Craig states that no plans had been made for the moving of the camp to the island. "Unless some suitable area is found which we can finance, we will be back on the site we have occupied for the last six years," he said.

The camp has been located near the eight mile turn, south of Munising, since 1930.

The land which was provided for the school by the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company is largely cutover and burned.

Efforts are being made to find a more suitable site for the location of the camp. Officials say that the most suitable spot for the camp is Beaver Lake, between Munising and Grand Marais.

Munising Cagers Will Play At Soo

The Munising cagers, under the direction of Coach Emil Peterson, will travel to the Soo today to play the last regular game of the season before the tournament.

Last Friday, Munising was defeated by the Negaunee quintet and on Wednesday of the same week were defeated by Graveret, both by close margins. The Matherites went into a slump, having won four straight when they were defeated by Marquette and Negaunee. To date they have won seven out of all games played.

The Lock City team has been going strong this season and it is expected to be a battle.

The starting lineup will include G. Anderson at center, H. Anderson and Seglund at forward and Maki and Gamelin at guard. The other players who will make the trip will be Negilski, Artibee, Jurinen and C. Schroeder.

MUNISING BRIEFS

Mrs. Michael Kennedy of Port Austin is on an extended vacation here because of illness with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brebner.

Raymond Dakin, who has been ill for the last week, is reported improving.

Arthur Schafer, forest ranger for the Hiawatha National Forest, will return today from a two-day business trip to Escanaba.

E. R. Lang of the Sault is a business visitor in Munising.

Herbert S. Case is transacting business in Lansing this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Albin Strom have arrived here from Moran. Mr. Strom has been transferred from the Moran CCC camp to the Steuben camp.

South Is Market For Peninsula's Surplus Potatoes

B. A. Heath of Marquette, agricultural agent of the South Shore railway, is making an extensive trip of several weeks duration through the southeastern and southern states in the interest of the Upper Peninsula potato growers.

"It is only when one gets right on the ground that he can comprehend the enormous sections I have visited," said Mr. Heath. "There is unlimited room for the marketing of our Upper Peninsula potatoes and other agricultural products, both as seed and table stock, in various southeastern and southern states.

"Considerable business will undoubtedly develop as a result of contracts made on this initial trip," continued Mr. Heath. "Brokers and dealers were greatly interested in the samples shown them. The middle south is largely fed in the fall and early winter by locally grown potatoes, but these seldom have the requisite keeping qualities that will permit safe storage throughout the winter. I have seen potatoes in nearly every market from New York, lower Michigan and Wisconsin and, in the eastern sections, from Maine.

Better Prospects

"While the potato market this year is not in good shape, due to heavy surpluses of eastern crops, it is quite likely that in the coming season our Upper Peninsula potatoes will find ample outlets, not only in the big middle western cities, but throughout the central south. This should be especially true in late winter and early spring, when the superior keeping qualities of northern Michigan stock will make the latter much more desirable than other potatoes.

Warehouses Valuable

This is where out many new storage warehouses will come into play. They will enable us to market table stock in the spring which has been properly stored, and once they have demonstrated what they can do for a farmer, it will be found highly desirable to increase their number at well located shipping points where the number of growers are increasing...

Terrific Rain And Hail Strike Hawaii

Honolulu, Feb. 28 (AP)—A night of terrific rain, accompanied by hail, a rare phenomenon in this tropical setting left eight persons dead, six reported missing and a variety of damage on Oahu island today.

About six inches of rain fell in downtown Honolulu during the late afternoon yesterday and last night. Dowsett Highlands, a residential section overlooking the city, had 14 inches.

Discovery of the bodies of two infants, David Sabanal, aged three, and Tina Sabanal, aged three months, tonight raised the toll of known dead. Both drowned.

Theodoro Jacinto, 28, a Filipino and his sons, Johnny, 4, and Victorio, 11, died of burns and suffocation when their house burned as an indirect result of storm. An unidentified body was found caught against a bridge on the outskirts of the city.

Mrs. Nobu Yoshikawa, 45, was asphyxiated when a gas main burst. Mrs. Goshi Takahaski drowned at Pearl City, near here.

No estimate of the total damage was available, but Mayor Fred Wright said the damage to city and county property was about $150,000.

BENEDICT PUDDING

¼ cup dry bread crumbs
1 cup dates
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 tablespoon melted butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup nut meats

Mix the bread (or cracker) crumbs, sliced dates, sugar, chopped nuts, salt and baking powder together. Add the melted butter, vanilla and milk. Pour into a buttered baking dish. Place in a pan of hot water and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.). Serve with whipped cream. Six to eight servings.

Helsingfors, Finland, has a new idea for tailors. Each customer is photographed and a life-size picture is projected on a cross-ruled screen to enable each tailor to see his subject while making the clothes.

Stuffed Onions

Four large mild onions, 1 cup finely chopped meat, 2 tablespoons minced mushrooms (optional), 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon butter, 3-4 cup coarse stale bread crumbs.

Spanish onions are preferred but any large onion can be used. Peel and cook in boiling water until tender, letting the water cook away. It will take about an hour. Drain and take out the center of onions without disturbing the outside layers. Mix meat, mushrooms, salt and pepper. Add egg without beating and mix very thoroughly. Fill onions with mixture. Melt butter and add bread crumbs. Mix well and cover the fillings in the onions. Bake in a moderate oven for twenty minutes or until the crumbs are brown.

Save the centers of the onions to use in a cream sauce the following day.

Mashed Parsnip Ring

Eight or ten parsnips of fair size, 4 tablespoons bacon drippings, 1-2 teaspoon paprika, 1-8 teaspoon white pepper, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons vinegar, ½ cup cracker crumbs, 1 cup flaked fish, 3 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 cups milk, parsley.

Scrub and scrape parsnips. Cut in halves and cook in boiling salted water until tender. It will take about thirty minutes, depending on freshness and size. Put through a ricer and add bacon drippings, paprika, pepper and cracker crumbs. Beat egg with vinegar and add to parsnip mixture. Cook over the fire, stirring constantly until egg is set. Arrange on a hot platter in the form of a mound and with a spoon press a hollow in the center, widening it into a ring. Fill with fish in cream sauce and garnish with parsley.

To make the sauce, melt butter, stir in flour and when bubbling slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point, season with salt and pepper, and add fish.

Cheese and Potato Souffle

Two cups mashed potatoes, 1 cup grated cheese, 4 eggs, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 tablespoon tomato catsup, ½ teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 cup rich milk.

Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored and add with cheese and seasonings to mashed potato. Beat in enough milk to make the consistency of drop batter. Less than ½ cup may be enough. Fold in the whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Turn into a well buttered baking dish and place in a pan of hot water. Bake thirty to forty minutes in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) When well puffed and firm to the touch, remove from oven and serve at once. Freshly mashed, hot potatoes can be used or leftover potatoes can be put through a ricer and reheated.

Munising Paper Co. Business Prospers

Munising, Feb. 28—Judging from reports of one of the city's leading industries, the Munising Paper company, Munising is back on the road to prosperity.

Not only is the company operating on full time but it is now behind with its orders. The present number of employees at the mill is 416. This is an increase of 33 over that of last year at this time.

It is encouraging to note that the company is again foraging to the front. During the depression the Mnuising Paper company was one of the few industries which, although making little or no profit, continued to operate on the regular schedule without discharging any great number of employees. Although there were times when it was necessary to shorten hours, many of the employees who would have otherwise have been discharged have been retained and it is encouraging to note that many of the old hands are now going back to their jobs.

On being questioned as to the business outlook for the industry in the future, N. J. Niks, temporary manager, stated that conditions looked very bright for the paper industry.

No permanent manager for the mill has been named. B. M. Trellich, of Chicago, executive vice president of the Munising Paper company, will make monthly calls here. In his absence Mr. Niks will manage the mill.

INQUEST POSTPONED

The inquest into the death of James Warner, coasting victim, who was fatally injured when struck by a truck driven by Henry St. Martin on the Lennox hill last Friday noon, has been postponed until Saturday at 2 p. m. The inquest will be held in the office of Justice Thomas J. Walters. The inquest was postponed until this date to enable the father to attend.

Camp Filbert Roth Will Not Be Moved

Rumors to the effect that Camp Filbert Roth, summer headquarters for the University of Michigan school of forestry and conservation, will be moved to Sugar Island in St. Mary's river this year were proved false by a letter received here from Robert Craig, Jr., director of the camp.

Mr. Craig states that no plans had been made for the moving of the camp to the island. "Unless some suitable area is found which we can finance, we will be back on the site we have occupied for the last six years," he said.

The camp has been located near the eight mile turn, south of Munising, since 1930.

The land which was provided for the school by the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company is largely cutover and burned.

Efforts are being made to find a more suitable site for the location of the camp. Officials say that the most suitable spot for the camp is Beaver Lake, between Munising and Grand Marais.

Munising Cagers Will Play At Soo

The Munising cagers, under the direction of Coach Emil Peterson, will travel to the Soo today to play the last regular game of the season before the tournament.

Last Friday, Munising was defeated by the Negaunee quintet and on Wednesday of the same week were defeated by Graveret, both by close margins. The Matherites went into a slump, having won four straight when they were defeated by Marquette and Negaunee. To date they have won seven out of all games played.

The Lock City team has been going strong this season and it is expected to be a battle.

The starting lineup will include G. Anderson at center, H. Anderson and Seglund at forward and Maki and Gamelin at guard. The other players who will make the trip will be Negilski, Artibee, Jurinen and C. Schroeder.

MUNISING BRIEFS

Mrs. Michael Kennedy of Port Austin is on an extended vacation here because of illness with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brebner.

Raymond Dakin, who has been ill for the last week, is reported improving.

Arthur Schafer, forest ranger for the Hiawatha National Forest, will return today from a two-day business trip to Escanaba.

E. R. Lang of the Sault is a business visitor in Munising.

Herbert S. Case is transacting business in Lansing this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Albin Strom have arrived here from Moran. Mr. Strom has been transferred from the Moran CCC camp to the Steuben camp.

South Is Market For Peninsula's Surplus Potatoes

B. A. Heath of Marquette, agricultural agent of the South Shore railway, is making an extensive trip of several weeks duration through the southeastern and southern states in the interest of the Upper Peninsula potato growers.

"It is only when one gets right on the ground that he can comprehend the enormous sections I have visited," said Mr. Heath. "There is unlimited room for the marketing of our Upper Peninsula potatoes and other agricultural products, both as seed and table stock, in various southeastern and southern states.

"Considerable business will indoubtedly develop as a result of contracts made on this initial trip," continued Mr. Heath. "Brokers and dealers were greatly interested in the samples shown them. The middle south is largely fed in the fall and early winter by locally grown potatoes, but these seldom have the requisite keeping qualities that will permit safe storage throughout the winter. I have seen potatoes in nearly every market from New York, lower Michigan and Wisconsin and, in the eastern sections, from Maine.

Better Prospects

"While the potato market this year is not in good shape, due to heavy surpluses of eastern crops, it is quite likely that in the coming season our Upper Peninsula potatoes will find ample outlets, not only in the big middle western cities, but throughout the central south. This should be especially true in late winter and early spring, when the superior keeping qualities of northern Michigan stock will make the latter much more desirable than other potatoes.

Warehouses Valuable

"This is where out many new storage warehouses will come into play. They will enable us to market table stock in the spring which has been properly stored, and once they have demonstrated what they can do for a farmer, it will be found highly desirable to increase their number at well located shipping points where the number of growers are increasing.

Terrific Rain And Hail Strike Hawaii

Honolulu, Feb. 28 (AP)—A night of terrific rain, accompanied by hail, a rare phenomenon in this tropical setting left eight persons dead, six reported missing and a variety of damage on Oahu island today.

About six inches of rain fell in downtown Honolulu during the late afternoon yesterday and last night. Dowsett Highlands, a residential section overlooking the city, had 14 inches.

Discovery of the bodies of two infants, David Sabanal, aged three, and Tina Sabanal, aged three months, tonight raised the toll of known dead. Both drowned.

Theodoro Jacinto, 28, a Filipino and his sons, Johnny, 4, and Victorio, 11, died of burns and suffocation when their house burned as an indirect result of storm. An unidentified body was found caught against a bridge on the outskirts of the city.

Mrs. Nobu Yoshikawa, 45, was asphyxiated when a gas main burst. Mrs. Goshi Takahaski drowned at Pearl City, near here.

No estimate of the total damage was available, but Mayor Fred Wright said the damage to city and county property was about $150,000.

BENEDICT PUDDING

¼ cup dry bread crumbs
1 cup dates
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 tablespoon melted butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup nut meats

Mix the bread (or cracker) crumbs, sliced dates, sugar, chopped nuts, salt and baking powder together. Add the melted butter, vanilla and milk. Pour into a buttered baking dish. Place in a pan of hot water and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.). Serve with whipped cream. Six to eight servings.

Today's Recipe

A recipe for a graham cracker torte, which is easy to make, and which is truly delicious was received Thursday morning from Miss Martha Asp, of 1213 Second avenue south, answering Wednesday's request.

Graham Cracker Torte

One pound graham crackers (rolled)
One pound walnut meats
One pound dates
One pound marshmallows
One pint cream

Roll crackers until very fine. Save one-half cup to sprinkle on top. Walnuts may be used either whole or broken. Cut dates in fourths and roll in cracker crumbs. Cut marshmallows in eights and roll in cracker crumbs sufficiently so they will not stick together. Mix rolled dates and marshmallows and nuts, gradually adding cream until mixture is moist enough to pack, sometimes requiring more or less cream than specified.

Pack solidly into buttered pan, 6x10x2 inches, sprinkle with remaining half cup of cracker crumbs and let stand in a cool place for twelve hours.

Slice and serve with whipped cream.

This torte is very rich and should be served in smaller proportions than an ordinary dessert.

Another recipe for a tasty torte which is a very nourishing dessert was received Thursday through the kindness of Miss Evelyn Collins of 403 South Eighteenth street.

Graham Cracker Torte

Twenty-six graham chackers rolled.

Add one cup sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half cup butter.

Mix as for pie crust and put in bottom of tin, saving one cup for topping.

For filling:
Two packages cottage cheese, put through ricer.
Four eggs.
Beat in one cup sugar.
Rind and juice of one lemon.
One-fourth cup flour.
One cup rich milk.

Sprinkle cupful of crumbs over top and bake in slow oven for one hour.

Miss Edith Johnson of 620 South Fourteenth street, has another excellent recipe for graham cracker torte, which she has kindly given the Press in response to Thursday morning's request.

Graham Cracker Torte

Twenty graham crackers
One cup sugar
One cup shredded cocoanut
One cup milk
Two teaspoons baking powder
One teaspoon vanilla extract
Four eggs
Two tablespoons butter

Method: Cream butter and sugar, add beaten yolks of eggs, roll out graham crackers and add baking powder and cocoanut. Add milk, slightly warmed. Mix all well. Beat whites of eggs and fold in last. Place in quick oven and bake one-half hour, reducing heat gradually.

For a moment she thought the older woman hadn't understood Mary Cassidy said brokenly "They threw me out of my own house. They got no right to do that! They took my job and then they threw me out. Now I got nothing—no place to live, no place to sleep. What're my kids goin' to do without even a place to sleep? How'm I goin' to get anything for 'em to eat?"

"But, Mary," Gale said, "I've just told you. You're coming home with Phil and me."

"I can't leave my stuff here," Mary objected, shaking her head I got to stay and watch it."

"But you can't!" Gale insisted. "Think of the children."

* * *

Ruthie Cassidy, aged 6, gazed at her mother from beyond a broken chair on which stood a pile of dishes, topped by a coffee pot Ruthie wore a knitted cap, faded and several sizes too large, and a man's coat, fastened with a safety pin. Her hands were bare. She had been listening and she came toward her mother.

"Can't we go, Ma?" she asked. "It's gettin' dark and I'm awful cold."

A woman stepped beside Gale. "I'd ask 'em to stay with us," she said, "only Joe's sister's family moved in last week. My, but it's sad—them two little tykes out here like this—!"

"They're coming home with me," Gale said determinedly. "Mary, we'll find a place for your furniture."

A little woman in a faded green coat joined the group. "She can store some of her things in our house," she said. "It's just across the street."

Mary Cassidy did not seem to understand. "They got no right to put me out," she repeated stubbornly. "They got no right—"

The baby whimpered louder and Mary turned her attention to him. Ruthie clutched at her mother's skirt. "Let's go, Ma," she urged. "I'm so cold!"

Gale had turned and was looking for Phil. She saw him at a distance and called.

The woman in the green coat went on. "Mis' Bascom could make room for some of them things. I'll ask her—"

Phil came up then and Gale said to him, "Mary's coming home with us, but we've got to find some place first to store her things. She can't just leave them here."

"O. K." Phil said. "I'll get some of the fellows to help."

In 10 minutes the men were carrying Mary's possessions into neighboring houses.

CHIFFONADE SALAD

1 head lettuce
1 can grapefruit
3 small tomatoes
Horseradish
Dressing
Dressing
2 green peppers

Line a salad bowl with lettuce. In this nest of lettuce leaves arrange the shredded green peppers, tomatoes cut in quarters and the canned grapefruit. Serve with Horseradish Dressing made this way: Mix 2 tablespons grapefruit juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ cup mazola, ½ tablespoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon paprika, 1-8 teaspoon pepper. Beat thoroughly. Add 1 tablespoon horseradish and pour dressing over salad. Five to six servings.

Two-Minute Gingerbread

Gingerbread which any man can make (and many do) takes only two minutes to mix, if the new Washington gingerbread mix is used. Just add a cup of water to the contents of the package and bake; the package tells all! This makes a spicy, delicious old-fashioned gingerbread, and it is just like George Washington ate, for it is based on his own mother's recipe! Men like this served with apple sauce or stewed fruit as a variant from the usual whipped cream. Melted cheese is a good topping and a few sweet-toothed souls like jelly spread on top.

A snail must always be referred to as "it," for the creature is male and female by turns.

Mrs. Leo Johnson Claimed By Death

Mrs. Leo Johnson died at noon on Wednesday, February 27, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Olson, after an illness of several months. Dinah Olson was born in Newberry on July 11, 1890, and had lived here all of her life. In 1919 she was married to Leo Johnson and the couple have one daughter, Florence. Of a quiet and friendly disposition Mrs. Johnson has been concerned with her home and her family. Ill for a long time before she saw a physician she bore her sickness with unusual patience. Besides her husband, parents and daughter she leaves four brothers and sisters, Mrs. Edward Kingren, Edith, Alfred and George, all of Newberry.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon from the home of the parents, Rev. F. Merle Townsend officiating. Burial will take place in Forest Home cemetery.

NEWBERRY BRIEFS.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Wells of the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company's camp are the parents of twins, a son and daughter, born on Feb. 27. They have been named Clara and Harry. Mr. and Mrs. Wells have eight other children.

Dr. Duncan who has had offices for the past several months in the Stewart building moved to Grand Marais on Thursday where he will take up practice.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET

Dr. Webster H. Pearce of Northern State Teachers' college and former state educational commissioner will deliver the address at the annual Father and Son banquet tonight. The event is being given under the auspices of the local Hi-Y club. The program follows:

Toastmaster, G. K. Fisher.
Invocation, Rev. F. Merle Townsend.
Songs led by Arthur A. Neu.
Trumpet solo, George Mills.
Violin solo, Robert Pell.
Toast to Fathers, Louis Dwyer.
Response, J. P. Rahilly.
Solo, Donald Young.
Address, Webster H. Pearce.

The dinner will be prepared and served by the ladies of the Swedish Lutheran church.

WILL RETAIN LIGHTS

Wakefield—That electric lights at the Chicago and North Western depot in this city not to be replaced by kerosene lamps and passenger service will be given this city as soon as business conditions warrant, were some of the promises made by railroad officials to local business men at a conference held here yesterday afternoon.

The railroad was represented by F. B. Martin of Green Bay, division freight passenger agent, and John Eva of Ashland, trainmaster.

Plans had been made by the railroad company to replace the electric lights with kerosene lamps as a measure of economy, but the officials definitely promised yesterday that no such change will be made. The business men were also promised better train service just as soon as it is feasible to improve the present schedule.

U. P. Briefs

TO DISCUSS RELIEF WORK

Iron River—March 30 and 31 are the dates for the upper peninsula relief conference to be held in the Caspian village hall. It will be the first gathering of the kind since the state-federal relief program was put into effect.

The conference is sponsored by the Michigan Workers' Committee on Unemployment, of Gogebic county; the Dickinson County Relief Protective association, of Iron Mountain; and the Iron County Labor Union, of Iron county. Paul Henley, of Iron River, has issued the call.

MENOMINEE COLONY GROWS

Menominee—Word from Lansing reveals that the "Menominee colony" at the state capital is rapidly growing. The influx of local persons to the capital followed the change in the state administration on January 1, and the appointment of John J. O'Hara ,local attorney, as auditor general.

Latest additions to Lansing's "Menominee colony" are Miss Roselynn Caley, daughter of Mrs. Emaline Caley, and granddaughter of the late John Henes, and Miss Gretchen Leisen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leisen. Miss Caley left Sunday night and Miss Leisen Monday night for Lansing. Both have received jobs in the auditor general's office.

GETS LAKE WHITEFISH

Menominee—E. L. Barnes, a Portland, Ore., lumberman, got a hankering for a Great Lakes whitefish. The more he thought of it the keener his appetite became.

Years ago Mr. Barnes used to live in Menominee, where whitefish were as plentiful as pine logs. At the time he was employed in the office of the old Kirby-Carpenter company. Later he migrated to the west and located in Portland.

He decided he had to have a whitefish, so he wrote his friend, Gus Dittmore, local taxi man, a letter and asked him to help out. Gust called F. F. "Finn" Seidl, of the Seidl Fisheries and solicited Mr. Seidl's aid.

The whitefish, between 16 and 18 inches long, was being packed in dry ice this afternoon and will be shipped tonight to Oregon to appease Mr. Barnes' appetite.

WON'T NEED LOANS

Iron Mountain — Iron Mountain is one of only six communities in upper Michigan wherein the current school term will be completed without the necessity of a school loan of any kind, state, bank or otherwise, according to W. J. Cudlip, president of the board of education. Other communities similarly situated are Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette, Menominee, Sault Ste. Marie and Ironwood.

In view of the stress in which many systems throughout the state and nation are finding themselves—some having already been forced to close for the school year—Iron Mountain's achievement, Cudlip believes, is worthy of note. He also expressed the gratification of the board members and their hope that next year will find an even more favorable situation.

CAMP NOT SELECTED

Munising—Recent statements that Camp Filibert Roth, summer headquarters for the University of Michigan school of forestry and conservation, will be moved this year to Sugar Island, in St. Mary's river, were modified by a letter received today from Robert Craig, Jr., director of the camp.

Mr. Craig stated that no plans have been made for moving the camp to the island. He added that "unless some suitable area is found which we can finance, we will be back on the site we have occupied for the last six years."

Cleopatra's Needle gained its name because she had the obelisk moved to a new location; the Needle was erected centuries before her birth.

Centuries ago, stationary timepieces run by weights were called watches, while only those provided with cloches or bells were known as clocks.

The Kellogg Red Coats Have a Gift For You

Today's Recipe

A recipe for a graham cracker torte, which is easy to make, and which is truly delicious was received Thursday morning from Miss Martha Asp, of 1213 Second avenue south, answering Wednesday's request.

Graham Cracker Torte

One pound graham crackers (rolled)
One pound walnut meats
One pound dates
One pound marshmallows
One pint cream

Roll crackers until very fine. Save one-half cup to sprinkle on top. Walnuts may be used either whole or broken. Cut dates in fourths and roll in cracker crumbs. Cut marshmallows in eights and roll in cracker crumbs sufficiently so they will not stick together. Mix rolled dates and marshmallows and nuts, gradually adding cream until mixture is moist enough to pack, sometimes requiring more or less cream than specified.

Pack solidly into buttered pan, 6x10x2 inches, sprinkle with remaining half cup of cracker crumbs and let stand in a cool place for twelve hours.

Slice and serve with whipped cream.

This torte is very rich and should be served in smaller proportions than an ordinary dessert.

Another recipe for a tasty torte which is a very nourishing dessert was received Thursday through the kindness of Miss Evelyn Collins of 403 South Eighteenth street.

Graham Cracker Torte

Twenty-six graham chackers rolled.

Add one cup sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half cup butter.

Mix as for pie crust and put in bottom of tin, saving one cup for topping.

For filling:
Two packages cottage cheese, put through ricer.
Four eggs.
Beat in one cup sugar.
Rind and juice of one lemon.
One-fourth cup flour.
One cup rich milk.

Sprinkle cupful of crumbs over top and bake in slow oven for one hour.

Miss Edith Johnson of 620 South Fourteenth street, has another excellent recipe for graham cracker torte, which she has kindly given the Press in response to Thursday morning's request.

Graham Cracker Torte

Twenty graham crackers
One cup sugar
One cup shredded cocoanut
One cup milk
Two teaspoons baking powder
One teaspoon vanilla extract
Four eggs
Two tablespoons butter

Method: Cream butter and sugar, add beaten yolks of eggs, roll out graham crackers and add baking powder and cocoanut. Add milk, slightly warmed. Mix all well. Beat whites of eggs and fold in last. Place in quick oven and bake one-half hour, reducing heat gradually.

For a moment she thought the older woman hadn't understood. Mary Cassidy said brokenly "They threw me out of my own house. They got no right to do that! They took my job and then they threw me out. Now I got nothing—no place to live, no place to sleep. What're my kids goin' to do without even a place to sleep? How'm I goin' to get anything for 'em to eat?"

"But, Mary," Gale said, "I've just told you. You're coming home with Phil and me."

"I can't leave my stuff here," Mary objected, shaking her head. I got to stay and watch it."

"But you can't!" Gale insisted. "Think of the children."

* * *

Ruthie Cassidy, aged 6, gazed at her mother from beyond a broken chair on which stood a pile of dishes, topped by a coffee pot. Ruthie wore a knitted cap, faded and several sizes too large, and a man's coat, fastened with a safety pin. Her hands were bare. She had been listening and she came toward her mother.

"Can't we go, Ma?" she asked. "It's gettin' dark and I'm awful cold."

A woman stepped beside Gale. "I'd ask 'em to stay with us," she said, "only Joe's sister's family moved in last week. My, but it's sad—them two little tykes out here like this—!"

"They're coming home with me," Gale said determinedly. "Mary, we'll find a place for your furniture."

A little woman in a faded green coat joined the group. "She can store some of her things in our house," she said. "It's just across the street."

Mary Cassidy did not seem to understand. "They got no right to put me out," she repeated stubbornly. "They got no right—"

The baby whimpered louder and Mary turned her attention to him. Ruthie clutched at her mother's skirt. "Let's go, Ma," she urged. "I'm so cold!"

Gale had turned and was looking for Phil. She saw him at a distance and called.

The woman in the green coat went on. "Mis' Bascom could make room for some of them things. I'll ask her—"

Phil came up then and Gale said to him, "Mary's coming home with us, but we've got to find some place first to store her things. She can't just leave them here."

"O. K." Phil said. "I'll get some of the fellows to help."

In 10 minutes the men were carrying Mary's possessions into neighboring houses.

CHIFFONADE SALAD

1 head lettuce
1 can grapefruit
3 small tomatoes
Horseradish
Dressing
Dressing
2 green peppers

Line a salad bowl with lettuce. In this nest of lettuce leaves arrange the shredded green peppers, tomatoes cut in quarters and the canned grapefruit. Serve with Horseradish Dressing made this way: Mix 2 tablespons grapefruit juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ cup mazola, ½ tablespoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon paprika, 1-8 teaspoon pepper. Beat thoroughly. Add 1 tablespoon horseradish and pour dressing over salad. Five to six servings.

Two-Minute Gingerbread

Gingerbread which any man can make (and many do) takes only two minutes to mix, if the new Washington gingerbread mix is used. Just add a cup of water to the contents of the package and bake; the package tells all! This makes a spicy, delicious old-fashioned gingerbread, and it is just like George Washington ate, for it is based on his own mother's recipe! Men like this served with apple sauce or stewed fruit as a variant from the usual whipped cream. Melted cheese is a good topping and a few sweet-toothed souls like jelly spread on top.

A snail must always be referred to as "it," for the creature is male and female by turns.

Mrs. Leo Johnson Claimed By Death

Mrs. Leo Johnson died at noon on Wednesday, February 27, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Olson, after an illness of several months. Dinah Olson was born in Newberry on July 11, 1890, and had lived here all of her life. In 1919 she was married to Leo Johnson and the couple have one daughter, Florence. Of a quiet and friendly disposition Mrs. Johnson has been concerned with her home and her family. Ill for a long time before she saw a physician she bore her sickness with unusual patience. Besides her husband, parents and daughter she leaves four brothers and sisters, Mrs. Edward Kingren, Edith, Alfred and George, all of Newberry.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon from the home of the parents, Rev. F. Merle Townsend officiating. Burial will take place in Forest Home cemetery.

NEWBERRY BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Wells of the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company's camp are the parents of twins, a son and daughter, born on Feb. 27. They have been named Clara and Harry. Mr. and Mrs. Wells have eight other children.

Dr. Duncan who has had offices for the past several months in the Stewart building moved to Grand Marais on Thursday where he will take up practice.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET

Dr. Webster H. Pearce of Northern State Teachers' college and former state educational commissioner will deliver the address at the annual Father and Son banquet tonight. The event is being given under the auspices of the local Hi-Y club. The program follows:

Toastmaster, G. K. Fisher.
Invocation, Rev. F. Merle Townsend.
Songs led by Arthur A. Neu.
Trumpet solo, George Mills.
Violin solo, Robert Pell.
Toast to Fathers, Louis Dwyer.
Response, J. P. Rahilly.
Solo, Donald Young.
Address, Webster H. Pearce.

The dinner will be prepared and served by the ladies of the Swedish Lutheran church.

WILL RETAIN LIGHTS

Wakefield—That electric lights at the Chicago and North Western depot in this city not to be replaced by kerosene lamps and passenger service will be given this city as soon as business conditions warrant, were some of the promises made by railroad officials to local business men at a conference held here yesterday afternoon.

The railroad was represented by F. B. Martin of Green Bay, division freight passenger agent, and John Eva of Ashland, trainmaster.

Plans had been made by the railroad company to replace the electric lights with kerosene lamps as a measure of economy, but the officials definitely promised yesterday that no such change will be made. The business men were also promised better train service just as soon as it is feasible to improve the present schedule.

TO DISCUSS RELIEF WORK

Iron River—March 30 and 31 are the dates for the upper peninsula relief conference to be held in the Caspian village hall. It will be the first gathering of the kind since the state-federal relief program was put into effect.

The conference is sponsored by the Michigan Workers' Committee on Unemployment, of Gogebic county; the Dickinson County Relief Protective association, of Iron Mountain; and the Iron County Labor Union, of Iron county. Paul Henley, of Iron River, has issued the call.

MENOMINEE COLONY GROWS

Menominee—Word from Lansing reveals that the "Menominee colony" at the state capital is rapidly growing. The influx of local persons to the capital followed the change in the state administration on January 1, and the appointment of John J. O'Hara ,local attorney, as auditor general.

Latest additions to Lansing's "Menominee colony" are Miss Roselynn Caley, daughter of Mrs. Emaline Caley, and granddaughter of the late John Henes, and Miss Gretchen Leisen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leisen. Miss Caley left Sunday night and Miss Leisen Monday night for Lansing. Both have received jobs in the auditor general's office.

GETS LAKE WHITEFISH

Menominee—E. L. Barnes, a Portland, Ore., lumberman, got a hankering for a Great Lakes whitefish. The more he thought of it the keener his appetite became.

Years ago Mr. Barnes used to live in Menominee, where whitefish were as plentiful as pine logs. At the time he was employed in the office of the old Kirby-Carpenter company. Later he migrated to the west and located in Portland.

He decided he had to have a whitefish, so he wrote his friend, Gus Dittmore, local taxi man, a letter and asked him to help out. Gust called F. F. "Finn" Seidl, of the Seidl Fisheries and solicited Mr. Seidl's aid.

The whitefish, between 16 and 18 inches long, was being packed in dry ice this afternoon and will be shipped tonight to Oregon to appease Mr. Barnes' appetite.

WON'T NEED LOANS

Iron Mountain — Iron Mountain is one of only six communities in upper Michigan wherein the current school term will be completed without the necessity of a school loan of any kind, state, bank or otherwise, according to W. J. Cudlip, president of the board of education. Other communities similarly situated are Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette, Menominee, Sault Ste. Marie and Ironwood.

In view of the stress in which many systems throughout the state and nation are finding themselves—some having already been forced to close for the school year—Iron Mountain's achievement, Cudlip believes, is worthy of note. He also expressed the gratification of the board members and their hope that next year will find an even more favorable situation.

CAMP NOT SELECTED

Munising—Recent statements that Camp Filibert Roth, summer headquarters for the University of Michigan school of forestry and conservation, will be moved this year to Sugar Island, in St. Mary's river, were modified by a letter received today from Robert Craig, Jr., director of the camp.

Mr. Craig stated that no plans have been made for moving the camp to the island. He added that "unless some suitable area is found which we can finance, we will be back on the site we have occupied for the last six years."

Cleopatra's Needle gained its name because she had the obelisk moved to a new location; the Needle was erected centuries before her birth.

Centuries ago, stationary timepieces run by weights were called watches, while only those provided with cloches or bells were known as clocks.

Large Audience Enjoys Program, Webster Benefit

A responsive and appreciate audience of over 200 persons packed the Webster school auditorium for the benefit entertainment presented Wednesday evening by the Webster Parent-Teacher association.

The program was varied and every number was excellent in its particular class, the audience expressing its pleasure in the offering by prolonged applause at the close of each presentation.

Elmer Rheaume was an able master of ceremonies, his comic costume and rare humor, entertainment in themselves.

The program featured Bob Pryal in his popular dialect stories; music by the well-trained St. Anne's orchestra; Marie and Peggy Donohue, marimba artists; Rangfrid Sviland, Beatrice Morton, Florence Anderson, Rosalie Peterson and Maxine Collins, talented soloists; clever tap and acrobatic dance numbers by little Francis Skradski, whose natural ability is amazing, graceful Anita Swanson, Jane and Elaine Rowley, Helen Lou Peterson and Marcella Provo, attractive youngsters, Norma Lou Burns, tap expert, and Mrs. Lambert; entertaining readings by Estelle Messier; accordion numbers which were outstanding by Albert Provencher, and equally fine instrumental selections by the Hawaiian Entertainers, the string orchestra featuring the Saber Sisters, and Mason and Frederick Johnson, guitar players.

A sale of home made candy, conducted by the unit after the program, was well patronized.

Plans are now being made in view of the success of the entertainment, to make an amateur night program similar to this, a yearly feature of Parent-Teacher activities.

Cape Smartest Fashion For Spring Wear

BY MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9312

Flip a little cape over your shoulders if you would be chic! Better still, button these two slightly conservative capelets on for sleeves and take them off at will. It's a silhouette exceedingly smart this season and you'll find it gives your cap-sleeved dress a "finished" look for street without adding greatly to warmth later on when you use this new model for summer. Make it in a small patterned print or one of the irregularly patterned materials which are woven in two or three colors, or a "heavy" sheer. Wear it now under your coat and get a long season of enjoyment from it.

Pattern 9312 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

IT'S JUST OUT! OUR SPRING PATTERN BOOK is a veritable Fashion Parade of smart styles to help you plan and make your spring wardrobe. Forty pages full of style news of interest to every woman . . . stunning designs for the house and for town wear! Among the special articles are descriptions of the spring fabrics and how to dress the small child. SEND FOR YOUR COPY NOW! PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS BUT IT COSTS ONLY TEN CENTS WHEN ORDERED WITH A PATTERN. PATTERN AND BOOK TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Church Events

Christian Science Churches

"Christ Jesus" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, March 3.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Matt. 2: 19, 20): "But when Herod was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and go into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the young child's life."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 30): "As the individual ideal of Truth, Christ Jesus came to rebuke rabbinical error and all sin, sickness, and death—to point out the way of Truth and Life. This ideal was demonstrated throughout the whole earthly career of Jesus, showing the difference between the offspring of Soul and of material sense, of Truth and of error."

TWO FEATURE PROGRAM

The Delft's two feature program this week end offers "The Silver Streak," railroad drama, and the mystery film, "I Am a Thief."

Warren E. Fuller, vice president and member of the Board of the Burlington Transportation Company, makes his film debut in the RKO-Radio Picture "The Silver Streak."

The Burlington "Zephyr", brought to Hollywood for a film career and rechristened "Silver Streak" is Mr. Fuller's pet. Ever since its initial trial he has been its guardian and has conducted it on a tour of the United States. On its tour and at the Chicago Fair where it was exhibited, the train has been inspected by approximately three million people, it is said.

It was released from the Fair by special permission of General Dawes in order that it might appear in the picture.

Fuller, in addition to appearing in the photoplay, served as technical director in all matters pertaining to railroading.

With Mr. Fuller in the picture are Sally Blane, Charles Starrett, William Farnum, Theodor von Eltz, Hardie Albright and Edgar Kennedy.

"I Am a Thief," Warner Bros. latest melodramatic mystery thriller, has Mary Astor and Ricardo Cortez heading an all star cast.

The picture, based on a story by Ralph Block and Doris Malloy, recounts the breath-taking adventures of a band of international jewel robbers who plot to steal an almost priceless set of diamonds known as the Kareninas.

The diamonds are used by secret service operatives as a bait to catch a gang of jewel thieves composed of renegade nobles, beautiful adventuresses and men of such daring and cleverness that they have succeeded in outwitting the officials.

The famed Kareninas, the prize loot of the Continent, attract the attention of rival gangs.

WANTS JOB RESTORED

Iron Mountain—In a petition filed today with the Michigan state supreme court at Lansing, Silas McGregor, of Iron Mountain, former deputy commissioner for the state department of labor and industry, asked for a writ of mandamus to compel the commission to reinstate him as deputy, under the terms of the veterans' preference act.

The action was forecast in a statement made here by McGregor some time ago. In the petition he alleged that he was discharged in June, 1934, without the hearing provided for in the veterans' preference act. The petition added that "he had the right to believe he would not be unlawfully removed to satisfy greed for patronage."

McGregor's action, it has already been brought out, is directed against the commission as constituted at the time of his dismissal. Two changes have been made in the personnel of the board since then.

Designed Commended

Uniontown, Pa. (AP)—Don Arthur Maust, designer here, has been commended by Columbia University for recent developments and reconstruction of methods and color technique of the old paint masters.

BELIEVE ME - I KNOW HOW CHEAP SOAP FADES OUT COLORS

But Things Come Out of My Wash as Bright as They Went in Since I Changed to American Family

If only I had learned about American Family years ago! I still can hardly believe my eyes when I see how crisp and fresh everything stays, laundered in these amazing double-suds. They're such mild, sweet-smelling suds—yet they chase out dirt faster than harsh soaps do, without any of that hard rubbing. And they rinse out so easily. I'd never think of using anything else now in this hard lake water!

Large Audience Enjoys Program, Webster Benefit

A responsive and appreciate audience of over 200 persons packed the Webster school auditorium for the benefit entertainment presented Wednesday evening by the Webster Parent-Teacher association.

The program was varied and every number was excellent in its particular class, the audience expressing its pleasure in the offering by prolonged applause at the close of each presentation.

Elmer Rheaume was an able master of ceremonies, his comic costume and rare humor, entertainment in themselves.

The program featured Bob Pryal in his popular dialect stories; music by the well-trained St. Anne's orchestra; Marie and Peggy Donohue, marimba artists; Rangfrid Sviland, Beatrice Morton, Florence Anderson, Rosalie Peterson and Maxine Collins, talented soloists; clever tap and acrobatic dance numbers by little Francis Skradski, whose natural ability is amazing, graceful Anita Swanson, Jane and Elaine Rowley, Helen Lou Peterson and Marcella Provo, attractive youngsters. Norma Lou Burns, tap expert, and Mrs. Lambert; entertaining readings by Estelle Messier; accordion numbers which were outstanding by Albert Provencher, and equally fine instrumental selections by the Hawaiian Entertainers, the string orchestra featuring the Saber Sisters, and Mason and Frederick Johnson, guitar players.

A sale of home made candy, conducted by the unit after the program, was well patronized.

Plans are now being made in view of the success of the entertainment, to make an amateur night program similar to this, a yearly feature of Parent-Teacher activities.

Church Events

Christian Science Churches

"Christ Jesus" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, March 3.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Matt. 2: 19, 20): "But when Herod was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and go into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the young child's life."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 30): "As the individual ideal of Truth, Christ Jesus came to rebuke rabbinical error and all sin, sickness, and death—to point out the way of Truth and Life. This ideal was demonstrated throughout the whole earthly career of Jesus, showing the difference between the offspring of Soul and of material sense, of Truth and of error."

Program at Powers

The young people of the Calvary Baptist church will render a program at the Pinecrest sanatorium, at Powers, this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Junior Choir

The Junior choir of Salem Lutheran church will rehearse this evening at 7 o'clock.

Teachers to Meet

The Sunday school teachers of Salem Lutheran church will meet this evening at 8 o'clock.

Cape Smartest Fashion For Spring Wear

PATTERN 9312

Flip a little cape over your shoulders if you would be chic! Better still, button these two slightly conservative capelets on for sleeves and take them off at will. It's a silhouette exceedingly smart this season and you'll find it gives your cap-sleeved dress a "finished" look for street without adding greatly to warmth later on when you use this new model for summer. Make it in a small patterned print or one of the irregularly patterned materials which are woven in two or three colors, or a "heavy" sheer. Wear it now under your coat and get a long season of enjoyment from it.

Pattern 9312 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

IT'S JUST OUT! OUR SPRING PATTERN BOOK is a veritable Fashion Parade of smart styles to help you plan and make your spring wardrobe. Forty pages full of style news of interest to every woman . . . stunning designs for the house and for town wear! Among the special articles are descriptions of the spring fabrics and how to dress the small child. SEND FOR YOUR COPY NOW! PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS BUT IT COSTS ONLY TEN CENTS WHEN ORDERED WITH A PATTERN. PATTERN AND BOOK TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Send your order to The Daily Press Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

TWO FEATURE PROGRAM

The Delft's two feature program this week end offers "The Silver Streak," railroad drama, and the mystery film, "I Am a Thief."

Warren E. Fuller, vice president and member of the Board of the Burlington Transportation Company, makes his film debut in the RKO-Radio Picture "The Silver Streak."

The Burlington "Zephyr", brought to Hollywood for a film career and rechristened "Silver Streak" is Mr. Fuller's pet. Ever since its initial trial he has been its guardian and has conducted it on a tour of the United States. On its tour and at the Chicago Fair where it was exhibited, the train has been inspected by approximately three million people, it is said.

It was released from the Fair by special permission of General Dawes in order that it might appear in the picture.

Fuller, in addition to appearing in the photoplay, served as technical director in all matters pertaining to railroading.

With Mr. Fuller in the picture are Sally Blane, Charles Starrett, William Farnum, Theodor von Eltz, Hardie Albright and Edgar Kennedy.

"I Am a Thief," Warner Bros. latest melodramatic mystery thriller, has Mary Astor and Ricardo Cortez heading an all star cast.

The picture, based on a story by Ralph Block and Doris Malloy, recounts the breath-taking adventures of a band of international jewel robbers who plot to steal an almost priceless set of diamonds known as the Kareninas.

The diamonds are used by secret service operatives as a bait to catch a gang of jewel thieves composed of renegade nobles, beautiful adventuresses and men of such daring and cleverness that they have succeeded in outwitting the officials.

The famed Kareninas, the prize loot of the Continent, attract the attention of rival gangs.

TOM BOLGER MANAGER | GLADSTONE | PHONE 32 RIALTO BLDG.

HOUSING DRIVE ENDORSED HERE

$50,000 Program Planned in Effort to Improve Business

A $50,000 Better Housing program proposed for Gladstone was this week given the endorsement of local business, industrial and professional leaders.

While March is to be observed throughout the national and state as "Better Housing Month," efforts have been under way here for months to get under way a construction program that would help bring things back to normal.

A local canvass made under the direction of the City club revealed that if it could be arranged there was an immediate demand for remodelling and other jobs in Gladstone homes totalling $75,000. Those in charge of the local drive have conservatively placed the goal at $50,000.

A compilation shows that already 23 jobs involving expenditures of close to $14,000 have been either undertaken or completed. Several new projects totalling close to $600 were reported this week.

Model Home

Plans for construction of a model home here as a concrete example of what may be done through remodelling have been completed and the project is now under way.

An old two-room frame structure is being moved from the east end of the city and will be located on a lot on Central avenue. It will be converted into an attractive four-room modern residence with furnace and bath. Plans for the home were drawn by Gothard Arntzen, Escanaba architect.

Material dealers, carpenters, masons, blicklayers and painters are cooperating with the committee in the project. Cost data will be kept on each room so that the public may obtain an idea just what it would cost them to do all or a portion of the work.

Additional Gladstone News Will be found on Page 11.

Mrs. G. W. Jackson and daughter, Miss Mary Glen, returned on Wednesday afternoon from Muskegon, Mich., where they were called by the death of Mrs. Jackson's father, Maurice O'Connell. Enroute home they visited in Ann Arbor with Miss Winifred Jackson, who is attending the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Jesse G. Denio, 1009 Dakota avenue, is recovering from an attack of the flu.

Schools Of U. P. Are Objecting To Tax Return Plan

Obnoxious features of a proposed scheme to have one-third of the revenue derived from the sales tax returned to the individual communities in which it was collected are pointed out in a communication from the Association of School Board Members which was read into the official record during a meeting of the City Commission this week.

The text of the letter follows:

City of Gladstone,
Attention of the Mayor and Commission.
Gentlemen:

Some one has started a movement to have one-third of the Sales Tax returned to the community where it originated, to be used to cover the cost of local government. The movement is not only unwise but is positively vicious.

Browns Win From Frosh College In Tuesday Game

The Browns won from the Frosh college in a city league game at the old gym on Tuesday evening by a 43 to 38 score in a hard fought battle. The battle was a nip and tuck affair most of the way although the Browns got off to a good start the Collegians caught up and passed them only to be cut off by the Browns' closing spurt.

Ralph Williams with six field goals to his credit and John Matthews with five and two free throws shared scoring honors. Bill Cook was referee.

Stories in STAMPS

FOUR HUNDRED years ago, Father Jose de Anchieta, a young Portuguese missionary, ventured among the savage Indians of Brazil and within a year made them his most devoted followers.

Once, when the Tamoyo Indians attacked the Portuguese immigrants, Father Anchieta induced the invaders to come to terms with the Europeans and accept him as a human bond to guarantee the faith of his countrymen. For three years they kept him hostage, until the Portuguese had fulfilled their pledge.

Today this missionary, now St. Anchieta, is known as "The Apostle of Brazil," or "The Apostle of the New World." Brazil has just honored him with a commemorative stamp issue of four values.

Results Given On Last Saturday's Intramural Games

Following are the results of the intramural basketball contests at the old gym on Saturday morning:

Class A

Brain Trusters 20; Little Bohemians 32.
Eagles 18; Westside Wildcats 29.
Tigers 25; Pirates 29.

In an exciting game the lowly Brain Trusters held the Bohemians to a tie score until two of their first stringers went out on fouls. With five players against four the Bohemians ran up a twelve point lead that was sufficient to win the game. This game was marked by roughness, 25 houls being called.

Lyntz proved the stumbling block for the Eagles and was responsible for the Wildcat victory. He accounted for 14 points and Burley for the losers amassed 10 points.

In another close and exciting game the Pirates triumphed over the Tigers. Multhaupt led the scoring with 15 points. He scored seven field goals in the last half. Hupfer was the mainstay of the Pirates attack.

Class B

Trojans 18; Reds 19.
Doughboys 11; Wolverines 52.
Dragons 18; Dare Devils 25.

The Trojans dropped another game, this time to the first place Reds. This was an all important game in the B league and gave the Reds undisputed possession of the first place. Selling scored 14 of the winners' 19 points.

In the Doughboy-Wolverine fiasco, Smith set a season's record for individual scoring for any game, when he scored 24 points. His teammate, Slough, scored 20 points to make the rout of the Doughboys the most lopsided affair of the season.

The Dare Devils managed to defeat the Dragons in a game that was fairly close. Orr and Wilson were sharers of high point honors for the winners and Besner was the big gun on the Dragon firing squad.

Class C

Battling Giants 3; Kelly's Sons 26.
Black Cats 7; Black Hawks 25.
Tigers 13; Little Giants 18.
Blue Devils 10; Cubs 21.

The Little Giants kept their string of victories intact by winning from the Tigers. The superior teamwork of the Little Giants spelled the difference between the two teams. Ward and Cody were the leading scorers of the contest.

The Blue Devils were easy victims for the Cubs in an interesting contest. Chartier scoring six for the losers and Shampine who was responsible for 11 of the winners' points were the outstanding individuals.

The Black Hawks defeated the Black Cats easily and Kelly's Sons swamped the Battling Giants in a couple of contests that showed too little competition to be interesting.

The Manistique Freshman college basketball team left on an invasion of the eastern part of the upper peninsula and part of the lower peninsula at one o'clock on Thursday afternoon. The Frosh basketeers have scheduled games with Rudyard, Pickford and Atlanta. They expect to return on Sunday evening.

Boys making the jaunt are Orris Leonard, John Matthews, Ed Matthews, Sylvester Rubic, Elmer Garvin and Wallace Fagan.

Chemical Magic Features Story Hour on Saturday

The high school auditorium will be the scene of the children's story hour on Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock. As the children will not be able to enter the building before 10:30, it has been requested that they do not come too early. Some of the children have been arriving an hour or more before the story hour time and have had to stand out in the cold until 10:30.

The feature of Saturday's story hour will be a display of interesting and amazing chemical experiments by Merrill Johnson. Some of the many wonders of chemical magic will be unfolded for the benefit of the children.

Stories will be told as usual by Mrs. Dorothy Shipman, the story lady.

HOUSING DRIVE ENDORSED HERE

$50,000 Program Planned in Effort to Improve Business

A $50,000 Better Housing program proposed for Gladstone was this week given the endorsement of local business, industrial and professional leaders.

While March is to be observed throughout the national and state as "Better Housing Month," efforts have been under way here for months to get under way a construction program that would help bring things back to normal.

A local canvass made under the direction of the City club revealed that if it could be arranged there was an immediate demand for remodelling and other jobs in Gladstone homes totalling $75,000. Those in charge of the local drive have conservatively placed the goal at $50,000.

A compilation shows that already 23 jobs involving expenditures of close to $14,000 have been either undertaken or completed. Several new projects totalling close to $600 were reported this week.

Model Home

Plans for construction of a model home here as a concrete example of what may be done through remodelling have been completed and the project is now under way.

An old two-room frame structure is being moved from the east end of the city and will be located on a lot on Central avenue. It will be converted into an attractive four-room modern residence with furnace and bath. Plans for the home were drawn by Gothard Arntzen, Escanaba architect.

Material dealers, carpenters, masons, blicklayers and painters are cooperating with the committee in the project. Cost data will be kept on each room so that the public may obtain an idea just what it would cost them to do all or a portion of the work.

Additional Gladstone News Will be found on Page 11.

Mrs. G. W. Jackson and daughter, Miss Mary Glen, returned on Wednesday afternoon from Muskegon, Mich., where they were called by the death of Mrs. Jackson's father, Maurice O'Connell. Enroute home they visited in Ann Arbor with Miss Winifred Jackson, who is attending the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Jesse G. Denio, 1009 Dakota avenue, is recovering from an attack of the flu.

Schools Of U. P. Are Objecting To Tax Return Plan

Obnoxious features of a proposed scheme to have one-third of the revenue derived from the sales tax returned to the individual communities in which it was collected are pointed out in a communication from the Association of School Board Members which was read into the official record during a meeting of the City Commission this week.

The text of the letter follows:

CITY BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Davis, of Monson, Maine, arrived in the city Wednesday to visit at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Grosa, 203 South Maple avenue. Mr. Davis is the technical forestry foreman at Camp Cooks.

Mrs. Victor Remell left Wednesday evening for Chicago where she was called by the critical condition of her sister, Mrs. Harry LaFoille.

Mrs. Palmer, North Eighth street, has been dismissed from the Shaw hospital where she has been a patient for the past two weeks after breaking her hip.

The condition of Mrs. John Anderson, who is a patient at the St. Francis hospital in Escanaba, was reported as improving satisfactorily yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Aanderude have returned to Munising after motoring here Sunday to meet their niece, Miss Avis Aanderude of Fargo, North Dakota. The Aanderudes were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rodes while in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Popour, of Thompson, are the parents of a daughter, Donna Joyce, born Sunday at their home.

Mrs. Bertha Gilner, who has been spending several days here with her sister, Mrs. George Stark, returned to her home in Grand Rapids. Mrs. Gilner was called here by the death of her father, Frank LaPointe.

Charles F. Spurr, regional Boy Scout executive, of Marquette, was in the city Wednesday.

John Carlson visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George LaPlante at Thompson Wednesday evening.

Browns Win From Frosh College In Tuesday Game

The Browns won from the Frosh college in a city league game at the old gym on Tuesday evening by a 43 to 38 score in a hard fought battle. The battle was a nip and tuck affair most of the way although the Browns got off to a good start the Collegians caught up and passed them only to be cut off by the Browns' closing spurt.

Ralph Williams with six field goals to his credit and John Matthews with five and two free throws shared scoring honors. Bill Cook was referee.

Stories in STAMPS

FOUR HUNDRED years ago, Father Jose de Anchieta, a young Portuguese missionary, ventured among the savage Indians of Brazil and within a year made them his most devoted followers.

Once, when the Tamoyo Indians attacked the Portuguese immigrants, Father Anchieta induced the invaders to come to terms with the Europeans and accept him as a human bond to guarantee the faith of his countrymen. For three years they kept him hostage, until the Portuguese had fulfilled their pledge.

Today this missionary, now St. Anchieta, is known as "The Apostle of Brazil," or "The Apostle of the New World." Brazil has just honored him with a commemorative stamp issue of four values.

Results Given On Last Saturday's Intramural Games

Following are the results of the intramural basketball contests at the old gym on Saturday morning:

Class A

Brain Trusters 20; Little Bohemians 32.
Eagles 18; Westside Wildcats 29.
Tigers 25; Pirates 29.

In an exciting game the lowly Brain Trusters held the Bohemians to a tie score until two of their first stringers went out on fouls. With five players against four the Bohemians ran up a twelve point lead that was sufficient to win the game. This game was marked by roughness, 25 houls being called.

Lyntz proved the stumbling block for the Eagles and was responsible for the Wildcat victory. He accounted for 14 points and Burley for the losers amassed 10 points.

In another close and exciting game the Pirates triumphed over the Tigers. Multhaupt led the scoring with 15 points. He scored seven field goals in the last half. Hupfer was the mainstay of the Pirates attack.

Class B

Trojans 18; Reds 19.
Doughboys 11; Wolverines 52.
Dragons 18; Dare Devils 25.

The Trojans dropped another game ,this time to the first place Reds. This was an all important game in the B league and gave the Reds undisputed possession of the first place. Selling scored 14 of the winners' 19 points.

In the Doughboy-Wolverine fiasco, Smith set a season's record for individual scoring for any game, when he scored 24 points. His teammate, Slough, scored 20 points to make the rout of the Doughboys the most lopsided affair of the season.

The Dare Devils managed to defeat the Dragons in a game that was fairly close. Orr and Wilson were sharers of high point honors for the winners and Besner was the big gun on the Dragon firing squad.

Class C

Battling Giants 3; Kelly's Sons 26.
Black Cats 7; Black Hawks 25.
Tigers 13; Little Giants 18.
Blue Devils 10; Cubs 21.

The Little Giants kept their string of victories intact by winning from the Tigers. The superior teamwork of the Little Giants spelled the difference between the two teams. Ward and Cody were the leading scorers of the contest.

The Blue Devils were easy victims for the Cubs in an interesting contest. Chartier scoring six for the losers and Shampine who was responsible for 11 of the winners' points were the outstanding individuals.

The Black Hawks defeated the Black Cats easily and Kelly's Sons swamped the Battling Giants in a couple of contests that showed too little competition to be interesting.

Rural Teachers Meeting Features Dinner and Talks

The Schoolcraft County Rural Teachers' club will hold its March meeting this evening. This meeting is in charge of the Thompson teachers who are Frances Jenks and John Walker. A 6:30 o'clock dinner will be held at Mrs. Waddell's tea room and the meeting will follow in the court room of the county court house.

Three speakers will appear on the program at the court house. Rev. Fr. B. J. P. Schevers, pastor of St. Francis de Sales church, will talk on his trip to the Holy Land. A discussion of parliamentary law as applied to organizations such as the teachers' club will be presented by County Prosecutor William J. Sheahan. Mrs. Kathryn Beal, county school commissioner will discuss the achievement tests which will be given in the rural schools of the county during the month of March.

Frosh Collegians Leave On Three Day Road Tour

The Manistique Freshman college basketball team left on an invasion of the eastern part of the upper peninsula and part of the lower peninsula at one o'clock on Thursday afternoon. The Frosh basketeers have scheduled games with Rudyard, Pickford and Atlanta. They expect to return on Sunday evening.

Boys making the jaunt are Orris Leonard, John Matthews, Ed Matthews, Sylvester Rubic, Elmer Garvin and Wallace Fagan.

Chemical Magic Features Story Hour on Saturday

The high school auditorium will be the scene of the children's story hour on Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock. As the children will not be able to enter the building before 10:30, it has been requested that they do not come too early. Some of the children have been arriving an hour or more before the story hour time and have had to stand out in the cold until 10:30.

The feature of Saturday's story hour will be a display of interesting and amazing chemical experiments by Merrill Johnson. Some of the many wonders of chemical magic will be unfolded for the benefit of the children.

Stories will be told as usual by Mrs. Dorothy Shipman, the story lady.

BY FRANK MAC MILLEN
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Feb. 28 (AP)—Stocks were a bit droopy today after a fairly good start, commodities sagged and the dollar turned heavy in relation to leading gold currencies while maintaining an advance against sterling. Bonds got nowhere in particular, although scattered rail liens emerged with small gains.

The turnover amounted to only 573,540 shares compared with Wednesday's total of 946,588. The Associated Press average for 60 selected issues was off .1 of a point at 37.6. On the month this composite lost one full point.

The enthusiasm for the rails was noticeably luke-warm after overnight orders had been easily filled at higher levels.

In addition to rail uncertainties, Wall Street seemed to be a trifle disturbed over the new deal's setbacks in the coutrs and the possibility that the recovery program of the administration may be further questioned.

Among the few fractional gainers were American Can at 117 7-8, American Tobacco "B" at 80¾, Liggett & Myers "B" at 105¾, Woolworth at 54¾, American Telephone at 105 7-8, International Harvester at 39½ and Deere at 27¾. American Crystal Sugar preferred gained 2 points at 84.

Santa Fe preferred advanced 3 points to 79 on a few transfers, but the common was down ¾ at 40 5-8. U. S. Smelting was up a point at one time, but closed unchanged at 118. The other metals and some of the sugars cancelled early improvement. U. S. Steel lost a fraction at 32½, Bethlehem was off 5-8 at 26 5-8 and Consolidated Gas was easier at 18 3-8. General Motors, Chrysler, National Biscuit, Sears Roebuck, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and numerous others were off small amounts.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Feb. 28—Corn fell of its own weight at the last today, and dragged wheat along.

Selling that somewhat broadened in volume as the day approached an end made the fact apparent that the corn market was without any aggressive support from buyers. Simultaneously, word of New York arrival of wheat from Argentina and of rye from Russia had a bearish effect.

Corn closed weak at the day's low point, ¼ to 7-8 under yesterday's finish, May 84¼ to 84 5-8, wheat 1-8 to ¾ down, May 97 5-8 to 97 3-4, oats 1-8 off to 1-8 up, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to an equal gain.

Industries and elevators showed a decided tendency to hold off as buyers of corn. [illegible] adversely affected by news of continued imports of Argentine corn, notably at Pacific coast ports.

Provisions averaged lower, with scattered selling as a result of weakness of corn.

Curb Irregular; Dealings Quiet

New York, Feb. 28 (AP)—Irregular tendencies continued to feature curb exchange trading today. Dealings were quiet and price changes among active issues remained restricted.

Montgomery Ward "A" regained 2 points of its recent loss, and Parker Rust Proof recorded a similar advance. Losses of about 2 points were suffered by Bunker Hill & Sullivan and Perfect Circle, both on light transfers. Greyhound Corp. rose more than a point on volume trading.

Fractional declines were shown by American Gas & Electric, Newmont and American Cyanamid "B," while shares finishing steady to a bit higher included Electric Bond and Share, Lake Shore, International Petroleum, Wright Hargreaves and Swift International.

Transfers approximated 129,000 shares compared with 139,000 the

(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Feb. 28 (AP)—A good demand for lower priced railroad issues featured the bond market again today. A steady tone in first grade corporate loans was offset by softness in U. S. governments.

The turnover expanded to $14,207,000, par value, against $12,911,000 on Wednesday with the major portion of trading concentrated in secondary issues. The bond turnover for the month of February aggregated $224,851,000, par value, compared with $330,546,000 in January.

Among the rail favorites gaining a point or more were Baltimore & Ohio refunding 6s at 73, Panhandle 5s at 72, Nickel Plate 5½s at 68, New Haven collateral 6s at 47¾, and Illinois Central 4¾s at 53. Others selling higher included obligations of the Southern Railway, Western Pacific, and Kansas City Southern. Great Western 4s dropped 3 points to 25 and Rio Grande 5s were ¼ higher at 14¼.

In the industrial and utility section a moderately even tone prevailed. Childs Co. 5s were 1¼ higher at 59¾, Chile Copper 5s were ½ higher at 84, and Paramount 5½s gained 2 points at 48½. Other issues selling higher included obligations of American Telephone, Warren Bros., Laclede Gas, Portland General Electric and Utah Light & Traction. The Associated Press averages were unchanged to .4 of a point higher.

U. S. government obligations were uniformly lower with declines up to 5-32nds sprinkled among the treasuries. Home Owners Loan, in which the turnover was heavy, advanced 1-32nd to 100.1.

Potato Production Control Predicted In Upper Peninsula

Upper Peninsula potato farmers are watching with interest the progress of federal plans for controlling country-wide production.

"Whatever outcome there may be, there is one thing on which most Michigan potato farmers seem to be agreed, and that is compulsory grading program for the entire state," said J. G. Wells, Jr., of Chatham, county agent leader. "Too many Idaho and other outside potatoes are on sale in Michigan. Many people call for them because of their uniform quality.

"The grading regulations established by law in Idaho and Maine practically guarantee the quality of shipments from these states," continued Mr. Wells. "Michigan is certainly in need of stricter grading laws for her potato output, and they will help us to compete successfully with other states on our own outside markets."

The federal government may name a definite allotment of potatoes for the country soon. If this is done, a maximum production volume will be named for each state and county, and individual growers will be given a production quota based on their average for the past three or five years. Their quota will be marketed free, and a tax, proposed to be one-half cent per pound, will be levied on the surplus yield.

Plans to curtail output are not meeting with general favor in the potato growing and shipping counties of the Upper Peninsula. Organized potato culture is getting nicely under way in the district, and in some cases production is being stimulated as a relief measure. Curtailment might mean a serious step backward to this young and growing industry.

The ad taker will gladly assist you, if desired, so that the copy for your ad is prepared in such a manner as to bring the greatest results for you.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING INFORMATION
Errors in advertisements should be reported immediately. The Daily Press will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion.
All ads are restricted to their proper classification and to the regular Daily Press style of type. The publishers reserve the right to edit or reject any classified advertising copy.
Advertising ordered for irregular insertions take the one time rate. No ad is taken for less than a basis of three lines. Count six average words to the line. An average word contains six letters.
Accounts unpaid after 20 days will not be granted further credit.
Charged ads will be received by telephone, and if paid at the Daily Press office within six days from the first day of insertion cash rates will be allowed.
Ads ordered for three or six times and stopped before expiration will be charged for only the number of times the ad appeared and adjustment made at the rate earned.

The Daily Press makes an earnest effort to keep its advertising columns free of deceptive and dishonest announcements. Readers are requested to report unsatisfactory dealings with any advertiser in these columns.

BY FRANK MAC MILLEN
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Feb. 28 (AP)—Stocks were a bit droopy today after a fairly good start, commodities sagged and the dollar turned heavy in relation to leading gold currencies while maintaining an advance against sterling. Bonds got nowhere in particular, although scattered rail liens emerged with small gains.

The turnover amounted to only 573,540 shares compared with Wednesday's total of 946,588. The Associated Press average for 60 selected issues was off .1 of a point at 37.6. On the month this composite lost one full point.

The enthusiasm for the rails was noticeably luke-warm after overnight orders had been easily filled at higher levels.

In addition to rail uncertainties Wall Street seemed to be a trifle disturbed over the new deal's setbacks in the coutrs and the possibility that the recovery program of the administration may be further questioned.

Among the few fractional gainers were American Can at 117 7-8, American Tobacco "B" at 80¾, Liggett & Myers "B" at 105¾, Woolworth at 54¾, American Telephone at 105 7-8, International Harvester at 39½ and Deere at 27¾. American Crystal Sugar preferred gained 2 points at 84.

Santa Fe preferred advanced 3 points to 79 on a few transfers, but the common was down ¾ at 40 5-8. U. S. Smelting was up a point at one time, but closed unchanged at 118. The other metals and some of the sugars cancelled early improvement. U. S. Steel lost a fraction at 32½, Bethlehem was off 5-8 at 26 5-8 and Consolidated Gas was easier at 18 3-8. General Motors, Chrysler, National Biscuit, Sears Roebuck, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and numerous others were off small amounts.

CHICAGO PRICES

CHICAGO LARD

Chicago, Feb. 28—Cash lard, 13.52.

CHICAGO EGGS

Chicago, Feb. 28—Eggs 15,022, unsettled; extra firsts, 21 to 21½; fresh graded firsts, 20½ to 21¼; current receipts, 19½; egg sales, 100 cases current receipts 19 3-4; 50 cases 19½.

CHICAGO BUTTER

Chicago, Feb. 28—The butter market today was easy.

Fresh: 93 score, 32½ to 33; 92, 32; 91, 31 3-4; 90, 31½; 89, 31¼.

Centralized carlots: 90 score, 31 3-4; 89, 31¼.

CHICAGO POTATOES

Chicago, Feb. 28—Potatoes 68, on track 285, total U. S. shipments 683; weak, supplies liberal, demand and trading slow; Wisconsin round whites, U. S. commercial, 67½ to 70; Idaho russets, U. S. No. 1, best quality, 1.50; U. S. commercial 1.30; Florida bushel crates bliss triumphs, U. S. No. 1, washed, mostly 1.75.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Feb. 28—Corn fell of its own weight at the last today, and dragged wheat along.

Selling that somewhat broadened in volume as the day approached an end made the fact apparent the corn market was without any aggressive support from buyers. Simultaneously, word of New York arrival of wheat from Argentina and of rye from Russia had a bearish effect.

Corn closed weak at the day's low point, ¼ to 7-8 under yesterday's finish, May 84½ to 84 5-8, wheat 1-8 to ½ down, May 97 5-8 to 97 3-4, oats 1-8 off to 1-8 up, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to an equal gain.

Industries and elevators showed a decided tendency to hold off as buyers of corn. Trade sentiment as to corn was adversely affected by news of continued imports of Argentine corn, notably at Pacific coast points.

Provisions averaged lower, with scattered selling as a result of weakness of corn.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

Chicago, Feb. 28—Hogs 17,000, including 8,000 direct; closed steady to 5 higher; weights above 210 lbs., 9.25 to 9.35; top 9.40; 160 to 210 lbs., 8.85 to 9.30; light lights, 8.25 to 8.90; slaughter pigs, 6.50 to 8.25; packing sows, 8.50 to 8.65; shippers took 2,500; estimated holdover 1,000. Light lights, good and choice, 140 to 160 lbs., 8.25 to 9.00; light weight, 160 to 200 lbs., 8.75 to 9.25.

Cattle 8,000, calves 1,500; fed steers and yearlings unevenly steady to 25 lower, mostly steady; milling quality less desirable; shipper demand not very broad, this circumstance tending to depress a few loads of good to mere choice light steers and yearlings selling at 11.50 to 12.50; downturn also apparent in uneven way on 9.00 to 11.00 kinds; but closed fairly active and mostly steady; top 13.75; best yearlings 13.25; all she stock steady to strong; slaughter cattle and vealers: Steers, good and choice, 550 to 900 lbs., 9.50 to 13.00; 900 to 1100 lbs., 9.50 to 13.75; 1100 to 1300 lbs., 10.00 to 13.90; 1300 to 1500 lbs., 10.25 to 13.90; common and medium, 550 to 1300 lbs., 5.00 to 10.50; heifers, good and choice, 550 to 750 lbs., 9.25 to 11.50; common and medium, 4.75 to 9.25; cows, good, 6.50 to 9.25; common and medium, 4.25 to 6.75.

Sheep, 18,000; fat lambs closing rather active, fully steady to strong; spots 10 to 15 or more higher; bulk good and choice lambs 8.50 to 9.00; one double to small killers 9.10; sheep steady; feeding lambs strong to higher; bulk 6.75 to 7.25, few best lots 7.50; slaughter sheep and lambs: Lambs, 90 lbs. down, good and choice, 8.35 to 9.10.

MONEY RATES

New York, Feb. 28—Call money, steady, 1 percent all day.

Time loans, steady; 60 days to 6 months, 3-4 to 1 percent.

Prime commercial paper, 3-4.

Bankers' acceptances, unchanged.

Curb Irregular; Dealings Quiet

New York, Feb. 28 (AP)—Irregular tendencies continued to feature curb exchange trading today. Dealings were quiet and price changes among active issues remained restricted.

Montgomery Ward "A" regained 2 points of its recent loss, and Parker Rust Proof recorded a similar advance. Losses of about 2 points were suffered by Bunker Hill & Sullivan and Perfect Circle, both on light transfers. Greyhound Corp. rose more than a point on volume trading.

Fractional declines were shown by American Gas & Electric, Newmont and American Cyanamid "B," while shares finishing steady to a bit higher included Electric Bond and Share, Lake Shore, International Petroleum, Wright Hargreaves and Swift International.

Transfers approximated 129,000 shares compared with 139,000 the

BY G. A. PHILLIPS
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Feb. 28 (AP)—A good demand for lower priced railroad issues featured the bond market again today. A steady tone in first grade corporate loans was offset by softness in U. S. governments.

The turnover expanded to $14,207,000, par value, against $12,911,000 on Wednesday with the major portion of trading concentrated in secondary issues. The bond turnover for the month of February aggregated $224,851,000, par value, compared with $330,546,000 in January.

Among the rail favorites gaining a point or more were Baltimore & Ohio refunding 6s at 73, Panhandle 5s at 72, Nickel Plate 5½s at 68, New Haven collateral 6s at 47¾, and Illinois Central 4¾s at 53. Others selling higher included obligations of the Southern Railway, Western Pacific, and Kansas City Southern. Great Western 4s dropped 3 points to 25 and Rio Grande 5s were ¼ higher at 14¼.

In the industrial and utility section a moderately even tone prevailed. Childs Co. 5s were 1¼ higher at 59¾, Chile Copper 5s were ½ higher at 84, and Paramount 5½s gained 2 points at 48½. Other issues selling higher included obligations of American Telephone, Warren Bros., Laclede Gas, Portland General Electric and Utah Light & Traction. The Associated Press averages were unchanged to .4 of a point higher.

U. S. government obligations were uniformly lower with declines up to 5-32nds sprinkled among the treasuries. Home Owners Loan, in which the turnover was heavy, advanced 1-32nd to 100.1.

Potato Production Control Predicted In Upper Peninsula

Upper Peninsula potato farmers are watching with interest the progress of federal plans for controlling country-wide production.

"Whatever outcome there may be, there is one thing on which most Michigan potato farmers seem to be agreed, and that is compulsory grading program for the entire state," said J. G. Wells, Jr., of Chatham, county agent leader. "Too many Idaho and other outside potatoes are on sale in Michigan. Many people call for them because of their uniform quality.

"The grading regulations established by law in Idaho and Maine practically guarantee the quality of shipments from these states," continued Mr. Wells. "Michigan is certainly in need of stricter grading laws for her potato output, and they will help us to compete successfully with other states on our own outside markets."

The federal government may name a definite allotment of potatoes for the country soon. If this is done, a maximum production volume will be named for each state and county, and individual growers will be given a production quota based on their average for the past three or five years. Their quota will be marketed free, and a tax, proposed to be one-half cent per pound, will be levied on the surplus yield.

Plans to curtail output are not meeting with general favor in the potato growing and shipping counties of the Upper Peninsula. Organized potato culture is getting nicely under way in the district, and in some cases production is being stimulated as a relief measure. Curtailment might mean a serious step backward to this young and growing industry.

Eskymos And Upbays Meet Tonight In Final Tilt

RECORD CROWD TO SEE GAME

Freshman College Game Starts at 6:30 and Reserves Follow

In a background featuring traditional rivalry and a record-breaking crowd of wild-eyed, cheering basketball fans, Escanaba and Gladstone high school cagers will ring down the curtain of their regular basketball seasons tonight at the junior high school gymnasium in a game for which fans of both cities have been waiting several weeks. In two preliminary games, the local Freshman college cagers will meet the powerful Norway frosh in a fray starting promptly at 6:30 o'clock, and the Eskymo reserves will play the Upbay seconds immediately following.

Stage All Set

The stage is all set for the cage classic of the year. Local school officials are prepared to handle the largest crowd ever to pack the junior high school gym. The advance sale of reserved seats has been very brisk, despite which fact, there are some left which may be procured by calling the senior high school, phone 706. It was announced yesterday from the principal's office that student tickets will not be sold at the door.

After a week of good, hard practice in which the boys displayed plenty of spirit and determination to avenge the defeat handed them by the Keilmen in their first encounter of the year, Coach Carl Nordberg's crew appears to be in the best of condition, both physically and mentally. Psychologically, the advantage, if any, lies with the Eskymos because of the fact that they have already suffered defeat at the hands of Gladstone and their only thought in mind is to reverse the situation tonight. The Keilmen, on the other hand, already have one victory and will be expected to repeat, a fact that may work to their advantage.

Nordberg Experiments

Nordberg has been experimenting this week with a few changes in line-up and, although he probably will stand pat on at least four of his usual starting members, it is more than likely that the fifth position will see a new face, and that the whole team will be shifted around considerably. It is almost certain that the starting lineup will include: Jensen, Beaudin, Anderson and Christensen. Who will be the fifth man will probably not be known until game time.

The first game of the evening will bring to Escanaba the mighty Norway frosh in the clash with the local Freshman college crew. In view of the close game played in the previous encounter between the two reserve teams, it is expected that the Escanaba-Gladstone reserve game, which follows the frosh game, will also furnish plenty of action.

Paul Ritzman, of Ishpeming, and A. W. Rudness, of Negaunee, will handle the feature game, while Floyd Geraldeau, of Gladstone, and Leon Schram, of this city, will officiate both preliminary games.

UPBAYS READY

Gladstone, Mich.—Coach Keil's Gladstone high school cagers are primed and ready for their invasion of Escanaba tonight when they will tackle Coach Nordberg's squad for the second time this season. It will be the final game on the regular schedule of the locals.

If performances in practice sessions this week may be taken as an indication, the Keilmen look like they will have a fair chance of chalking up another double victory this season.

Season's records favor the Nordmen somewhat, but this cannot be taken into consideration when the two schools clash because of the intense rivalry existing.

Big Johnny Swan will be at the pivot post with McIntyre and Fisher at forward and Miller and Wilbee at guard.

'STIQUE ENTERS CAGE TOURNEY

Schoolcrafters Will Be One of Four Teams In Class B

Manistique, Feb. 26 (Special)—Two delayed entries in the Kingsford district high school basketball tournament have solved one problem of officials and created another. Manistique, in Class B, and Rapid River, in class D, are the teams.

Announcement of Manistique's entry gives the tourney a perfect class B plat of four teams, providing two first round games and the championship tussle. Other teams in the division are Iron Mountain, Escanaba and Kingsford.

Rapid River's entry in Class D, however, gives that division one too many teams, making the total nine. Only eight can be accommodated and Principal F. D. Davidson has asked State Director of Athletics C. E. Forsythe for directions. Forsythe instructed him to communicate if more than eight clubs entered. The understanding is that one team will be transferred to another meet.

Other teams in class D are Felch, Channing, Quinnesec, Powers, Nahma, Hermansville, Cooks and Harris.

Manistique officials explained they had thought the time for entering did not expire until in March.

Class C Cage Tourney Drawings on Saturday

Gladstone, Feb. 28—Pairings for the District 44 Class C basketball tournament to be held here next Friday and Saturday, March 8 and 9, will be made Saturday morning, it was announced yesterday by Principal C. C. Strickland.

Five schools, Rock, Narway, Vulcan, Stephenson and Gladstone, will compete for Class C honors in this district.

Last year's plan will be followed in drawings for the upper peninsula district meets with the two leading teams, based on season record of games in their own class, being placed top and bottom of the bracket. In determining the standings, schools are credited with one point for each victory scored over schools in its own class.

Thus, Norway with a record of five Class C victories will be accorded the No. 1, or top, seeded position, with Rock which has scored four victories getting the seeded post at the lower end of the bracket.

In a five-team bracket, Teams No. One, Four and Five draw byes, Team Two playing Team Three. No. One will play the winner of the only first round game with Team Four playing No. Five in the other second round battle.

Only those schools winning district tournaments will compete in the upper peninsula final tournament. This will result in four teams competing in each class, B, C and D. In the finals, drawings will be wide open in all classes.

A. W. Rudness and G. V. Hiney, both of Negaunee, have been selected as the officials to handel the local meet.

Ruth Gets Rousing Welcome in Boston

Boston, Feb. 28 (AP)—A wild eyed, cheering mob at the tiny Trinity place railroad station tonight almost lifted the roof as it welcomed Babe Ruth back to Boston after a 15-year absence.

Police kept most of the crowd on the upper level of the station but several hundreds managed to get down to the incoming platform where Police Commissioner Eugene M. McSweeney and Superintendent Martin H. King greeted Ruth.

Mrs .Ruth was presented with a bouquet of roses and went to the Copley Plaza hotel where the major events on the welcome Ruth program were to be held.

Babe Signs Contract

Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves, boarded the train at Providence and accompanied the new vice-president and assistant manager of the Boston National league club here.

Ruth and his party finally pushed through the swirling crowd and made their way to a hotel where the Bambino retired to wash off the stains of travel.

Then he sat down with President Fuchs and C. F. Adams, owners of the Braves, to sign the contract that guarantees him a salary of $25,000 for whatever playing he does, $5,000 for executive work and a share in the club's profits.

After the signing the Babe warily backed against a wall to take an onslaught of questions.

Where would be play? Wherever they needed him. But the sun field is out.

"I haven't played the sun field in 15 years," he said.

He thought he would be able to compete in 100 games.

"The only time I won't be in there is when I can't be."

He said he was in shape to play in the Braves' exhibition games.

Observers were of the opinion that Ruth, after this season, would become manager and that Bill McKechnie, present manager, would be given the post of general manager.

"How will you get along with McKechnie?" he was asked.

"I'll do whatever McKechnie wants me to do," the Babe replied.

"Will you become manager in 1936?"

"There is nothing definite about my managing the club in 1936."

"If McKechnie got through this season would you step in?"

"I suppose I'd have to."

Asked if he would invest in the Braves club, Ruth said it would be a matter of years before he would invest in the club and that then it would depend on how well the club was faring.

KINGSFORD AT 'STIQUE TONIGHT

Green and White Makes a Final Bid for Cage Loop Victory

Manistique.—A three game bill will be presented to local basketbal fans this evening when the Manistique high varsity closes its season with Kingsford as the visiting opposition. Two preliminary games will be offered, one the reserves and the tentative 1935-36 reserves to begin at 6:30 o'clock, and the other between Camp Manistique and Camp Polack Lake. The second preliminary will begin at 7:30 o'clock and the high school game will start at 8:30.

Wassberg's probable starting lineup is: Dettman at center, Stoor and Mattson, forwards, and Lesica and Anderson at the guard positions. In reserve there will be Eggertsen for center, LaMuth and Raredon, forwards, and Morrison and Bottrell, guards.

Dettman, Stoor, Mattson and Bottrell are seniors and this game will be their last appearance before the home town fans in high school uniforms.

Judging from the improved performances of the green and white varsity and a comparison of the records of the two schools the game tonight should be good. They seem evenly matched, at least on paper. Wassberg's new combination seems to be clicking and prospects for the first Northern Nine conference victory of the season are bright.

Tonight's game is the last of competitive play for the Manistique team before the opening of the Class B tournament at Kingsford at the end of the following week.

Trenary and Eben, Traditional Rivals, To Tangle Friday

Trenary, Mich., Feb. 28.—Trenary high school will play the last game of the year Friday when they meet their ancient rival, Eben, on the Eben floor in a game that should be a nip and tuck affair from start to finish. The reserves of the two schools will play the preliminary.

The Trenary quintet will probably present several new faces this week due to the poor showing that the Alger county boys made in Escanaba last week. Viton is almost sure to start at the right forward berth in place of Hill. The play of Viton, a freshman was the only bright spot in the play of the Orange and Black last week. McLaughlin will take over the left forward post with either Beltts or Quarfoote at center, Finlan will probably get the call at one guard with Trenary, Seppanen, and Hill fighting it out for the other position.

Heavy work was in order this week with particular stress being put on passing and pivot plays. The combination of Quarfoote, Viton, McLaughlin, Finlan and Hill has shown up the best this week. The shifting of Hill from forward to guard and the moving of Viton up to the front line should strengthen the offense. Hill is a valuable man on defense but seems to have lost his eye for the basket.

Trenary defeated Eben earlier in the year, 35-25, in a game that was all Trenary's the first half with the score 21-3 in their favor at half time. The second half was a different story with the Rock River boys pressing the Trenary boys all the way.

This game will mark the last appearance of Daniel Finlan and Rudolph Beltt in a Trenary uniform. Both of these boys are engaging in their fourth year of basketball. Beltts has developed into a high scoring center averaging well over ten points a game during the past season. Finlan is a boy who has come through as a guard during the past year in spite of his handicap of having to wear glasses when off the court.

Eben will probably start their veteran lineup of Ilka and Malenknecht forwards, with Spence center and Tumila and Mickelson at guards. Lampi, a forward is down in his studies and will not see action. Lynwood Collins of Forest Lake will handle the whistle.

ESKY ELKS GET BOWLING DELAY

Manistique Match Date Is Postponed, Will Give Locals Breather

On again, off again, Finnegan! The Escanaba-Manistique Elks bowling match will not be held next Monday, as it follows too closely upon the mid-season bowling party held by the Manistique Elks last night. Postponing the date of their revenge upon the Escanaba Elks is working a great hardship upon the Manistique pin smashing Elks but they console themselves with the thought that it will allow more ample opportunity for needed limbering up by the more decripit Escanabans.

Deciding upon a definite date for the renewal of hostilities between the two lodges requires the talents of a corps of trained diplomats and the patience of Job. However, federal authorities are being prevailed upon to settle the momentous question of the date and a conciliator from Washington, or at least the advance members of his staff are expected here at any moment to lay the necessary ground work for the taking of testimony and a decision will be rendered with the usual dispatch.

Next Monday is absolutely out (Escanaba Elks can be assured of that and perhaps get some sleep over the week-end) in the meantime every effort will be made to hold the event during the following week. In the meantime, the Manistique Elks are giving out the warning: "Escanaba, get yourselves in top-season form and prepare for a real shellacking, for we are determined to give you both barrels and the ramrod."

Official Baseball Movie Showing In Escanaba On May 4

"Play Ball", official motion picture of the American League, in which some of the best known popular players are seen in action, will be shown at the Delft theatre in Escanaba Saturday morning, May 4, under the auspices of the United Commercial Travelers, Escanaba council No. 616. Every boy in the city of Escanaba who is in or above the seventh grade in school will be a guest of the U. C. T. for this special movie.

Manager L. J. Jacobs of the Delft is cooperating with the travelers, and has agreed to run the picture feature twice, starting at 9 a. m. Tickets will be distributed to the boys in the junior high, senior high, St. Joseph's and St. Anne's schools.

The purpose of the picture is to stimulate the interest of youth in baseball as a game that sharpens wits and builds strong, healthy bodies, but the film is also of tremendous interest to adults as well as those of teen age. The first running of the picture here is expected to take care of the majority of the boys, and after the balance of the junior guests have been seated for the second running, those adults who wish to see the picture will be admitted.

Pictures of the individual stars will be shown in regular motion and also in slow motion, so that the boys may see just how each position is and should be played.

Communication

CITY GOVERNMENT

We have in this city many small home owners, persons who have no more than just their homes. They have worked hard and saved to get this home paid for.

The depression hit them and many of them have not been able to pay their taxes and consequently they are worried, particularly when they discover that regulations regarding distribution of relief discriminates against the home-owner.

Then when they realize that their property is pledged to pay all contracted debts of local or national character and when we are aware of this fact we naturally are looking for public officials who will use the utmost care in spending public tax as well as other money, and when such officials are found, I, at least, like to keep them in office (it having been proven that party politics are detrimental to economic administrations) and all taxpayers should be united in that purpose.

Whether or not the official is personally liked should not enter when this question is decided.

The question of public officials being taxpayers or renters has been up many times to wit: which should be preferred: Personally I prefer the taxpayer when fitness and aptness are equal. I will go further than that and say that a non-taxpayer should not have anything to do with taxation unless a taxpayer of equal ability can't be found to do the work. It is illogical to say the least, the reasons are very plain and need not be explained.

Yours for good economic government.

E. M. Johnson.

THEATRES

Finding one of these old-fashioned straw hats, formerly sported by horses and mules, necessitated a two-day search by the film property department, during the filming of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" now showing at the Rialto Theatre as the first feature of the senior class benefit show.

"Flirtation Walk," starring Ruby Keeler, Pat O'Brien and Dick Powell, is being shown as a second feature.

O. F. Widar left Monday evening for Chicago after spending the week-end here.

Junior Colleges Plan Tournament

Flint, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—Jackson, Grand Rapids and Ironwood stack up as favorites in the first annual Michigan junior college conference basketball tournament to be held here Friday and Saturday.

The other six schools entered are Muskegon, Bay City, Highland Park, Pontiac, Port Huron and Flint. First round play is scheduled for Friday afternoon, with Port Huron meeting Highland Park. The other teams drew byes.

Friday night, the schedule calls for Flint to meet Pontiac; Grand Rapids to play Jackson; Ironwood to meet the winner of the Highland Park-Port Huron game, and Muskegon to play Bay City. Semifinal games will be played Saturday morning and the deciding game Saturday night.

Cubs Will Begin Training Today

Los Angeles, Feb. 28. (AP)—Twenty seven members of the Chicago Cubs of the National baseball league arrived today in charge of Manager Charlie Grimm and a trainer and two coaches.

The players proceeded by boat to Santa Catalina Island where they will begin spring training tomorrow. Manager Grimm said all members of the squad were in good condition except Charles Klein, who has not recovered from an attack of influenza.

The Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific coast league sent four young pitchers to the island to work with the Cubs in batting practice.

Montreal Maroons Whip Rangers, 5-2

New York, Feb. 28 (AP)—In a "preview" of their possible meeting in the National Hockey league play-offs ,the Montreal Maroons whipped the New York Rangers 5 to 2 tonight in their final meeting of the regular season. The Rangers were left tied with Chicago for the American division lead.

The Maroons scored twice in the first period, then protected their lead with smart defensive play until they were able to break away from New York's desperate third period assault to rap in three more tallies.

The Rangers reduced their deficit to one goal when Bill Cook converted a double pass from Brother Bunny and Frank Boucher, but Montreal pulled away again when Jimmy Ward and Bob Gracie broke loose for solo goals 25 seconds apart. Gracie scored again for Montreal while Baldy Northcott and Herb Cain sank the first two tallies. Cecil Dillon scored the second Ranger counter

Guy Knutson Gets Perfect Cribbage Hand—4 5's, Nobs

Guy Knutson, 1211 Seventh avenue south, last night became the third Escanaba cribbage player in recent weeks to catch a perfect hand.

Knutson was playing with John Langenfeld and Gunnar Nelson and was dealt three fives and the jack of diamonds. The "cut" turned up the five of diamonds.

It was the only time that Knutson had ever held a perfect hand which counts 29 points figured at 16 points for the combinations of 15's, 12 points for the four fives and an additional point for "Nobs."

Tigers Start South For Spring Training

Detroit, Feb. 28. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, officially start south tonight for their spring training trip.

Arthur T. Sheahan, road secretary, and three players left for Lakeland, Fla., where Mickey Cochrane, manager, and several other Bengals already are acquiring a tan in preparation for the training grind.

Players leaving tonight were Elon Hogsett, left handed pitcher, Frank Reiber, rookie catcher, and Mike Cesenover, rookie pitcher from Cleveland who is being given a trial. Other batterymen will proceed to Lakeland from their homes in various parts of the country.

Luke Hamlin, right handed hurler injured recently in an automobile accident, will delay his departure. The catchers and pitchers will start working out Monday, with infielders and outfielders scheduled to start a week later.

Babe Herman Begins Season With Homer

San Bernardino, Calif., Feb. 28. (AP)—Babe Herman, recent acquisition from the Chicago Cubs, clouted one of Jim Weaver's offerings over the right field fence for a home run today as the Pittsburgh Pirates ended their third day of spring training. Weaver also is a former Cub performer.

The main group of Pirates will arrive next Tuesday with Hans Wagner.

Junior Rifle Club Defeats Senior B's

The Escanaba junior rifle club defeated the B team of the senior club, 998 to 986, in a meet at the indoor rifle range here last night. It was the first meet for the junior riflists. Next week, Tuesday, they will have a match with the Bark River club.

All boys interested in joining the club are asked to get in touch with Phil Bruce, club instructor, or Maurice Krummel, secretary. The club is affiliated with the National Rifle Association.

Rapid River Ends Season At Cooks

Rapid River, Feb. 28 (Special)—The Rapid River high school basketball team winds up its successful season at Cooks Friday night. After the victory Wednesday night more fighting spirit has been accomplished.

The Cooks team has some very tall men, and the smaller men are very fast. Cooks has only been successful twice in the last four years in handing the Sawmilltowners a defeat. The Cooks team took a week's rest for staleness. This may prove harmful.

The probable starting lineup for Rapid River will be Nygren and Christoff, forwards; LaBumbard, center, and Miller and Cavill, guards. Others who may see action are Short, Ebbesen, Peterson, Maki and Archambeau.

The reserve teams from each school will clash in a preliminary. Rapid River is looking forward to and hoping for a double victory.

RECORD CROWD TO SEE GAME

Freshman College Game Starts at 6:30 and Reserves Follow

In a background featuring traditional rivalry and a record-breaking crowd of wild-eyed, cheering basketball fans, Escanaba and Gladstone high school cagers will ring down the curtain of their regular basketball seasons tonight at the junior high school gymnasium in a game for which fans of both cities have been waiting several weeks. In two preliminary games, the local Freshman college cagers will meet the powerful Norway frosh in a fray starting promptly at 6:30 o'clock, and the Eskymo reserves will play the Upbay seconds immediately following.

Stage All Set

The stage is all set for the cage classic of the year. Local school officials are prepared to handle the largest crowd ever to pack the junior high school gym. The advance sale of reserved seats has been very brisk, despite which fact, there are some left which may be procured by calling the senior high school, phone 706. It was announced yesterday from the principal's office that student tickets will not be sold at the door.

After a week of good, hard practice in which the boys displayed plenty of spirit and determination to avenge the defeat handed them by the Keilmen in their first encounter of the year, Coach Carl Nordberg's crew appears to be in the best of condition, both physically and mentally. Psychologically, the advantage, if any, lies with the Eskymos because of the fact that they have already suffered defeat at the hands of Gladstone and their only thought in mind is to reverse the situation tonight. The Keilmen, on the other hand, already have one victory and will be expected to repeat, a fact that may work to their advantage.

Nordberg Experiments

Nordberg has been experimenting this week with a few changes in line-up and, although he probably will stand pat on at least four of his usual starting members, it is more than likely that the fifth position will see a new face, and that the whole team will be shifted around considerably. It is almost certain that the starting lineup will include: Jensen, Beaudin, Anderson and Christensen. Who will be the fifth man will probably not be known until game time.

The first game of the evening will bring to Escanaba the mighty Norway frosh in the clash with the local Freshman college crew. In view of the close game played in the previous encounter between the two reserve teams, it is expected that the Escanaba-Gladstone reserve game, which follows the frosh game, will also furnish plenty of action.

Paul Ritzman, of Ishpeming, and A. W. Rudness, of Negaunee, will handle the feature game, while Floyd Geraldeau, of Gladstone, and Leon Schram, of this city, will officiate both preliminary games.

UPBAYS READY

Gladstone, Mich. — Coach Keil's Gladstone high school cagers are primed and ready for their invasion of Escanaba tonight when they will tackle Coach Nordberg's squad for the second time this season. It will be the final game on the regular schedule of the locals.

If performances in practice sessions this week may be taken as an indication, the Keilmen look like they will have a fair chance of chalking up another double victory this season.

Season's records favor the Nordmen somewhat, but this cannot be taken into consideration when the two schools clash because of the intense rivalry existing.

Big Johnny Swan will be at the pivot post with McIntyre and Fisher at forward and Miller and Wilbee at guard.

Games will be played in the morning while the ice is still firm and the opener will be started at 9:15 o'clock. The first game will be between the Bone Breakers and the Dynamiters while the Indians, league pacesetters, and the Ice Crackers will clash in the windup.

Communication

CITY GOVERNMENT

We have in this city many small home owners, persons who have no more than just their homes. They have worked hard and saved to get this home paid for.

The depression hit them and many of them have not been able to pay their taxes and consequently they are worried, particularly when they discover that regulations regarding distribution of relief discriminates against the home-owner.

Then when they realize that their property is pledged to pay all contracted debts of local or national character and when we are aware of this fact we naturally are looking for public officials who will use the utmost care in spending public tax as well as other money, and when such officials are found, I, at least, like to keep them in office (it having been proven that party politics are detrimental to economic administrations) and all taxpayers should be united in that purpose.

Whether or not the official is personally liked should not enter when this question is decided.

The question of public officials being taxpayers or renters has been up many times to wit: which should be preferred: Personally I prefer the taxpayer when fitness and aptness are equal. I will go further than that and say that a non-taxpayer should not have anything to do with taxation unless a taxpayer of equal ability can't be found to do the work. It is illogical to say the least, the reasons are very plain and need not be explained.

Yours for good economic government,

E. M. Johnson.

THEATRES

Finding one of these old-fashioned straw hats, formerly sported by horses and mules, necessitated a two-day search by the film property department, during the filming of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" now showing at the Rialto Theatre as the first feature of the senior class benefit show.

"Flirtation Walk," starring Ruby Keeler, Pat O'Brien and Dick Powell, is being shown as a second feature.

O. F. Widar left Monday evening for Chicago after spending the week-end here.

Schoolcrafters Will Be One of Four Teams In Class B

Manistique, Feb. 25 (Special)—Two delayed entries in the Kingsford district high school basketball tournament have solved one problem of officials and created another. Manistique, in Class B, and Rapid River, in class D, are the teams.

Announcement of Manistique's entry gives the tourney a perfect class B plat of four teams, providing two first round games and the championship tussle. Other teams in the division are Iron Mountain, Escanaba and Kingsford.

Rapid River's entry in Class D, however, gives that division one too many teams, making the total nine. Only eight can be accommodated and Principal F. D. Davidson has asked State Director of Athletics C. E. Forsythe for directions. Forsythe instructed him to communicate if more than eight clubs entered. The understanding is that one team will be transferred to another meet.

Other teams in class D are Felch, Channing, Quinnesec, Powers, Nahma, Hermansville, Cooks and Harris.

Manistique officials explained they had thought the time for entering did not expire until in March.

Junior Colleges Plan Tournament

Flint, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—Jackson, Grand Rapids and Ironwood stack up as favorites in the first annual Michigan junior college conference basketball tournament to be held here Friday and Saturday.

The other six schools entered are Muskegon, Bay City, Highland Park, Pontiac, Port Huron and Flint. First round play is scheduled for Friday afternoon, with Port Huron meeting Highland Park. The other teams drew byes.

Friday night, the schedule calls for Flint to meet Pontiac; Grand Rapids to play Jackson; Ironwood to meet the winner of the Highland Park-Port Huron game, and Muskegon to play Bay City. Semifinal games will be played Saturday morning and the deciding game Saturday night.

Cubs Will Begin Training Today

Los Angeles, Feb. 28. (AP)—Twenty seven members of the Chicago Cubs of the National baseball league arrived today in charge of Manager Charlie Grimm and a trainer and two coaches.

The players proceeded by boat to Santa Catalina Island where they will begin spring training tomorrow. Manager Grimm said all members of the squad were in good condition except Charles Klein, who has not recovered from an attack of influenza.

The Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific coast league sent four young pitchers to the island to work with the Cubs in batting practice.

Montreal Maroons Whip Rangers, 5-2

New York, Feb. 28 (AP)—In a "preview" of their possible meeting in the National Hockey league play-offs ,the Montreal Maroons whipped the New York Rangers 5 to 2 tonight in their final meeting of the regular season. The Rangers were left tied with Chicago for the American division lead.

The Maroons scored twice in the first period, then protected their lead with smart defensive play until they were able to break away from New York's desperate third period assault to rap in three more tallies.

The Rangers reduced their deficit to one goal when Bill Cook converted a double pass from Brother Bunny and Frank Boucher, but Montreal pulled away again when Jimmy Ward and Bob Gracie broke loose for solo goals 25 seconds apart. Gracie scored again for Montreal while Baldy Northcott and Herb Cain sank the first two tallies. Cecil Dillon scored the second Ranger counter

Class C Cage Tourney Drawings on Saturday

Gladstone, Feb. 28—Pairings for the District 44 Class C basketball tournament to be held here next Friday and Saturday, March 8 and 9, will be made Saturday morning, it was announced yesterday by Principal C. C. Strickland.

Five schools, Rock, Narway, Vulcan, Stephenson and Gladstone, will compete for Class C honors in this district.

Last year's plan will be followed in drawings for the upper peninsula district meets with the two leading teams, based on season record of games in their own class, being placed top and bottom of the bracket. In determining the standings, schools are credited with one point for each victory scored over schools in its own class.

Thus, Norway with a record of five Class C victories will be accorded the No. 1, or top, seeded position, with Rock which has scored four victories getting the seeded post at the lower end of the bracket.

In a five-team bracket, Teams No. One, Four and Five draw byes, Team Two playing Team Three. No. One will play the winner of the only first round game with Team Four playing No. Five in the other second round battle.

Only those schools winning district tournaments will compete in the upper peninsula final tournament. This will result in four teams competing in each class, B, C and D. In the finals, drawings will be wide open in all classes.

A. W. Rudness and G. V. Hiney, both of Negaunee, have been selected as the officials to handel the local meet.

Ruth Gets Rousing Welcome in Boston

Boston, Feb. 28 (AP)—A wild eyed, cheering mob at the tiny Trinity place railroad station tonight almost lifted the roof as it welcomed Babe Ruth back to Boston after a 15-year absence.

Police kept most of the crowd on the upper level of the station but several hundreds managed to get down to the incoming platform where Police Commissioner Eugene M. McSweeney and Superintendent Martin H. King greeted Ruth.

Mrs .Ruth was presented with a bouquet of roses and went to the Copley Plaza hotel where the major events on the welcome Ruth program were to be held.

Babe Signs Contract

Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves, boarded the train at Providence and accompanied the new vice-president and assistant manager of the Boston National league club here.

Ruth and his party finally pushed through the swirling crowd and made their way to a hotel where the Bambino retired to wash off the stains of travel.

Then he sat down with President Fuchs and C. F. Adams, owners of the Braves, to sign the contract that guarantees him a salary of $25,000 for whatever playing he does, $5,000 for executive work and a share in the club's profits.

After the signing the Babe warily backed against a wall to take an onslaught of questions.

Where would be play? Wherever they needed him. But the sun field is out.

"I haven't played the sun field in 15 years," he said.

He thought he would be able to compete in 100 games.

"The only time I won't be in there is when I can't be."

He said he was in shape to play in the Braves' exhibition games.

Observers were of the opinion that Ruth, after this season, would become manager and that Bill McKechnie, present manager, would be given the post of general manager.

"How will you get along with McKechnie?" he was asked.

"I'll do whatever McKechnie wants me to do," the Babe replied.

"Will you become manager in 1936?"

"There is nothing definite about my managing the club in 1936."

"If McKechnie got through this season would you step in?"

"I suppose I'd have to."

Asked if he would invest in the Braves club, Ruth said it would be a matter of years before he would invest in the club and that then it would depend on how well the club was faring.

Guy Knutson Gets Perfect Cribbage Hand—4 5's, Nobs

Guy Knutson, 1211 Seventh avenue south, last night became the third Escanaba cribbage player in recent weeks to catch a perfect hand.

Knutson was playing with John Langenfeld and Gunnar Nelson and was dealt three fives and the jack of diamonds. The "cut" turned up the five of diamonds.

It was the only time that Knutson had ever held a perfect hand which counts 29 points figured at 16 points for the combinations of 15's, 12 points for the four fives and an additional point for "Nobs."

Tigers Start South For Spring Training

Detroit, Feb. 28, (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, officially start south tonight for their spring training trip.

Arthur T. Sheahan, road secretary, and three players left for Lakeland, Fla., where Mickey Cochrane, manager, and several other Bengals already are acquiring a tan in preparation for the training grind.

Players leaving tonight were Elon Hogsett, left handed pitcher, Frank Reiber, rookie catcher, and Mike Cesenover, rookie pitcher from Cleveland who is being given a trial. Other batterymen will proceed to Lakeland from their homes in various parts of the country.

Luke Hamlin, right handed hurler injured recently in an automobile accident, will delay his departure. The catchers and pitchers will start working out Monday, with infielders and outfielders scheduled to start a week later.

Babe Herman Begins Season With Homer

San Bernardino, Calif., Feb. 28. (AP)—Babe Herman, recent acquisition from the Chicago Cubs, clouted one of Jim Weaver's offerings over the right field fence for a home run today as the Pittsburgh Pirates ended their third day of spring training. Weaver also is a former Cub performer.

The main group of Pirates will arrive next Tuesday with Hans Wagner.

Junior Rifle Club Defeats Senior B's

The Escanaba junior rifle club defeated the B team of the senior club, 998 to 986, in a meet at the indoor rifle range here last night. It was the first meet for the junior riflists. Next week, Tuesday, they will have a match with the Bark River club.

All boys interested in joining the club are asked to get in touch with Phil Bruce, club instructor, or Maurice Krummel, secretary. The club is affiliated with the National Rifle Association.

KINGSFORD AT 'STIQUE TONIGHT

Green and White Makes a Final Bid for Cage Loop Victory

Manistique.—A three game bill will be presented to local basketbal fans this evening when the Manistique high varsity closes its season with Kingsford as the visiting opposition. Two preliminary games will be offered, one the reserves and the tentative 1935-36 reserves to begin at 6:30 o'clock, and the other between Camp Manistique and Camp Polack Lake. The second preliminary will begin at 7:30 o'clock and the high school game will start at 8:30.

Wassberg's probable starting lineup is: Dettman at center, Stoor and Mattson, forwards, and Lesica and Anderson at the guard positions. In reserve there will be Eggertsen for center, LaMuth and Raredon, forwards, and Morrison and Bottrell, guards.

Dettman, Stoor, Mattson and Bottrell are seniors and this game will be their last appearance before the home town fans in high school uniforms.

Judging from the improved performances of the green and white varsity and a comparison of the records of the two schools the game tonight should be good. They seem evenly matched, at least on paper. Wassberg's new combination seems to be clicking and prospects for the first Northern Nine conference victory of the season are bright.

Tonight's game is the last of competitive play for the Manistique team before the opening of the Class B tournament at Kingsford at the end of the following week.

Trenary and Eben, Traditional Rivals, To Tangle Friday

Trenary, Mich., Feb. 28.—Trenary high school will play the last game of the year Friday when they meet their ancient rival, Eben, on the Eben floor in a game that should be a nip and tuck affair from start to finish. The reserves of the two schools will play the preliminary.

The Trenary quintet will probably present several new faces this week due to the poor showing that the Alger county boys made in Escanaba last week. Viton is almost sure to start at the right forward berth in place of Hill. The play of Viton, a freshman was the only bright spot in the play of the Orange and Black last week. McLaughlin will take over the left forward post with either Beltts or Quarfoote at center, Finlan will probably get the call at one guard with Trenary, Seppanen, and Hill fighting it out for the other position.

Heavy work was in order this week with particular stress being put on passing and pivot plays. The combination of Quarfoote, Viton, McLaughlin, Finlan and Hill has shown up the best this week. The shifting of Hill from forward to guard and the moving of Viton up to the front line should strengthen the offense. Hill is a valuable man on defense but seems to have lost his eye for the basket.

Trenary defeated Eben earlier in the year, 35-25, in a game that was all Trenary's the first half with the score 21-3 in their favor at half time. The second half was a different story with the Rock River boys pressing the Trenary boys all the way.

This game will mark the last appearance of Daniel Finlan and Rudolph Beltt in a Trenary uniform. Both of these boys are engaging in their fourth year of basketball. Beltts has developed into a high scoring center averaging well over ten points a game during the past season. Finlan is a boy who has come through as a guard during the past year in spite of his handicap of having to wear glasses when off the court.

Eben will probably start their veteran lineup of Ilkka and Malenknecht forwards, with Spence center and Tumila and Mickelson at guards. Lampi, a forward is down in his studies and will not see action. Lynwood Collins of Forest Lake will handle the whistle.

Rapid River Ends Season At Cooks

Rapid River, Feb. 28 (Special)—The Rapid River high school basketball team winds up its successful season at Cooks Friday night. After he victory Wednesday night more fighting spirit has been accomplished.

ESKY ELKS GET BOWLING DELAY

Manistique Match Date Is Postponed, Will Give Locals Breather

On again, off again, Finnegan! The Escanaba-Manistique Elks bowling match will not be held next Monday, as it follows too closely upon the mid-season bowling party held by the Manistique Elks last night. Postponing the date of their revenge upon the Escanaba Elks is working a great hardship upon the Manistique pin smashing Elks but they console themselves with the thought that it will allow more ample opportunity for needed limbering up by the more decripit Escanabans.

Deciding upon a definite date for the renewal of hostilities between the two lodges requires the talents of a corps of trained diplomats and the patience of Job. However, federal authorities are being prevailed upon to settle the momentous question of the date and a conciliator from Washington, or at least the advance members of his staff are expected here at any moment to lay the necessary ground work for the taking of testimony and a decision will be rendered with the usual dispatch.

Next Monday is absolutely out (Escanaba Elks can be assured of that and perhaps get some sleep over the week-end) in the meantime every effort will be made to hold the event during the following week. In the meantime, the Manistique Elks are giving out the warning: "Escanaba, get yourselves in top-season form and prepare for a real shellacking, for we are determined to give you both barrels and the ramrod."

Official Baseball Movie Showing In Escanaba On May 4

"Play Ball", official motion picture of the American League, in which some of the best known popular players are seen in action, will be shown at the Delft theatre in Escanaba Saturday morning, May 4, under the auspices of the United Commercial Travelers, Escanaba council No. 616. Every boy in the city of Escanaba who is in or above the seventh grade in school will be a guest of the U. C. T. for this special movie.

Manager L. J. Jacobs of the Delft is cooperating with the travelers, and has agreed to run the picture feature twice, starting at 9 a. m. Tickets will be distributed to the boys in the junior high, senior high, St. Joseph's and St. Anne's schools.

The purpose of the picture is to stimulate the interest of youth in baseball as a game that sharpens wits and builds strong, healthy bodies, but the film is also of tremendous interest to adults as well as those of teen age. The first running of the picture here is expected to take care of the majority of the boys, and after the balance of the junior guests have been seated for the second running, those adults who wish to see the picture will be admitted.

Pictures of the individual stars will be shown in regular motion and also in slow motion, so that the boys may see just how each position is and should be played.

IRON MOUNTAIN DEBATE WINNER

Gladstone Trio Defeated In Very Close Contest Here

Gladstone.—The Iron Mountain high school affirmative debate team won a close decision over the Gladstone negative trio at the Gladstone high school last evening. The question argued concerns the advisability of federal grants to assist in equalization of educational opportunity.

Prof. Gunther C. Meyland, lone critic-judge, scored the teams equal on knowledge of subject, analysis of case and delivery but gave the Iron Mountain trio an edge on technique and rebuttal.

The winning negative trio consisted of Ward Ahlquist, Mary Harvey and Osborn Davidson and the Gladstone affirmative team included Mary Krueger, Eleanor O'Brien and Linda Jackson.

The victory placed Iron Mountain in the finals of the upper peninsula competition where they will meet the winner of the Hancock-Dollar Bay debate.

Later the rise reached the upper twenties, and the warm sun caused some thawing on the streets.

Robert Wood, Young Dramatic Artist, To Give Exhibit Monday

Robert Wood, a versatile young cartoonist-entertainer, will be featured in a program entitled, "Dramatic Adventures With Chalk," at the senior high school auditorium, 11 o'clock Monday morning.

Wood, who is still in his early twenties and who has been a student at the Art Institute at Chicago, is a brilliant artist and a fine dramatic reader. A cartoonist, he draws in colors and brings his coloring to its best advantage with the use of lighting effects, consisting of flood lamps and other electrical appliances, controlled by his own special switchboard.

In addition to his ability as an artist, Wood is a dramatic reader of no little note. He gives readings of humor, drama, pathos and romance as he sketches.

Sow Oats Early This Year, Advice Of Farm Experts

This year a good many farmers will have to fit their farming methods to the kinds of seed they are able to get. This spring when many farmers will have to plant oats shipped in from states to the north—where the days are longer during the growing season—it will pay to sow oats as early as it is possible and practical to prepare a satisfactory seed bed.

This is the general advice given to farmers by T. R. Stanton, oats specialist in the U. S. department of agriculture. The disadvantage of unadapted seed may be offset to some extent, says Mr. Stanton, by getting seed into the ground as early as good judgment allows. This will give the benefit of growth under the cooler weather of early spring. The greatest danger to oats from weather usually comes from hot weather as they approach maturity. They seldom are damaged by freezes after the seed is sown. Oats of the later maturing varieties will need every favorable growing day this spring if they are to make a good yield next summer. Early sowing also helps the plants es-

Township Has Task Spending Its Tax Money

Midland, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—Porter township, risen from a quiet farming community to a bustling oil field since last July, has money coming in from taxes faster than officials can find ways to spend it.

They thought they had the problem solved this year when it became necessary to move the old town hall to make way for an oil well. They built a new, $20,000 structure and paid cash for it. Other improvements made in the scattered community absorbed more of the revenue but still the wells pumped on, bringing in tax revenue at the rate of $150 a day.

$50,000 Surplus

The township, which produces more than half the oil in Michigan, gets forty per cent of the tax collected by the state from producers. In addition, it gets royalty from the "town hall lease," where a well was brought in to produce 100 barrels a day.

Just this week, Supervisor Elmer Gorsuch said, the state paid into the township treasury $30,350 to swell its revenues since last July to $85,000.

Now, with $50,000 on hand, the township board has called for an election to decide whether rural electric lines shall be constructed along 42 miles of township roads so that farmers of the township may have electric power. The election will be held March 4.

Construction of the lines will cost about $1,000 a mile, so the treasury balance will shrink considerably. The trouble with that idea, though, the officials admit is that 250 farmers who have agreed to connect to the lines will pay $100 each for the service, and $25,000 will come rolling back into the treasury.

Telephone Detects "Robbery" In Store

Summoned to the Carlson grocery, 1408 Eighth avenue south, by a night telephone operator who reported the telephone receiver down and sounds of a disturbance coming over the wire, officers of the Escanaba police department investigated and found that the marauder was a cat.

Left in the store over night, the cat had tipped over the telephone while on a tour of inspection, and made the "footsteps" which were heard at the central office.

Detroit Red Wings Crush Blackhawks

Detroit, Feb. 28 (AP)—Flashing the form that carried them to the top last winter, Detroit's Red Wings defeated the Chicago Blackhawks 5 to 1 here tonight in a National Hockey league match.

The Wings outskated and outplayed the Chicago club throughout. In the Wing net Normie Smith played brilliantly, but Lorne Chabot, usually classy Hawk net minder, looked decidedly off color through most of the match.

The Hawks took a lead on March goal in the opening period but Sorrell evened it up. Tied up as the second period opened, the Wings scored three goals while Morenz was serving a major for drawing blood from Bowman's forehead in a stiff check. Wiseman, Aurie and Sorrell tallied the goals. Bowman was sent off for tripping, and while he was in the box Aurie got another goal, unassisted, the final tally of the game.

Throughout the third period the Wings tight defense allowed the Hawks only seven shots, although three Detroit players were sent off for minor infractions.

Sorrell had two goals and as many assists for his evening's work, while Goodfellow contributed three assists.

RANGER STATIONS PLACED

Ironwood—Ranger stations will be established at Bessemer, Wakefield, Marenisco, Bergland and Ontonagon by the United States forest service, it was announced today by L. S. Bean, supervisor of Ottawa national forest. Stations already have been established at Watersmeet, Iron River and Kenton, two operating at the latter point.

Frank Legat will be assigned to Wakefield, Mel Cummins to Marenisco, Joseph Blake to Bergland and Fred Pierce to Ontonagon, said Mr. Bean.

Wally Berger of the Boston Braves last season for the first time in his big league career failed to hit at least .300, but nevertheless ranked third in the league in runs batted in.

YOUTHS IN CCC GAIN IN WEIGHT

Michigan Area Enrollees Take on Average of 6 Pounds in Month

Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work, has announced that a recent survey conducted by the office of the surgeon general of the war department indicated that the average young man who enrolls in the Civilian Conservation Corps gains from seven to eleven pounds during his first two months in camp.

The war department survey referred to by Director Fechner was initiated on October 1, 1934, at the beginning of the fourth six-month period of emergency conservation work. At the direction of the office of the surgeon general, army medical officers in each of the nine army corps areas selected several hundred new enrollees at random and registered their weights as of the first day they entered the CCC camps. The men picked for the tests were weighed again at the end of the first month and at the end of the second month of enrollment. The tests showed that the average enrollee had gained from four to seven pounds during his first month in the corps, and from two and a half to four and a half pounds during his second month.

The greatest weight gains were registered in the Eighth Corps Area, embracing Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and Wyoming. Records forwarded to Washington from this corps area showed that the average weight gain for 160 enrollees was 6.91 ponuds for the first month and 4.32 pounds for the second month, an aggregate of 11.23 pounds for the two months covered by the survey.

In the Sixth Corps Area, which includes Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, the enrollees tested gained an average of 6.04 pounds during the first month and 3.72 during the second, making a total of 9.76 pounds.

Bids For Forestry Offices Are Opened

Bids for the rental of offices to the U. S. Forest Service at Iron River and Ironwood in the Ottawa National Forest were opened at the headquarters offices here yesterday. The bids were then forwarded to the regional office at Milwaukee for further consideration.

L. S. Bean, the new supervisor of the Ottawa National Forest, came from Ironwood yesterday in connection with the bids.

Floyd T. Roberts, formerly of Rapid River, is the ranger in charge of the Iron River district office. Roberts attended Michigan State college, and following graduation entered the employ of the U. S. Forest Service in the west. A short time ago, he returned to Rapid River to work in the Hiawatha forest, and early this month was transferred to the Otawa forest. Rangers' offices are being set up in the Ottawa forest at Iron River, Watersmeet and Kenton.

MANY ATTEND SCOUT RALLY

Approximately Two Hundred Youths Enjoy Huge Meeting

Approximately 200 boys made merry for more than three hours at the huge Scout rally at the city hall last evening. The major portion of the evening was taken up with the awarding of honors to Boy Scouts, Sea Scouts and Cubs after which a program of entertainment was presented and refreshments were served. Sea Scouts were hosts of the evening, furnishing the cats and putting on the program, while the city firemen aided with the serving of the refreshments.

Awards to the various Scouts were made by the following: D. D. Prust, Bert Jacobson, Dr. Fred Hirn, Dale Vinette, Willard Nordby, G. Jacobson, O. V. Thatcher, E. J. Vinette, Jack Floyd, Otto Scheriff, Carl J. Sawyer, Reino Kujala, Les Kleinhans, John Pearson, Albin Larson and Charles Jacobson.

Honors won by the individuals follow: Mark Valind, pathfinding; Palmer Derouin, swimming; James Olson, pathfinding; Junior Winters, metal work and bird study; James Wilson, ordinary sea scouting; Bob Gannon, apprentice and salesmanship; Dale Vinette, silver palm and able scout badge; Joe Spangler, apprentice; Stan Drake, 150 hour cruise; Dale Vinette, 50 hour cruise; Kenneth Gallagher, 50 hour cruise; Bertie Jacobson, ship committeeman; George Jacobson, skipper; Nick Thiry (lone scout) first aid and physical development; William Moras, first class; Phil Beauchamp, tenderfoot; Tom Seymour, 75 hour civil service; Harold LaFond, tenderfoot; Clyde Cox, basketry; Pete MacDonald, tenderfoot; Art Hart, tenderfoot; Francis Roy, second class; Gordan Larson, Eagle award.

Merit badges were awarded as follows: James L'Heureux, reading; Meyer Stein, life scout, first aid and physical development; Kenneth Wedell, personal health; Donald Campbell, star scout and scholarship.

The musical portion of the program consisted of the following numbers: accordion and harmonica solo by Bill Moras; guitar and vocal solo by Al Steed. In the boxing matches, Gallagher met Vanlester while Perrin tangled with Garrett.

The evening was a very hilarious and entertaining one for all the boys and Scout officials wish to apologize to the parents for keeping the boys so late, but point out that most of the boys were having such an enjoyable evening that they were loath to leave.

White horses are black when they are born and only in a very few instances has a pure white colt been foaled.

IRON MOUNTAIN DEBATE WINNER

Gladstone Trio Defeated In Very Close Contest Here

Gladstone.—The Iron Mountain high school affirmative debate team won a close decision over the Gladstone negative trio at the Gladstone high school last evening. The question argued concerns the advisability of federal grants to assist in equalization of educational opportunity.

Prof. Gunther C. Meyland, lone critic-judge, scored the teams equal on knowledge of subject, analysis of case and delivery but gave the Iron Mountain trio an edge on technique and rebuttal.

The winning negative trio consisted of Ward Ahlquist, Mary Harvey and Osborn Davidson and the Gladstone affirmative team included Mary Krueger, Eleanor O'Brien and Linda Jackson.

The victory placed Iron Mountain in the finals of the upper peninsula competition where they will meet the winner of the Hancock-Dollar Bay debate.

Police in Accident—Enroute to St. Francis hospital with Eugene Beck, who was seriously ill, the Escanaba police department car collided with an Escanaba-Gladstone bus Wednesday night about 10:20. The accident occurred in the 600 block on South Fourteenth street, just as the bus, driven by Henry Grenier, was swinging away from the curb after discharging a passenger. No one was injured, but both car and bus carried marks of the crash. Officer Bernard Schram was driving the police car.

RECOUNT LAW CHANGE UP TO STATE VOTERS

BY SAM B. McCOOL
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—Michigan voters next April will have an opportunity to remove recount disputes from the jurisdiction of the legislature.

A joint resolution initiating an amendment to the constitution to place election disputes in the hands of the state board of canvassers sped through the legislature today. It will be placed on the April election ballot.

The deadline for the certification of constitutional amendments for the spring election is Saturday when the legislature is in adjournment, but Orville E. Atwood, secretary of state, said he would receive measures early next week if authorized by the legislature. A proposal to divide the city of Detroit into five legislative districts passed the senate and was sent to the house today.

Pay Raise Refused

The senate adopted the recount constitutional proposal by a unanimous vote. It had originated in the house. It provides that the board of canvassers assume jurisdiction in election disputes under regulations prescribed by the legislature.

Under the present constitutional provision, the legislature is the final judge of the outcome in a contest for an "important" office. It was under this provision that the Democratic controlled legislature in a special "joint convention" authorized the recount of last December in Detroit.

Before adjourning until next Tuesday night, the legislature acted on another administration measure. The senate, without a dissenting vote, sent to the house Governor Fitzgerald's proposal to abolish the Michigan securities commission.

Meanwhile the house rejected by a vote of 37 to 28 a proposal to increase the governor's salary to $15,000 a year. The vote was reconsidered, however, and the measure may come up again.

Senator M. Harold Saur, of Kent City, offered a bill appropriating $40,000,000 a year to needy districts less primary fund revenues estimated at $12,500,000 to $15,000,000. A similar bill is in the house.

An investigation of the oil industry of Michigan was demanded in a resolution offered by Senator Joseph A. Baldwin, Republican, Albion. The measure charged there is a monopoly in the industry which endangers the existence of 300 independent concerns. The inquiry would be made by a committee of four representatives and three senators.

A concurrent resolution directing the state board of tax administration to collect a three per cent retail sales tax on all liquor sold since it first became legal in Michigan was submitted by Rep. George E. Teachout, Democrat, Flint. The resolution provides that the revenue would go to primary schools.

Reps. Leonard A. Jurkiewicz and Joseph C. Murphy, Democrats, introduced a bill which would force candidates for pub-

FOUR ARRESTED IN STOCK FRAUD

Thousands Swindled in Detroit, Prosecutor Declares

Detroit, Feb. 28 (AP)—Four men, who with seven others are charged with conspiring to defraud stock purchasers of more than $400,000, were arrested today by detectives from the office of Duncan C. McCrea, Wayne county prosecutor. The total loss, Prosecutor McCrea said, will total $1,650,000.

Those arrested on warrants recommended by McCrea are: Albert R. Moore, president of the American Malting Co., and the Empire Development Co.; Charles J. Higgins, former secretary of the defunct Detroit Mortgage Co.; Auguts H. Ekhardt, president of the Ekhardt & Becker Brewing Co.; and Hugh A. Ormand, a director in the Ekhardt & Becker firm.

Thousands Swindled

The warrants, signed by Judge John P. Scallen, of recorder's court, also named George Nadell, Ralph Nadell, Walter A. Frederick, Leroy K. Chamblin, Richard W. Flaherty, E. H. Herman and Martin E. Galvin.

Offices of four corporations were raided and records seized They were the American Malting Co., the Continental Malt Co., the Empire Development Co., and the Ekhardt & Becker Brewing Co. Twelve men, describing themselves as securities salesmen, were taken to police headquarters and questioned. They expersed ignorance of the charges against the concerns.

"It is obvious from our investigation," Prosecutor McCrea said, "that thousands of Detroiters have been swindled due in no small degree to lax investigation if nothing else, on the part of the Michigan state securities commission. Agents of the commission have sought to retard this investigation."

McCrea said more warrants may be issued shortly.

Payment of condemnation awards by the city figure in the investigation and Mayor Frank Couzens said he will immediately begin an inquiry.

Minnesota Farmers Want More Relief

St. Paul, Feb. 28 (AP)—Leaders of Minnesota farmers, seeking relief for themselves and suffering livestock, warned the legislature today that 20,000 to 30,000 of their number will descend on the capitol March 6 to press their demands.

The notification came as Gov. Floyd B. Olson signed the legislative appropriation of $500,000 for feed, which was a partial answer to yesterday's "near starvation" exhibit of livestock at the state house.

John Bosch, president of the Minnesota farm holiday association, said that yesterday pitiable show was only a harbinger of the crowd to come on the capitol.

L. P. Zimmerman, acting relief director, was ready to appear before a senate committee to urge immediate appropriation of $10,000,000 for relief in the next biennium to pave the way for federal aid during the next month.

Thief and Liar Is Given Prison Term

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—Otto Krush, 37, was sentenced to serve 4 to 15 years in the Michigan state prison Thursday principally because he told a lie and gave Circuit Judge Neil E. Reid his reason for telling it. Krush admitted stealing furniture from a sister-in-law, but said he unjustly implicated his 74-year-old father, Adolph, to get him "out of the way" and obtain his property. The charge against the elder Krush was dismissed.

GOV'T TO ASK QUICK APPEAL OF 7-A RULING

BY RICHARD L. TURNER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—A quick appeal to the supreme court was promised by Attorney General Cummings today as the administration's answer to the latest challenge to NRA—a federal court decision holding Section 7-A unconstitutional as applied to the Weirton Steel company.

This move, he added, is to be part of an effort to bring order out of a welter of conflicting lower court decisions affecting not only NRA but numerous phases of the new deal program as well.

Cumming's statement was evoked by yesterday's decision in the Weirton case, in which Federal Judge John P. Nields held the much-disputed collective bargaining section invalid as applied to the Weirton company.

A ruling almost simultaneously by Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson that the coal code could not be enforced because coal mining is not interstate commerce, also will be appealed, Cummings said.

Critics Want Inquiry

New deal leaders in the senate meanwhile succeeded in routing a proposed investigation of NRA to the finance committee, headed by Harrison of Mississippi, staunch administration defender.

Senatorial critics of NRA managed, however, to keep alive their proposal for a separate investigation as a "threat to force a real disclosure of the facts," if the finance committee's inquiry is a superficial one.

Both Senator Wagner (D-NY) and Francis Biddle, chairman of the national labor relations board, said the Weirton decision emphasized the need for strengthening 7-A by the creation of a permanent administrative tribunal as proposed in Wagner's labor disputes bill.

In a formal statemeth, Wagner said the Nields decision "while in line with many early decisions of the United States supreme court seems at odds with the later decisions of our highest court that are responsive to the changing character of our national economic life."

The supreme court has consented to review a case in which a federal court held the lumber code unenforcable and the national industrial recovery act invalid virtually in its entirety. Cummings today held out a "possibility" that if the Weirton appeal can be expedited the cases may be consolidated as was done on the gold cases.

This would involve carrying the Weirton case directly to the supreme court from the district court, without awaiting a ruling by the circuit court of appeals. This procedure may be invoked in certain types of cases, and apparently a study was in progress to see if it could be applied to the case in question.

Auto Located In Water, Two Missing Men Feared Dead

Adrian, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—The search for two men from Van Wert, O., who disappeared near Devil's Lake last Friday afternoon, centered around an opening in the frozen surface of the lake tonight after sheriff's officers said they had located an automobile in 20 feet of water.

Divers were summoned from Toledo to aid in raising the car. No bodies have yet been found.

A deputy sheriff said the sunken automobile may be the car in which Orville Place and Ralph Raabe of Van Wert disappeared last Friday after starting out on a trip across the ice.

The two men were reported to have visited Raabe's cottage at Pleasant Grove on the edge of Devil's Lake Friday afternoon. Harold Barrow, a conservation officer, told the sheriff's office he had been answering the description of the missing Ohio car driven down to the shore and out across the ice.

Quintuplets Will Not Be Exhibited

Toronto, Feb. 28. (AP)—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said today the Dionnes agree with the Ontario government that the quintuplets, nine months old today, should not be placed upon exhibition at the peril of their health.

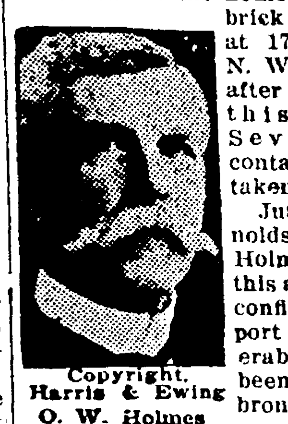
The Ontario premier made the statement after a conference with Paul Martin, the parents' counsel.

Martin said he and the premier had agreed to reveal no details until a final settlement was reach-

Holmes, Once Great Liberal, Gravely Ill

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—Oliver Wendell Holmes, once the "great liberal" of the supreme court, was so gravely ill tonight that oxygen was being used in an effort to save his life.

Three tanks filled with the gas were sent to his home, an old red brick town house at 1720 I street, N. W., shortly after four o'clock this afternoon. Several empty containers were taken away.



Copyright, Harris & Ewing
O. W. Holmes

Justice McReynolds called the Holmes residence this afternoon and confirmed the report that the venerable justice had been stricken with bronchial pneumonia. McReynolds, who served with Holmes on the bench for more than a decade, said he was resting better today than yesterday and that he had been ill only a few days.

His physician, Dr. Thomas A. Claytor, merely said:

"The justice is ill and at his age all illness is serious."

Holmes, who served 29 years on the supreme court bench, will be 94 on March 8. He knew Lincoln and was thrice wounded in the Civil war.

Famous Opinions

In the three brief years since he retired from the supreme bench, Holmes had become a figure shrouded in the midst of legend.

Attaches about the court today revived the familiar stories which sprang up about him; recalled the wit which disconcerted many a pompous attorney and the fact that he detested personal publicity. Inevitably, the episode of the cigarettes was recalled. A distinguished New York lawyer drove home a point with the thunderous statement that "nobody except fools and dudes smoke imported cigarettes."

"I am not so sure about that," blandly smiled Holmes. "Sometimes I smoke them and I know I am not a dude."

Holmes, whose dissenting opinions often were more famous than the majority ruling which prevailed, left the bench January 12, 1932.

His private secretary, James H. Rowe, said long before nightfall there was grave apprehension over the aged jurist's condition.

One of those who kept almost hourly in touch with the Holmes house was Justice Brandeis. For a lengthy span a familiar phrase on opinion days was "Holmes and Brandeis dissent."

Until Justice Holmes retired, the two were almost inseparable.

Young Explorer Tells of Hardships With Only Violin, Camera

Sarcoxie, Mo., Feb. 28 (AP)—Young Dave Irwin, who can go a long way with a camera and a fiddle, gave his old hometown a thrill tonight with telegraphed accounts of risking his life in a single-handed trek for films of the wild far north.

This village of scarcely more than 1,000 population, including the 24-year-old explorer's aunt and uncle, eagerly awaited word from the boy's father, W. T. Irwin. He was trying to establish contact with his son from the family's present home at Grand Rapids, Mich.

The elder Irwin, a salesman, first planned to go to the boy, after receiving a telegram yesterday in which Dave broke a six-months silence to report his safety. Later, he said he was attempting to communicate through the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Took Motion Pictures

Irwin said he would go north only if his son "has to be brought home."

The roaming Irwin's message to his uncle, Gilbert H. Wild, Sarcoxie peony raiser, was similar to the one sent his family, who moved to Michigan from here about 6 years ago. He told of being alone six months in the arctic and of subsisting on frozen fish in the desolate district of Keewatin. The messages came from Baker Lake post, in the northwest territories, Canada.

Although dwelling on his hardships, Irwin added, as if compensated, that he obtained some "excellent moving pictures of primitive Eskimos."

Three years ago the husky 6-foot youth joined a hand driving a reindeer herd across North America to the eastern arctic to restock the Eskimo country. About six months ago, it was deduced from his massage, he left the herd and set out alone.

Mrs. Wild said she was sure the boy was not under contract for pictures.

"He was just trying to get some pictures that would sell," she said. "He didn't have any contract; nor did he have a promise from any boy that his pictures would be bought.

"He was always going—with his violin and his camera."

Paying his own way with these hoo ncompanions, Irwin circled the globe once and had made other trips to arctic regions, friends said.

Marriage By Proxy Annulled By Judge

St. Louis, Feb. 28 (AP)—Miss Virginia Zimmer, 22, who without her knowledge was married by proxy to Elmer Lee Middleton, 19, at Union, Mo. October 31, was granted an annulment by Circuit Judge Robert W. Hall today.

She testified she agreed to have another girl take out a marriage license for her but that it was not her intention her proxy go through a wedding ceremony.

Granting the annulment, Judge Hall said:

"The other girl is in a funny position. If she appeared for you at the marriage ceremony, she was the one who was married. She had better file a divorce or annulment action."

FATALLY HURT

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—Harvey Voiland, 23, was fatally hurt Thursday when a motor sled he was testing in his yard struck a tree. Voiland had built the sled.

MOGAN DEFENDS SALES TAX LAW

Opposes Scheme to Stop Levy on Merchandise Traded In

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—The state board of tax administration today began investigating the advisibility of discontinuing the three percent sales tax on the resale of merchandise traded on new commodities.

Operators of used car markets have applied to the board asking that the sales tax on cars accepted in trade-ins and then resold be dropped. James E. Mogan, director of the sales tax board, protested.

Mogan contends if the tax is not collected on cars traded in the same exemption must prevail for other commodities accepted in trade for new merchandise.

"I have been informed used car sales amount to $40,000,000 annually in Michigan, and half of those sales are taxable under the present set-up," Mogan said. He added no accurate survey of the second-hand business volume in the state is available, but declared if the slightest loop-hole were opened he feared widespread tax evasion.

Illinois and Iowa now collect no tax on the resale of goods traded in on new merchandise. The board directed Mogan to correspond with tax officials of both states.

The board elected State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry to succeed the late John K. Stack, jr., as chairman. Fry is a Democrat Auditor General John J. O'Hara and Orville E. Atwood, other members of the board, are Republicans.

Michigan Promised March Relief Funds

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—The federal emergency relief administration today promised Michigan sufficient aid to carry relief recipients through March.

Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, notified the Michigan commission his department intended to dip into special funds to carry on emergency relief until congress passed the president's work relief bill. The state has asked for $5,142,740 for March.

"Sufficient funds are available which can be transferred, if necessary, to meet relief needs during March but not thereafter," Hopkins warned the Michigan commission.

MINE CAPTAIN

Ishpeming, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—Thomas Tippett, an employe of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company for 25 years, today was named captain of the Lloyd Mine company for 25 years, today was named captain of the Lloyd mine at North Lake, succeeding Captain Joseph Thomas, who recently had a foot amputated. Tippett was a shift boss for 12 years and an underground foreman for nine years.

HITLER TAKES OVER CONTROL OF SAAR BASIN

GERMANY PLANNING REHABILITATION IN REGION

Saarbruecken, Feb. 28 (AP)—France and the League of Nations will give up control of the rich Saar coal basin tomorrow to close one of the most hotly contested chapters of the Versaille treaty.

Because Saarlanders voted overwhelmingly in last January's league-supervised plebiscite to return to the fatherland, sovereignty over the valleys Germany relinquished in 1918 will be transferred back to the Reich in simple ceremonies beginning at 10 a. m.

A galaxy of Nazi notables—Joseph Buerckel, Adolf Hitler's choice to govern the Saar, minister of propaganda Paul Joseph Goebbels and possibly der feuhrer himself—will be on hand to see the Nazi and German flags raised over the government building in Saarbruecken and city halls and police stations throughout the region.

Knox Already Gone

Buerckel, formerly the Reich's commissioner for Saar affairs, will take over the government from Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy head of the league's committee of three which arranged details of the transfer.

The Italian baron today succeeded Geoffrey G. Knox, British diplomat, as president of the league's Saar governing commission—because Nazi officials refused to come to the Saar until the "dictator" Knox departed—and will rule, nominally, until he turns the keys to the territory tomorrow. Knox has already gone.

German officials took command of the police today.

Needy Saarlanders, meanwhile, were heartened by an announcement from Goebbels, who will make the principal "welcome home" address on behalf of the government tomorrow, that 700,000 marks had been given Buerckel to distribute.

Lavish promises of help for business were made to Saarlanders. A program of public construction to aid the 40,000 unemployed will be put into force soon, officials said while the Saar chamber of commerce has its own plans. A new aviation field and several railway stations, together with highway construction, are on the program.

EXTENDS AMNESTY

Berlin, Feb. 28 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, testifying to "the love the nation holds for the Saar," tonight extended amnesty to all Saarlanders serving prison sentences of one year or less in the Saar.

The reichleader's action came on the eve of the basin's formal return to the Reich, while all Germany prepared for tomorrow's big celebration.

To mark what Hitler called the "greatest day of Thanksgiving of the year," church bells, factory sirens and ship whistles will join in the Reich's pageant of rejoicing at the Saarlanders' homecoming.

KNOX KNIGHTED

London, Feb. 28 (AP)—Col. Geoffrey G. Knox, president of the League of Nations Saar governing commission until today, has been knighted for his services.

A companion of the Order of St. Michael, Knox today was promoted to knight commander by order of King George. He becomes Sir Geoffrey.

Two Men and Baby Killed, Ten Others Hurt In Explosion

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 28 (AP)—Two men and a baby girl were killed and ten persons were injured in two explosions which badly damaged a poolroom and dwelling in Edwardsville late today.

Parents of the infant, born this morning, and eight other persons were injured and neighboring structures were damaged by the blast and the fire which followed. The cause of the blasts was not learned.

One of the men was identified tentatively as Peter Morga, 28. Police sought to identify the second man and continued to search the ruins.

The infant victim was the child of Mr. and Mrs. Shepak. The Shepaks, who have two other children, occupied the second floor apartment above a poolroom and beauty parlor.

Sophie Gregorski, 24, of Scranton, said "I suddenly found myself out in the yard." She was hanging clothes in the Shepak kitchen when the blasts occurred.

YOUNGEST BISHOP

Garbed for his consecration as the youngest Roman Catholic bishop, Rev. Raymond A. Kearney, 32, is shown on his way to the ceremonies in Brooklyn, N. Y., by which he was elevated to the Catholic heirarchy. He will serve as auxiliary bishop of Brooklyn with the title of Bishop of Lysinia.

BODY OF YOUTH FOUND IN LAKE

Police Think Boy Missing Ten Days Was Murdered

Youngstown, O., Feb. 28. (AP)—An anonymous note led today to the discovery of the body of 13-year-old Frank Suhovecky at the bottom of Lake Cohasset in Mill Creek Park.

Discovery of the body terminated a ten-day search. Police expressed theories the boy had been slain.

The note, received by Mike Suhovecky, 23-year-old brother of the boy, said the body would be found near the point in the lake at which it was recovered.

Police tonight searched the home of a trapper who is held as a suspect in an attempt to trace the note paper.

The boy's head bore three deep gashes as if inflicted with an axe, a hatchet or a large knife. One eye was blackened. Coroner David Hauser said after a preliminary examination that the cuts were only scalp wounds and not deep enough to have caused death.

The only part the trapper had played in the case up to tonight, police said, was in his report Tuesday night that he had noticed a break in the ice at the point where the body was found today.

Frank, a junior high school student, made a date Feb. 8, with Alex Nagy, a chum, to go to the park and salvage a sack full of old pots and pans the boys had dug out of a dump. Alex missed the date and Frank was seen on his way to the park with a sack. That was the last seen of him.

$40,000,000 Likely From Tax On Sales

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—James E. Mogan, sales tax director, said Thursday that collections of approximately $40,000,000 are possible this fiscal year if gains continue in retail business. Collections were $34,871,919 for the first year of the 3 per cent sales tax, he said, and about $12,000,000 already has been collected in the seven months of this fiscal year.

PROVIDED LIQUOR

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 28. (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Teets, 21, and Alexander W. Morris, both of Detroit, were held for examination Thursday on charges they furnished liquor to a prisoner in county jail. Bond of $500 each was fixed. They were arrested when a bottle of liquor was found on the prisoner, Mrs. Teets' husband, Herbert, after he had been visited by Morris and Mrs. Teets.

CONVENTION IN DETROIT AIMS FOR HARMONY

5-CORNERED FIGHT FOR EDUCATION BOARD

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Detroit, Feb. 28 (AP)—Michigan Republicans gathered here tonight intent on whipping up partisan enthusiasm for the spring campaign.

Opposing factions, mindful of the pleas for harmony voiced at the county conventions last week, drew together in an attempt to make Friday's convention placid. The only ripple on the calm preconvention surface was a possible five-cornered fight for the nomination for members of the state board of education.

Although a relatively unimportant post, politically, leaders of various groups felt they had gone as far as they could in other directions to promote harmony and were disposed to assert their claims.

Several Candidates

The Wayne county delegation was pledged, presumably, to support Wynand Wichers, of Holland, for the nomination. He was seen as the choice of Governor Fitzgerald. If Wichers is nominated the so-called McKay-Kent county slate will be left out in the cold. Former State Treasurer Frank D. McKay and M. B. McPherson, chairman of the state tax commission, were attempting to place a Kent county man for either the board of education or superintendent of public instruction. Their efforts seemed to be centered on the nomination of Lester Doerr, of Grand Rapids, for the board of education.

Other candidates in that race were Arthur A. Rather, of Ionia, said to have the backing of former Governor Fred W. Green; Fred A. Jeffers, of Painesville, a former member of the state board of education, and Allan M. Freeland, of Grand Rapids, a present member of the board of education.

Freeland admittedly would prefer the nomination for superintendent of public instruction. If the McKay-McPherson delegates are unable to secure enough votes for that nomination they would like to see him renominated for his present office. The state tentatively accepted by administration forces, however, would give Freeland no place on the ticket.

Administration delegates were lined up for M. R. Keyworth, Hamtramck school official, for superintendent of public instruction, and Wichers for the state board of education. Freeland, according to his managers, was willing to step out of the race for superintendent of public instruction if he could be guaranteed renomination to the board, but opposing forces were inclined to leave him entirely out of the picture.

Lawrence Assured

The balance of the slate to be named by the convention for submission to the voters in the general election April 1 appeared to be settled. Incumbent justices of the supreme court—Nelson Sharpe, of West Branch, and William W. Potter, of Lansing—had no apparent opposition. The same situation existed in connection

A quick supreme court appeal of the Weirton steel case affecting the controverted Section 7-A of the recovery act was promised by Attorney General Cummings.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, erstwhile "great liberal" of the supreme court, was gravely ill with bronchial pneumonia.

President Roosevelt's return bolstered the hopes of his senate chiefs for eventual passage of the work-relief bill along administration-approved lines.

Congressional ideas as to the form of the social security bill were revealed as being at a serious variance with the original measure submitted by a cabinet committee.

The senate territories committee recommended investigation of charges of maladministration in the Virgin Islands.

President Roosevelt, back from a brief rest at Hyde Park, considered a fishing cruise in southern waters during March.

The state department prepared a list of nations which will not receive reciprocal trade benefits because they are considered unfair to American exporters.

The congressional move to repeal provisions for publicity of income tax returns appeared to have collapsed with the failure of special senate and house groups to agree on the repeal.

MURPHY AT CAPITAL

GOVERNOR General Frank Murphy of the Philippines is in Washington this week to confer with President Roosevelt. It is reported that the matter of Japanese trade competition on the islands will be discussed, but it is altogether likely that the administration's political problems in Michigan also will come up for consideration.

The former Detroit mayor has remained continuously in the Michigan political picture. Last summer, it was often rumored that he would return from the Philippines to run for either the governorship or the U. S. senatorship. Doubt was expressed, however, that he would willingly give up the Manila sinecure, which pays about $17,500 annually along with two "castles" and much pomp and glory, and it developed that he did not enter the Michigan campaign.

The 1936 political campaign is not so far away and the Democratic party will soon be laying plans for recapturing this battleground. The relegation of Gov. William A. Comstock to oblivion as a result of the efforts of the dominant Lacy faction, followed by the victory of the Republicans, has left the Democratic party in Michigan somewhat disorganized. State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry has been mentioned as the logical candidate for the governorship since the death of Auditor General John K. Stack Jr., but there persists a feeling among many Democrats that he would not be heavy enough for the task of being the party's standard bearer.

While Governor-General Murphy has apparently enjoyed his work in the Philippines, he has not been forgetting the fact that he will someday be returning to Michigan. Newspaper editors of the state have been receiving from Manila a generous supply of publicity material concerning Murphy's accomplishments on the islands. It indicates a studied plan for gradually building him up for future Michigan political battles.

WANT TO WORK

ABOUT two hundred jobless persons are busily engaged in Gladstone's unique "coal mining" project. In all kinds of weather, these men go to the site of the old Pittsburgh Coal company dock and with various ingeniously devised dragging outfits scoop up coal that has accumulated at the bottom of the bay during the past half century.

These modern miners go to their daily tasks of their own volition. They work hard to recover coal for use in heating their homes. The more fortunate are able to secure a surplus supply, which they sell for a little cash income. At the best, however, they average hardly more than a dollar per day each for their strenuous labor.

Persons who lack a sympathetic understanding of the problems of the persons who have lost the means of gainful employment through no fault of their own may get a different slant on the situation by watching that industrious group of men at Gladstone. Ample proof may be found there that the majority of the American people still want to make their own way in this world.

FORT WILKINS

KEWEENAW county is laying plans for a vast development program that would extend over a period of years, culminating with a celebration of the establishment of historic Fort Wilkins at the tip of the peninsula.

Sponsors of the plans have tentatively set 1940 as the date for the celebration, claiming that this would mark the one hundredth anniversary of the founding: of the military outpost. Some historians are likely to dispute the fixing of this date, however.

According to B. Frank Emery, director o fthe Historic Memorial association, Fort Wilkins was established in 1844 to protect the pioneer miners who worked in the copper mines of that region. When the threat of Indian attacks disappeared, the fort was abandoned by the army, and the buildings were allowed to crumble. In 1921, the war department disposed of the property to Keweenaw county, which later deeded it over to the state for park purposes.

Under the state administration, the old fort buildings were reconstructed, and now the historic site along the shores of Lake Fanny Hoe attracts hundreds of sightseers each summer.

Keweenaw county is determined to capitalize its historic and scenic advantages to the fullest extent. With the decline of copper mining, the tourist business will become increasingly important to the inhabitants of that county. The Fort Wilkins Centennial idea should serve as an inspiration in the efforts that are being made to develop the Keweenaw peninsula as a resort center.

SOCIAL SECURITY

OLD-AGE pension plans and plans for unemployment insurance as well are more and more examined for practical details. The practical now has supplanted the point of desirability. Other governmental ideas also have served for discussion.

The Owosso Argus-Press deals with social insurance in part as follows:

"Before we get through with the vexing issue of unemployment and social security insurance, we are likely to find that our education on the subject of money and the way it works has been considerably extended. If the insurance and security measures pending in congress should be adopted in their present form, they would eventually roll up an enormous federal fund which would have some of the characteristics of a bit of radium. That is, it would be continuously active, and unless insulated pretty carefully it might have effects not counted on by its possessors."

* * *

The Muskegon Chronicle looks at the security plans now forming and adds:

"Retirement pension and unemployment insurance plans developed in cooperation between employers and employes, administered by them jointly, would have been the possible expression of the American spirit. It would have been free from the baneful intervention of politics that, as certainly as darkness follows dawn, will pollute this political program before it hardly has begun to function. But the pitiful progress that has been made by industry, the big proportion of its workers still left to the unmitigated rigors of unprotected ol dage and unemployment conditions, is the answer. It is the reason that politics is now going to get its grip on the social security program."

* * *

The Pontiac Press offers information rather than opinion concerning social insurance. It enumerates:

"At the present time 28 states of the Union have some forms of old-age pension law. An advanced and restricted eligibility age and rather meager income are characteristics of most of them. These will have to be liberalized if the states expect to collaborate with the national plan of old-age pensions. With many state treasuries now far in the red, this presents a perplexing problem. How would Michigan, for instance, go about it to raise an additional $20,000,000 yearly, which is the sum it would need to mtach the national security plan proposals?"

* * *

The Jackson Citizen-Patriot realizes that the day of the "baby bond" is close at hand. It points out:

"The issuance of long-term obligations by the treasury at a fixed discount in lieu of interest represents a new departure in federal financing. But then, we are becoming used to new departures in governmental policies. There is no indication as to what the response to this offering of federal securities will be. With full confidence restored in the banks, it does not seem likely that there will be heavy withdrawals of bank deposits to buy 'baby bonds.' But these securities backed by the faith and credit of the national government, should draw out a considerable portion of the money that is still hoarded. If they bring that result, we can only say, 'More power to their sale'."

* * *

The Saginaw News notices the legal questioning of the Tennessee Valley project. Beside the court questioning it suggests that the citizen will question as follows:

"The important argument in his mind will be over the question of whether government generation of electric current is likely in the long run to approach the efficiency of private operation and really lower his rates. He will be interested in whether it can be kept out of politics, whether an apparently lower rate will be a sham, offset by decreased tax receipts or concealed deficiency appropriations from the general tax roll. The basic question is one of public policy. If the public concludes that government operation really is beneficial it probably will not be hard for the lawyers to find some way of justifying it legally.

SILKEN SPINDLES

CHAPTER XXXVII

Phil went on bitterly. "They let out four of us—Gillaspie and Fritz Moon and Ed Turner and me. Oh, I know why! Some of Thatcher's spies got hold of the fact that we've been holding meetings, trying to get an organization started. That's why they fired us. That's the only reason. Everybody knows Gillaspie was the best man in the spinning room and Ed Turner's worked in the mill for eight years."

Gale said, "But, Phil—"

'Don't think I'm sorry!" he interrupted. His red hair fairly bristled. "Say, I'm glad it happened. I'm glad I'm through slaving for Thatcher and his gang of crooks. Now that they've kicked me out I can say what I really think about them. Skunks! And they don't need to think they can stop us. This thing's going on! We've got a right to organize haven't we? They don't dare deny it. Instead they sneak around and fire the ones they think are the leaders."

"But what about the others?" Gale asked. "Joe Gillaspie and Fritz Moon and Ed Turner. They've all got families. What will they do?"

"They'll get along. And I'll get along, too. I'll get a job somewhere. Oh—I heard something else tonight. Mary Cassidy got an eviction notice."

"Oh, Phil!"

"Ordered her out unless she can pay up her rent—and of course she can't. What else would you expect of those old robbers? It seems Mary's been talking lately. Must have been pretty free in saying what she thought of the way they treated her at the mill. It got back to Thatcher and now she's got to pay or get out tomorrow."

"But how can she pay her rent when she hasn't any work?" Gale asked indignantly. "She's only been earning a few dollars a week since she left the mill and she's got those two children to take care of. Mary's doing the best she can."

Phil shrugged. "What of it?" he said. "You don't suppose that makes any difference to Thatcher do you? Sure, he'll put her out. Mary and her children, and all the rest of us, too, can starve for all he cares."

"Poor Mary!" Gale said. "There must be something we can do. Maybe I'd better go over—"

"There's nothing you can do tonight," Phil told her. "Wait until tomorrow and see what happens."

Wait and see what happens!

* * *

The words came to Gale again, standing before her bedroom window, staring out at the darkness. Wait and see what happens! What would happen to Mary Cassidy and her two children if they were put out of their home? How would they live? And what would happen to Gale's father and her brother and herself, with Phil out of a job? Phil wasn't worried about it; he was too excited, too hot-headed, to think about the future. He was sure he could find work, but how could he when there was no work to be had? And how could Gale's own earnings be stretched farther than they had been in the past?

Figures danced before her dizzily—$5.40 for groceries, $3.60 for coal, the rent due next week the $5 Phil owned her that wouldn't be paid now, $1.50 at the drug store, the gas bill that was overdue—

How could she pay those bills when they totaled more than she earned? Yet if they weren't paid—particularly the rent—would she and her father and Phil find themselves out on the street, turned out of their home as Mary Cassidy was to be turned out?

No, of course that couldn't happen. Not to her—Gale Henderson. She was letting herself get worked up over something imaginary. She'd find a way to meet the bills. And perhaps Phil would find another job in a day or two, perhaps even tomorrow.

Gale turned away but the icy feeling clung about her heart. "Wait and see what happens," she told herself once more. "Wait and see what happens—"

Phil met her as she came from the mill the next afternoon and they went to Mary Cassidy's. It was a gray day. There had been a drizzling rain all morning and, though the rain had ceased, the air was still damp. It was cold now, too, and there was a sharp wind.

Phil said, "Lem Williams told me the sheriff was down there. He said they were putting Mary's stuff out on the sidewalk."

"They're really putting her out? I should think Sheriff Whitman would be ashamed of himself!"

"Whitman takes orders from Thatcher just like everyone else in this town. Don't you know that?"

"But a woman like Mary Cassidy, with two little children—!"

* * *

Gale did not finish the sentence. They turned a corner and half-way down the block, saw Mary's cottage. A dozen people—men, women and children—were moving about and, at the edge of the walk, in a disorderly pile, was a pitiful array of furniture, bedding, dishes, clothes, a bag of coal, and a box containing food. Bed posts were stacked against a table and chairs piled on top. A mattress, doubled over, sprawled on the ground, a tea kettle beside it. Half a dozen potatoes had fallen from a sack and a child was picking them up.

Another youngster, a boy of 8 or 9, came running toward them. "Mis' Cassidy's been 'victed!" he shouted. It was a new game to the child and he was excited.

Gale said, "Oh, it's horrible! Look—there's Mary."

She hurried forward to where Mary Cassidy was sitting in a battered rocking chair. The woman wore a coat, but her head was bare and the wind blew her hair back from her forehead. She looked years older. She sat with shoulders bent, as though trying to protect the wriggling 2-year-old in her arms. The child was fretful, whimpering.

Gale took one look at her and came to a decision. She said, "Mary, you're coming home with us."

LYRICS OF LIFE

WHEN STRANGERS MEET

Once passing strangers waved a hand,
North said hello, and South said howdy,
But now the people of the land
Are more reserved, and yet more rowdy.
Still people go and people come,
And yet less known, and much less knowing.
Now all that's ever waved a thumb
By someone who is somewhere going.

We think that life is better so.
The world is rather new and nifty.
We once had time to say hello—
We can't so well when doing fifty.
We used to pass the time of day
With nearly every other fellow.
Now all we pass the signal ray
Of red, or anyway the yellow.

The only time we ever meet
And ever really, truly mingle
Is at the corner of some street,
While on the pavement windows jingle.
Yes, greetings sometimes we exchange,
But not in terms so very tender:
Our words to strangers then are strange,
When someone crumples someone's fender.

Large Audience Enjoys Program, Webster Benefit

A responsive and appreciate audience of over 200 persons packed the Webster school auditorium for the benefit entertainment presented Wednesday evening by the Webster Parent-Teacher association.

The program was varied and every number was excellent in its particular class, the audience expressing its pleasure in the offering by prolonged applause at the close of each presentation.

Elmer Rheaume was an able master of ceremonies, his comic costume and rare humor, entertainment in themselves.

The program featured Bob Pryal in his popular dialect stories; music by the well-trained St. Anne's orchestra; Marie and Peggy Donohue, marimba artists; Rangfrid Sviland, Beatrice Morton, Florence Anderson, Rosalie Peterson and Maxine Collins, talented soloists; clever tap and acrobatic dance numbers by little Francis Skradski, whose natural ability is amazing, graceful Anita Swanson, Jane and Elaine Rowley, Helen Lou Peterson and Marcella Provo, attractive youngsters, Norma Lou Burns, tap expert, and Mrs. Lambert; entertaining readings by Estelle Messier; accordion numbers which were outstanding by Albert Provencher, and equally fine instrumental selections by the Hawaiian Entertainers, the string orchestra featuring the Saber Sisters, and Mason and Frederick Johnson, guitar players.

A sale of home made candy, conducted by the unit after the program, was well patronized.

Plans are now being made in view of the success of the entertainment, to make an amateur night program similar to this, a yearly feature of Parent-Teacher activities.

Cape Smartest Fashion For Spring Wear

PATTERN 9312

Flip a little cape over your shoulders if you would be chic! Better still, button these two slightly conservative capelets on for sleeves and take them off at will. It's a silhouette exceedingly smart this season and you'll find it gives your cap-sleeved dress a "finished" look for street without adding greatly to warmth later on when you use this new model for summer. Make it in a small patterned print or one of the irregularly patterned materials which are woven in two or three colors, or a "heavy" sheer. Wear it now under your coat and get a long season of enjoyment from it.

Church Events

Christian Science Churches

"Christ Jesus" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, March 3.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Matt. 2: 19, 20): "But when Herod was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and go into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the young child's life."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 30): "As the individual ideal of Truth, Christ Jesus came to rebuke rabbinical error and all sin, sickness, and death—to point out the way of Truth and Life. This ideal was demonstrated throughout the whole earthly career of Jesus, showing the difference between the offspring of Soul and of material sense, of Truth and of error."

Theatres

TWO FEATURE PROGRAM

The Delft's two feature program this week end offers "The Silver Streak," railroad drama, and the mystery film, "I Am a Thief."

Warren E. Fuller, vice president and member of the Board of the Burlington Transportation Company, makes his film debut in the RKO-Radio Picture "The Silver Streak."

The Burlington "Zephyr", brought to Hollywood for a film career and rechristened "Silver Streak" is Mr. Fuller's pet. Ever since its initial trial he has been its guardian and has conducted it on a tour of the United States. On its tour and at the Chicago Fair where it was exhibited, the train has been inspected by approximately three million people, it is said.

It was released from the Fair by special permission of General Dawes in order that it might appear in the picture.

Fuller, in addition to appearing in the photoplay, served as technical director in all matters pertaining to railroading.

With Mr. Fuller in the picture are Sally Blane, Charles Starrett, William Farnum, Theodor von Eltz, Hardie Albright and Edgar Kennedy.

"I Am a Thief," Warner Bros. latest melodramatic mystery thriller, has Mary Astor and Ricardo Cortez heading an all star cast.

The picture, based on a story by Ralph Block and Doris Malloy, recounts the breath-taking adventures of a band of international jewel robbers who plot to steal an almost priceless set of diamonds known as the Kareninas.

The diamonds are used by secret service operatives as a bait to catch a gang of jewel thieves composed of renegade nobles, beautiful adventuresses and men of such daring and cleverness that they have succeeded in outwitting the officials.

The famed Kareninas, the prize loot of the Continent, attract the attention of rival gangs.

Bake Sale Postponed

The baked goods sale planned by the First Presbyterian Aid has been postponed one week and will be held Saturday, March 9, it was announced Thursday. Postponement was made to avoid conflict with the delicatessen sale which St. Stephen's Guild is conducting this Saturday. The Presbyterian Aid sale, which will feature a variety of home baked goods, will be held at the Peterson Flower shop and will begin at 10 o'clock, as planned, one week from Saturday.

Corn Game Party Tuesday

Members of St. Patrick's Guild are entertaining at a corn contest party Tuesday evening, March 5, in the parish hall.

The games, for which a very small fee will be asked, will begin at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Fred Boddy is chairman of the committee in charge, assisted by Mrs. E. L. Brotherton, Mrs. Nick Bodette, Mrs. Mary Brown, Miss Agnes Burke, Mrs. J. R. Bredahl, Mrs. William Burke, Mrs. Charles Byrnes, Mrs. H. O. Brotherton, Mrs. Phil Bruce, Mrs. Henry Buchholtz, Mrs. John Coyne, Mrs. Fred Carr and Mrs. J. J. Corcoran.

Gagnier-Malmstrom

Miss Genevieve Marion Gagnier, of this city, 1414 First Avenue North, and Fred E. Malmstrom, also of Escanaba, son of Mrs. Ray Cornelius of El Segundo, Calif., were united in marriage at a ceremony performed Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church.

Rev. Fr. T. Parnell Dunleavy, celebrant of the mass, conducted the marriage service.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lucier.

The bride wore a becoming gown of green velvet, a white hat with a nose veil and harmonizing accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of sweet peas. Mrs. Lucier wore blue taffeta with matching accessories and a corsage of sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of an aunt, Mrs. Laura Primeau.

The young people left on a wedding trip to Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie, the bride for traveling wearing a navy blue suit ensemble. They will make their home at 1414 First avenue north.

Out-of-town guests at the ceremony were George D. Malmstrom of Hollywood, Calif., a brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Zenker of Marquette.

Card Party at Bark River

The women of St. George's church, Bark River, are entertaining at a card party Sunday evening at Frechette's hall. Five hundred and bunco will be played with high score prizes and a guest award, and a hot lunch will be served. The public is cordially invited to attend.

For Aid President

Mrs. John Larson, 415 South Fifteenth street, who has resigned from the office of president of Bethany Lutheran Aid society, which position she held for the past twenty years, was the guest of honor at a party given by members of the congregation of the church recently.

A program was presented, including a talk by Rev. C. A. Lund, and songs and piano solos, after which a lunch was served.

Entertains Friends

Mrs. Dominick Koran entertained a group of her friends Thursday afternoon at her home, 1225 Sheridan Road. Five hundred was played and prizes went to Frances Cashin and Camille Mileski, the former winning first prize and the latter receiving consolation. Following the card games, a luncheon was served.

Isabella Party

The third of the afternoon card parties at which the welfare committee of the Daughters of Isabella is entertaining at the K. of C. club rooms, was held Thursday afternoon with a large attendance.

Mrs. John Kress had high score in bridge and Mrs. J. Richards, second; Mrs. A. L. Stilp was high in five hundred and Mrs. Schmidt, second.

Mrs. Peter Newton was chairman of the afternoon, assisted by Mrs. Archie Campbell, Mrs. Frank Stoik, Mrs. John Meier and Mrs. David Godin.

Foresters Dance

Plans for the semi-annual dinner dance for the employees of the U. S. Forest Service and their friends are now being made. The dance will be held at the Dells, and the date has been set tentatively for March 9.

Card Party Planned

The Young Ladies' Sodality of Sacred Heart church, Schaffer, will sponsor a card party Sunday evening, March 3, in the parish hall. Five hundred will be played and prizes will be awarded for high scores. A lunch will be served. The public is cordially invited.

Beauty Parade Saturday Night, Terrace Gardens

The management of Terrace Gardens announced last evening that twenty-four young and beautiful girls will parade before the judges' stand Saturday evening at 11 o'clock. After the winner is selected she will be crowned "Miss Escanaba for 1935."

The grand march will start at 11:30 and will be led by "Miss Escanaba" and her escort.

"Miss Escanaba" will vie with girls from several other upper peninsula contests, in a May Time Carnival to be held at Terrace Gardens early in May.

The dance music tomorrow evening will be supplied by the Hi-Haiters from Appleton, Wis. Dancing will start at 9:30 and continue until 1:30.

The dance is the last before the opening of the Lenten season.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sjoberg are the parents of a son, born Wednesday morning at the family home, 302 North Eighteenth street. The baby has been named Robert Elmer.

WANTS JOB RESTORED

Iron Mountain—In a petition filed today with the Michigan state supreme court at Lansing, Silas McGregor, of Iron Mountain, former deputy commissioner for the state department of labor and industry, asked for a writ of mandamus to compel the commission to reinstate him as deputy, under the terms of the veterans' preference act.

The action was forecast in a statement made here by McGregor some time ago. In the petition he alleged that he was discharged in June, 1934, without the hearing provided for in the veterans' preference act. The petition added that "he had the right to believe he would not be unlawfully removed to satisfy greed for patronage."

McGregor's action, it has already been brought out, is directed against the commission as constituted at the time of his dismissal. Two changes have been made in the personnel of the board since then.

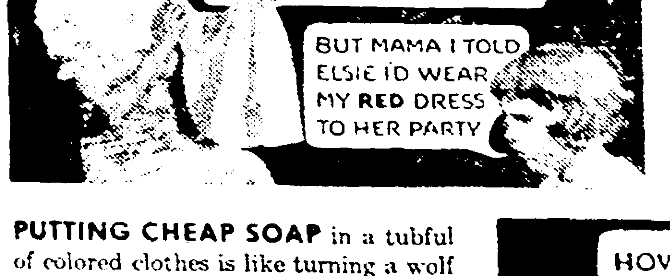
BELIEVE ME - I KNOW HOW CHEAP SOAP FADES OUT COLORS



But Things Come Out of My Wash as Bright as They Went in Since I Changed to American Family

If only I had learned about American Family years ago! I still can hardly believe my eyes when I see how crisp and fresh everything stays, laundered in these amazing double-suds. They're such mild, sweet-smelling suds—yet they chase out dirt faster than harsh soaps do, without any of that hard rubbing. And they rinse out so easily. I'd never think of using anything else now in this hard lake water!

PUTTING CHEAP SOAP in a tubful of colored clothes is like turning a wolf loose among lambs! Watch out for soaps with harsh alkalis that prey on those pretty pinks, and blues, and greens. Be sure to trust your colors only to the mild, safe suds of American Family - the purest, most economical laundering soap you can buy!

IRON MOUNTAIN DEBATE WINNER

Gladstone Trio Defeated In Very Close Contest Here

Gladstone.—The Iron Mountain high school affirmative debate team won a close decision over the Gladstone negative trio at the Gladstone high school last evening. The question argued concerns the advisability of federal grants to assist in equalization of educational opportunity.

Prof. Gunther C. Meyland, lone critic-judge, scored the teams equal on knowledge of subject, analysis of case and delivery but gave the Iron Mountain trio an edge on technique and rebuttal.

The winning negative trio consisted of Ward Ahlquist, Mary Harvey and Osborn Davidson and the Gladstone affirmative team included Mary Krueger, Eleanor O'Brien and Linda Jackson.

The victory placed Iron Mountain in the finals of the upper peninsula competition where they will meet the winner of the Hancock-Dollar Bay debate.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Police in Accident—Enroute to St. Francis hospital with Eugene Beck, who was seriously ill, the Escanaba police department car collided with an Escanaba-Gladstone bus Wednesday night about 10:20. The accident occurred in the 600 block on South Fourteenth street, just as the bus, driven by Henry Grenier, was swinging away from the curb after discharging a passenger. No one was injured, but both car and bus carried marks of the crash. Officer Bernard Schram was driving the police car.

Not So Cold—Increasing cloudiness and not so cold is the Escanaba weather bureau forecast for today. The temperature moderated Thursday from the 10 below zero of the previous morning, and at 7 a. m. yesterday the mercury stood at 6 degrees above zero, which was the low mark of the day. Later the rise reached the upper twenties, and the warm sun caused some thawing on the streets.

Robert Wood, Young Dramatic Artist, To Give Exhibit Monday

Robert Wood, a versatile young cartoonist-entertainer, will be featured in a program entitled, "Dramatic Adventures With Chalk," at the senior high school auditorium, 11 o'clock Monday morning.

Wood, who is still in his early twenties and who has been a student at the Art Institute at Chicago, is a brilliant artist and a fine dramatic reader. A cartoonist, he draws in colors and brings his coloring to its best advantage with the use of lighting effects, consisting of flood lamps and other electrical appliances, controlled by his own special switchboard.

In addition to his ability as an artist, Wood is a dramatic reader of no little note. He gives readings of humor, drama, pathos and romance as he sketches.

Sow Oats Early This Year, Advice Of Farm Experts

This year a good many farmers will have to fit their farming methods to the kinds of seed they are able to get. This spring when many farmers will have to plant oats shipped in from states to the north—where the days are longer during the growing season—it will pay to sow oats as early as it is possible and practical to prepare a satisfactory seed bed.

This is the general advice given to farmers by T. R. Stanton, oats specialist in the U. S. department of agriculture. The disadvantage of unadapted seed may be offset to some extent, says Mr. Stanton, by getting seed into the ground as early as good judgment allows. This will give the benefit of growth under the cooler weather of early spring. The greatest danger to oats from weather usually comes from hot weather as they approach [illegible] freezes after the seed is sown. Oats of the later maturing varieties will need every favorable growing day this spring if they are to make a good yield next summer. Early sowing also helps the plants [illegible]

Township Has Task Spending Its Tax Money

Midland, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—Porter township, risen from a quiet farming community to a bustling oil field since last July, has money coming in from taxes faster than officials can find ways to spend it.

They thought they had the problem solved this year when it became necessary to move the old town hall to make way for an oil well. They built a new, $20,000 structure and paid cash for it. Other improvements made in the scattered community absorbed more of the revenue but still the wells pumped on, bringing in tax revenue at the rate of $150 a day.

$50,000 Surplus

The township, which produces more than half the oil in Michigan, gets forty per cent of the tax collected by the state from producers. In addition, it gets royalty from the "town hall lease," where a well was brought in to produce 100 barrels a day.

Just this week, Supervisor Elmer Gorsuch said, the state paid into the township treasury $30,350 to swell its revenues since last July to $85,000.

Now, with $50,000 on hand, the township board has called for an election to decide whether rural electric lines shall be constructed along 42 miles of township roads so that farmers of the township may have electric power. The election will be held March 4.

Construction of the lines will cost about $1,000 a mile, so the treasury balance will shrink considerably. The trouble with that idea, though, the officials admit is that 250 farmers who have agreed to connect to the lines will pay $100 each for the service, and $25,000 will come rolling back into the treasury.

Telephone Detects "Robbery" In Store

Summoned to the Carlson grocery, 1408 Eighth avenue south, by a night telephone operator who reported the telephone receiver down and sounds of a disturbance coming over the wire, officers of the Escanaba police department investigated and found that the marauder was a cat.

Left in the store over night, the cat had tipped over the telephone while on a tour of inspection, and made the "footsteps" which were heard at the central office.

Detroit Red Wings Crush Blackhawks

Detroit, Feb. 28 (AP)—Flashing the form that carried them to the top last winter, Detroit's Red Wings defeated the Chicago Blackhawks 5 to 1 here tonight in a National Hockey league match.

The Wings outskated and outplayed the Chicago club throughout. In the Wing net Normie Smith played brilliantly, but Lorne Chabot, usually classy Hawk net minder, looked decidedly off color through most of the match.

The Hawks took a lead on March goal in the opening period but Sorrell evened it up. Tied up as the second period opened, the Wings scored three goals while Morenz was serving a major for drawing blood from Bowman's forehead in a stiff check. Wiseman, Aurie and Sorrell tallied the goals. Bowman was sent off for tripping, and while he was in the box Aurie got another goal, unassisted, the final tally of the game.

Throughout the third period the Wings tight defense allowed the Hawks only seven shots, although three Detroit players were sent off for minor infractions.

Sorrell had two goals and as many assists for his evening's work, while Goodfellow contributed three assists.

RANGER STATIONS PLACED

Ironwood—Ranger stations will be established at Bessemer, Wakefield, Marenisco, Bergland and Ontonagon by the United States forest service, it was announced today by L. S. Bean, supervisor of Ottawa national forest. Stations already have been established at Watersmeet, Iron River and Kenton, two operating at the latter point.

Frank Legat will be assigned to Wakefield, Mel Cummins to Marenisco, Joseph Blake to Bergland and Fred Pierce to Ontonagon, said Mr. Bean.

Wally Berger of the Boston Braves last season for the first time in his big league career failed to hit at least .300, but nevertheless ranked third in the league in runs batted in.

YOUTHS IN CCC GAIN IN WEIGHT

Michigan Area Enrollees Take on Average of 6 Pounds in Month

Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work, has announced that a recent survey conducted by the office of the surgeon general of the war department indicated that the average young man who enrolls in the Civilian Conservation Corps gains from seven to eleven pounds during his first two months in camp.

The war department survey referred to by Director Fechner was initiated on October 1, 1934, at the beginning of the fourth six-month period of emergency conservation work. At the direction of the office of the surgeon general, army medical officers in each of the nine army corps areas selected several hundred new enrollees at random and registered their weights as of the first day they entered the CCC camps. The men picked for the tests were weighed again at the end of the first month and at the end of the second month of enrollment. The tests showed that the average enrollee had gained from four to seven pounds during his first month in the corps, and from two and a half to four and a half pounds during his second month.

The greatest weight gains were registered in the Eighth Corps Area, embracing Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and Wyoming. Records forwarded to Washington from this corps area showed that the average weight gain for 160 enrollees was 6.91 ponuds for the first month and 4.32 pounds for the second month, an aggregate of 11.23 pounds for the two months covered by the survey.

In the Sixth Corps Area, which includes Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, the enrollees tested gained an average of 6.04 pounds during the first month and 3.72 during the second, making a total of 9.76 pounds.

Bids For Forestry Offices Are Opened

Bids for the rental of offices to the U. S. Forest Service at Iron River and Ironwood in the Ottawa National Forest were opened at the headquarters offices here yesterday. The bids were then forwarded to the regional office at Milwaukee for further consideration.

L. S. Bean, the new supervisor of the Ottawa National Forest, came from Ironwood yesterday in connection with the bids.

Floyd T. Roberts, formerly of Rapid River, is the ranger in charge of the Iron River district office. Roberts attended Michigan State college, and following graduation entered the employ of the U. S. Forest Service in the west. A short time ago, he returned to Rapid River to work in the Hiawatha forest, and early this month was transferred to the Otawa forest. Rangers' offices are being set up in the Ottawa forest at Iron River, Watersmeet and Kenton.

MANY ATTEND SCOUT RALLY

Approximately Two Hundred Youths Enjoy Huge Meeting

Approximately 200 boys made merry for more than three hours at the huge Scout rally at the city hall last evening. The major portion of the evening was taken up with the awarding of honors to Boy Scouts, Sea Scouts and Cubs after which a program of entertainment was presented and refreshments were served. Sea Scouts were hosts of the evening, furnishing the eats and putting on the program, while the city firemen aided with the serving of the refreshments.

Awards to the various Scouts were made by the following: D. D. Prust, Bert Jacobson, Dr. Fred Hirn, Dale Vinette, Willard Nordby, G. Jacobson, O. V. Thatcher, E. J. Vinotte, Jack Floyd, Otto Scheriff, Carl J. Sawyer, Reino Kujala, Les Kleinhans, John Pearson, Albin Larson and Charles Jacobson.

Honors won by the individuals follow: Mark Valind, pathfinding; Palmer Derouin, swimming; James Olson, pathfinding; Junior Winters, metal work and bird study; James Wilson, ordinary sea scouting; Bob Gannon, apprentice and salesmanship; Dale Vinette, silver palm and able scout badge; Joe Spangler, apprentice; Stan Drake, 150 hour cruise; Dale Vinette, 50 hour cruise; Kenneth Gallagher, 50 hour cruise; Bertle Jacobson, ship committeeman; George Jacobson, skipper; Nick Thiry (lone scout) first aid and physical development; William Moras, first class; Phil Beauchamp, tenderfoot; Tom Seymour, 75 hour civil service; Harold LaFond, tenderfoot; Clyde Cox, basketry; Pete MacDonald, tenderfoot; Art Hart, tenderfoot; Francis Roy, second class; Gordan Larson, Eagle award.

Merit badges were awarded as follows: James L'Heureux, reading; Meyer Stein, life scout, first aid and physical development; Kenneth Wedell, personal health; Donald Campbell, star scout and scholarship.

The musical portion of the program consisted of the following numbers: accordion and harmonica solo by Bill Moras; guitar and vocal solo by Al Steed. In the boxing matches, Gallagher met Vanlester while Perrin tangled with Garrett.

The evening was a very hilarious and entertaining one for all the boys and Scout officials wish to apologize to the parents for keeping the boys so late, but point out that most of the boys were having such an enjoyable evening that they were loath to leave.

White horses are black when they are born and only in a very few instances has a pure white colt been foaled.
